EDWIN EUGENE CASEY.

General Wheeler's daughter who is connected with the Red Cross society nursed young Casey during his sickness and was by his side at the time of his death. He breathed his last while in the arms of his captain. He was the pet of the regiment and to know him was to like him.

His body was shipped home in a metallic casket and was accompanied by a detail of rough riders. He was buried with all the honors of war.

All the courts, both United States and territorial, were closed, as well as the public schools and many of the leading business houses, so that all might attend the funeral which was the largest ever witnessed in New Mexico. Mr. J. P. Casey, Sr., Eugene's father, received many letters of condolence, among them was one from Col. Roosevelt and one from Miss Wheeler.

EL PASO is going right ahead just now. There is no excuse for any manufacturer to let the wages of his employees in such times.

TIMES are flourishing all over the country. Money is plenty in our banks, although loans are up to a high notch.

OLD Li Hung Chang "is a dandy." He is at the top of the heap now, but he may meet his Waterloo at any time.

LOOK at the bank statements and you will find the best answer in the world to the Chicago platform.

APPARENTLY there are two Van Wykes in New York. Only one will be heard of after the election.

Little Items From Live Papers.

TEXAS. Crowley & Garrett recently bought 10,000 head of sheep from different parties near Alpine at $2.75 per head, with wool on.—Midland Reporter.

A fire at Midland, on the morning of the 23rd, destroyed about $7500 worth of property on which there were $2500 insurance. N. H. Ellis was the heaviest loser.

Dr. H. A. Nichols, tendered his resignation as County Physician Saturday, to take effect on the 15th of October. He will then move to El Paso, where his family now are, and will practice his profession in that city.—Pecos County Pickings.

Judge Noonan has shown surprising energy and snap in this campaign. His speeches and activity have astonished his friends who had begun to think the judge was too old to make a vigorous canvass; he is more than a match for Slayden on the stump and with the people.—San Antonio Light.

The movers continue to go from place to place in Texas and the Indian territory, and there are continual streams of covered wagons going through the country. The people in them come from as far east as Georgia and as far north as Iowa and Illinois.—Denison Herald.

A gentleman who lives at Norfolk, Va., wrote the Commercial club of Dallas that if the proposed inducements were offered, he would go to that city and endeavor to organize a company with $25,000 or $30,000 stock to manufacture Texas tobacco into marketable shape.—Pecos Valley Pickings.

A conservative estimate shows that there are at present 225,000 head of cattle in the Midland country, aggregating a total wealth of $4,520,000, placing the valuation at $20 per head, with consideration of the high quality of the cattle, is not a very extravagant valuation.—Midland Reporter.

The California demand for fat cattle is now drawing westward cattle that would otherwise have found their way to eastern markets. Arizona dealers believe that the demand has hardly begun as yet and they are looking westward this year for their market instead of toward the east and north.—Pecos County Pickings.

The following gentlemen have been summoned to go to El Paso on the first of Oct. as U. S. Grand and Petit Jurors: N. J. Henderson, P. A. Higgins, Charley Price, Eugene Graham, Tom Blair, Ed. Toner, W. M. Kyle, Tom Hendrick, Walter Culbertson, Toll Lawson and T. P. Scott. The latter two are out of the county.—Inspector, Odessa.

The farmers are cursing 41 and 5 cent cotton again this year, but they must not forget in heaping their anathemas on the low price of the staple that they failed to raise hogs, corn, oats and wheat, all of which are on the increase in value instead of the decline. Raise the thing needed most—they will be most in demand and will bring the best price.—Denison Herald.

O. E. Hough, of the ostrich farm, leaves this morning for Dallas, where he is taking twenty-five of his flock of birds from here to exhibit them at the fair. They occupy a car all to themselves and embrace birds of all sizes, from recently hatched fledglings to aged ostriches of full feathers. A number of them have been bred in Texas and some in this city.—San Antonio Express.

Good crops and the prospect of a splendid winter on the range have put heart into the farmers of the state, and there will be no lagging behind of the enterprising planters because cotton is down in the market. The substitution of wheat or corn or truck farming will be made and the business of the state and her agricultural increase go right along. All things favor Texas.—San Antonio Light.

The failure of a member of the next legislature to vote for a dissent and just libel law will mean his retirement to private life forever. The press of Texas has borne until forbearance has ceased to be a virtue, a law that has permitted every scapegoat unhung, and ever the property of those that were hung, to persecute them, and are at last determined to have justice done them.—Beaville Picayune.

The new law under which the scholastic population was taken has reduced the number of children in Texas about 60,000 below last year and probably 80,000 below what they would have been if the census had been taken as previously done. The decrease in the number of scholars increases the per capita apportionment from $1 last year to $4.50 this year. There is a reduction all along the line, but is heaviest in counties containing large cities.—Waco Telegraph.

Texas farmers are sowing wheat and fatstockers hope just as though they believed that some one of these European autocrats would get the chip knocked on his shoulder after a while. If they ever do get into a "scrap" over there it will be a big thing for them to observe the strictest neutrality, as well as industry, in feeding the contestants. Texas and the territory are for peace the world around, but will always be ready to feed all mankind in whatever situations of friendship or belligerency they may be found.—Denison Herald.

MEXICO. During the month of August last, $1,065,088 40 worth of Mexican hemp was exported from Yucatan to New Orleans, New York and Hong Kong.—Telegram.

It is calculated that during the recent war over 2,000 Cubans emigrated from that island to Yucatan, and, it is said, that far not more than 200 have returned.—Mexican Herald.

A rich capitalist of Saltillo, capital of the state of Coahuila, has donated $200,000 for the foundation of an orphan asylum. The name of this philanthropist is Don Enrique Mass, who stands in a large fortune in mining and agriculture.—Telegram.

The national cattle and stock show which will open in Coyoacan on October 1 promises to outdo all former efforts in quality the animals to be exhibited will be superior to any similar collection ever brought together in the republic.—Two Republics.

According to El Universal, there is a project on hand, backed by a powerful company, to bring 100,000 French-Canadian settlers in this country. They will be mostly farmers, and will be given land to cultivate in the northern frontier states, especially Nuevo Leon and Chihuahua.

A meeting is reported to have taken place last week between Chief Juan Moldonado, of the Yaqui tribe, who was accompanied by quite a number of tribesmen, and Colonel Peinado and several state officials at Oriz. Somora. The meeting was of a purely social nature and was the occasion of a banquet tendered by the municipal authorities.—Chihuahua Enterprise.

The quarantine against Mexico by the state of Texas has practically been abolished although no official information has been received in this city. Information was received by officials of the government, who have been working to have the quarantine withdrawn, to the effect that the question of passengers having certificates of non-infection was one that rested entirely with the health officials at the Rio Grande crossing and that they would only require them in suspected cases.—Chihuahua Enterprise.

To Be an Auxiliary Post.

As already noticed in these columns, the Southern Pacific railroad is making vast and significant improvements at the port of Sabine Pass. There is no gaining the importance of the movement, and in order the better to understand the extent, scope and character of the work now in progress at that point, a representative of the Post called upon Manager Van Vleet at his headquarters in this city yesterday and in reply to questions propounded, Mr. Van Vleet courteously explained that the Southern Pacific thought the time ripe for building a modern passenger and mail line which periodically arises by reason of quarantine restrictions at Algiers, La., and other points from which Southern Pacific ships ply. To be more specific, he stated that his company was determined to have an ocean outlet for its business whenever, by quarantine or other means, the present shipping points were found inadequate to accommodate trade. As a matter of fact, he said, Algiers was capable of handling only a certain volume of traffic even under the most favorable circumstances, and the expeditious and increased business demanded greater facilities of shipping purposes. To this end, the Southern Pacific had decided on making Sabine Pass an auxiliary port, and in times of quarantine would fall back upon it as its ocean outlet. For the past two weeks the company had a large force of men at work making the necessary improvements, and the enterprise would be pushed to completion as speedily as possible. From all of which it will be seen that the Southern Pacific means to have a new gateway to the sea, and that Sabine Pass—so long neglected and ignored as a port of call by the commerce of the coast spring into gratifying prominence under the fostering spirit of this great railroad benefactor.—Houston Post.

A New Car Seal.

A novel and effective hand and seal to be used upon the cars of the M. & P. railway. Instead of imitating the ordinary seal, the new idea is simply a strip of tin with the center cut out in an oblong style, probably two inches long and three-quarters of an inch wide. This fits into two reverse thumbs attached to the lock. The thumbs cannot be moved without breaking the tin and the tin cannot be removed from off the thumbs without being mutilated. This left hand cannot be moved in a forward direction only, and when the tin is slipped over it, it is moved by the man doing the sealing till it passes a catch, thus insuring the effectiveness of the seal.—Phoenix Republican.

Sparks From The Engine.

The Houston and Texas Central received 6985 bales of cotton at its yards in this city yesterday.

The G. H. boys gave a very enjoyable dance at Chopin hall, Saturday night. Dancing was inaugurated at a late hour.

Engineer P. De Coursey, who has been in the east for the last 15 days, returned Saturday. He is on the G. H. staff of throttle pullers.

The net earnings of the Atchison system for the month of August were $452,561, a decrease of $435,720 from the same month in 1897.

Engineer J. W. Howe returned from Hot Springs, Arkansas, Saturday and reported for work on the G. H. He has been absent 15 days.

J. Roosevelt, better known as "Old Gaena," the oil inspector of the G. H., was circulating among the employees of that road, Saturday.

W. S. Cox, air brake inspector of the Atlantic system, was in town on Saturday. He found everything in drastic shape on this end of the line.

The new half mile passenger track of the S. P. is about completed. It extends from the depot west and will prove a great benefit to the company.

The various railroads entering Houston have made a reduced rate for the annual convention of the Texas division, Daughters of the Confederacy, to be held in this city October 19 to 22.

Ed. Reynolds, G. H. machinist, is said to have a great appetite for small sausages. It is said that at a recent feast given by the boys, Ed. ate three pounds of them, and was craving for more when the festivities closed.

There are a large number of cattle being moved around this point at present. The S. P. has three trains coming from D. M. N. M., and the R. G. S. M. & P. will send in two train loads to Houston. Mostly all them of will go to points in Kansas.

Tailors' Troubles in New York. The cutting in the prices for pressing clothes is causing the Merchant Tailors' Association of Greater New York much trouble. It appears that certain tailors have been pressing suits for 50 cents and this large curatorial profits in some quarters. The association recently appointed a committee to call upon the contractors and induce them to raise their price. The efforts of this committee have been futile and now the association advised its members to cut to 25 cents, thus making their others reduce to that price and ruin their business. The association has also taken in hand the matter of keeping clothes in order for customers free of cost. It has engaged an attorney to draft a bill for presentation to the legislature, providing that when a customer has clothes pressed, he is absolutely and without any cost, get right on his part to make the tailor keep in repair.—Buffalo Express.
