THE ORIGINATOR OF LOW PRICES

Capt. N. Lapowski has rented the store formerly occupied by the Hartley China Store, 213 San Antonio street, and about February 1st will open a new and complete line of dry goods, shoes, and gents' furnishings.

The Gainesville Daily Register, of Capt. Lapowski's former home, says: Captain Nathan Lapowski has resided in Gainesville since the spring of 1894, except the year he was in the army during the Spanish-American war. He has ever been one of the most enterprising and up-to-date business men. He was always ready to keep both with words and dollars, to help any legitimate local enterprise for the good of our community that came our way. He is a most progressive merchant always up with the best and latest styles and patterns in the dry goods and clothing line and a leader in low prices and good bargains. Gainesville will sadly miss Capt. Lapowski from her business marts as well as from our social contact, for he is a most genial, clever and courteous gentleman, as well as a thorough up-to-date generous business man.

He leaves here for his new field with the best wishes of all Gainesville for his future success.

STATE DOESN'T WANT THE SCHOOL BONDS.

The City So Notified Today By Superintendent Kendall.

City Clerk Catlin received a telegram today from State Superintendent Kendall, stating that the state fund could not buy the city school bonds if the general indebtedness was in excess of 20 per cent. The amount being over that Mr. Catlin took Mr. Kendall's telegram to mean that the state refused the bonds and so notified him.

The bonds have been sold to N. W. Harris & Co., of Chicago, but as the state reserves right to purchase the bonds, the matter has been delayed for Mr. Kendall's answer. The bonds will be delivered to the Harris company without further delay.
