

AMERICA AND BRITISH STAND PAT ON NAVIES

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The British and American delegations to the preliminary naval conversations agreed between themselves Friday to insist on the continuance of the principles of the Washington Naval Treaty of 1922.

The representatives of the United States and Great Britain met together and decided to ask the delegation from Japan, the third party of the conversations, for a further explanation of why the Asiatic island nations should have as large a navy as either the United States or Great Britain.

Both the Anglo-Saxon delegations made it clear that they had no intention whatsoever of granting Japan the tonnage equality which she demands.

Under the Washington treaty of 1922 Great Britain, the United States, and Japan agreed that the first two nations should have navies equally large while Japan's navy could be 60 per cent as big as either of the others. This 5-5-3 ratio is the fundamental principle of the Washington treaty and one of which the Japanese object as inequitable, Japan claiming the need of as large a battle fleet as the other two nations.

Following the American-British meeting it was stated that no common front had been decided upon on any formal basis but that the delegations were equally opposed to the Japanese demands.

The meeting was attended by Norman Davis and Ray Aherst, counselor of the American embassy, for the United States and by Prime Minister J. Ramsey MacDonald and Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, for Great Britain.

Private Capital Had Better Get Busy, Is Warning Hint Made

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Clashing viewpoints within the government and outside emphasized Friday the prospect of momentous struggles in which the winners will be decided by President Roosevelt, by congress, and perhaps by the direction of the business curve.

For the moment at least, housing is the rock on which waves of opinion break most sharply. Secretary Ickes, PWA chief, has just outlined the possibilities of a housing-for-recovery campaign which, in several respects, is strikingly different from the drive being conducted by James A. Moffett, housing administrator.

Ickes, speaking of potentialities and not of a sure thing, indicated his belief that PWA would hasten employment and help exercise the mortgage bugaboo by pouring out large sums on new and inexpensive houses. He spoke of long-term contracts directly between the government and the home owners, with interest of 3 per cent.

Many spokesmen for business and banking oppose the idea of the government's taking such a direct part in housing. Rallying leaders of such organizations as the chamber of commerce of the United States behind him, Moffett is pressing the campaign in which new homes are built with money furnished by private agencies. The government merely sets the basic maximum interest rate at 5 per cent, and arranges insurance on mortgages up to 80 per cent of assessed value.

Such men as Moffett and Henry

L. Harriman, president of the chamber of commerce, picture such a drive as one Bellwether to lead the nation out of the economic morass, just as automobiles led the way out of another depression.

Ickes raised the question how quickly and how effectively private business would take hold in this field. While PWA would welcome large investments of private capital in housing, he said, there is no evidence of such a trend.

"The government is not looking for any extra work and responsibilities," he declared Thursday, "but we can't sit around indefinitely waiting for private capital to come in. We must go ahead on the basis of present conditions."

Ickes expressed the opinion the government can build better and cheaper homes than private capital, "on one straight mortgage at 3 per cent." He spoke of costs as low as $1,600 a dwelling, possible elimination of down payments, and perhaps an agreement whereby union labor might cut hourly wage rates in return for more money per year.

RED CROSS HAS AIDED VALLEY

SAN BENITO, Nov. 23.—The American Red Cross has spent in the Valley 25 times the amount that it has ever raised in this section, said Joe A. Sloan, chairman of the San Benito chapter, at a meeting of roll call workers Wednesday morning at the Stenwall Jackson Hotel. He was referring to expenditures during the 1933 storm period. The local chapter gave out 20,000 garments last year, he said.

In addition to this emergency aid, the Red Cross has done many other things in the Valley including first aid training. What one man learned in one of these first aid courses enabled him to stop a heavy flow of blood and save a child's life. This one thing alone would justify the Valley in joining the Red Cross to the maximum, Sloan said.

These are the reasons, he pointed out, that the Red Cross is not begging the public for anything. It has given more than full value for every dollar received.

Fifty cents out of each membership goes to the local chapter. If a $25 membership is taken out, $24.50 remains with the chapter.

Marjiam Thompson, roll call chairman, spoke predicting that the membership drive would go over here as it always had.

Over 30 workers scattered for the

Isabell Jewell, Edward Brophy and William Powell in "Evelyn Prentice" with Myrna Loy, opening with a Saturday matinee preview and showing Sunday and Monday at "your" Capitol Theatre, Brownsville. Also the technicolor featurette "La Cucaracha."
