REVENGE UPON GERMANY FOR RAIDS ON LONDON IS PLANNED BY THE ALLIES

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 2.—A crowd of four people in the southwest district of London yesterday appeared to premier Lloyd George, since the Daily Mail, for reprisals against Germany for the air raids on London. The premier shouted to the crowd: "We will give it all back to them and we will give it to them soon. We shall bomb Germany with compound interest."

The crowd cheered the promise wildly. The premier had just commended a group of the area damaged by the raids.

Government to Act. The Evening Standard states "on the highest authority" that the government is paying special attention to the question of reprisals for German air attacks on London and other places. It says:

There is no qualification about the decision of the government under the earliest moment consistent with the advice of the high military command. The chief of the general staff publishes two pages of advice warning the people against possible air raids by the enemy's aviators.

Germany Give Warning. Amsterdam, Holland, Oct. 2.—German military authorities have admitted orders that all lights in the government district of Dusseldorf and a great portion of Westphalia must be darkened at night, according to the General Anzeiger of Essen. New York, Oct. 2.—Wooden shoes are being made in Germany and their families and for not a few in a higher station in life a strong probability should the war last another year, said the manager of the shoe department of one of the largest retail stores in the city today.

Germany Loan to Greece Is a Joke. Athens, Greece, Oct. 2.—The German advance of $20,000,000 to the present government of king Constantine was a financial transaction quite and contrary to the Greek constitution under the fiercest scrutiny of the Venizelos government which displaced the Constantine regime.

As summed up by M. Venizelos himself, the peculiar features were: While a huge sum was involved, yet no real money passed from Berlin to Athens, as it was all a credit transaction to be settled "after the war."

But, although no money passed, Greece finds herself obligated for this $20,000,000, and is paying interest on it at 6 per cent. Finally, as stated by Venizelos, the depreciated value of the German mark was such that the Greek government received only $2,000,000, making a net loss of $18,000,000.

Was Secret Transaction. The German advance was made about a year ago, at the time the Constantine ministry needed funds to pay the army and navy bills. It was decided to make it a secret transaction, and not make it in the budget or report it to parliament along with other loans.

This was about the time the allies were demanding the demobilization of the Greek army, which probably accounts for the loan being so secret.

Was Merely a Credit. In laying before parliament details of the affair, Mr. Venizelos said that Germany had in effect said: "In these critical times, we cannot advance actual money. But you can enter our government bank to print $20,000,000 of bank notes, and we will order our bank to open a credit for $20,000,000 payable to you today."

This was actually carried out, Mr. Venizelos explained, the price of the notes of Athens turned out the $20,000,000 in bills, based on the Berlin bank's promise to transfer the money. The interest began to run at once.
