THE SCALING LADDER.

How It is Used at Fires in Very High Buildings.

The most promising pupils among those admitted to the school of instruction at the New York fire headquarters are said to be those who have served an apprenticeship in professions that have called them aloft. Sailors, painters, roofers and steely climbers have the advantage of their preliminary training. The first thing that a neophyte is called upon to learn is how to handle the scaling ladder.

This bit of apparatus is a long, well reasoned tongue of timber with short crosspieces passing through it. It terminates at the top with a long hook, which has three or four ratchette-like projections on its undersurface and weighs from 20 to 45 pounds. There is a special knack in handling it dexterously, and many a time a man who is slight and small of stature can manage a ladder which a Goliath would find difficulty in handling.

"There is no piece of apparatus in the fire department," says one who has made a study of its methods, "which, skillfully handled, can be made to serve more purposes than this scaling ladder. The longest extension ladder in the department measures 90 feet, but the man with the scaling ladder can go up 14 or 15 stories without becoming exhausted.

At fires before an extension ladder can be put in position one fireman can push a scaling ladder into a second story window, scramble up and go from story to story to the very roof. He is followed by a second fireman, who takes his ladder with him story by story, and the first man has reached the top there is a completed chain behind him, down which the rescued may be carried and the fireman himself escape."—New York Tribune

SMITHERS' RETORT.

His Sarcastic Reply to the Private Boarding House Landlady.

Mr. Smithers is a somewhat fastidious young man who is looking for a new boarding place. Smithers can't abide the regulation boarding house, and always tries to live with a private family. He is now convinced that an "ad." which solicits boarders for a "nice private family" is often a snare for a stuffy double bed, inhabited by one small family and 24 boarders.

Smithers called one day last week at a place with a showing description just on the flank of Michigan avenue's aristocracy.

"I'm suspiciously like a boarding house," thought Smithers as he took in the dimensions. A collarless negro servant who opened the door confirmed his suspicions, but he had gone too far then to back out. A sharp nosed, snippy landlady came in with a top lofty air.

"Er—ah, I believe I am mistaken," he began. "I supposed I should find a private family. By the advertisement—ha—m—"

The laughter and the familiar boarding house hum of 14 clerks and ten lady stenographers came up from the dining room in the basement. The mistress of the conglomerate "private family" drew herself up proudly. "You are entirely mistaken, sir," she asserted in a grasping, $7 a week voice. "This is not a boarding house, although we have a few friends living with us."

Smithers sniffed the air. There was a distinct odor of prunes and corned beef.

"Well, I must say," he remarked as he turned up his coat collar and fied down the steps, "that it smells like a boarding house, madam."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Tempted by Fishes.

The Koran gives a story of some very naughty fishes in David's time. Knowing that the Israelites were forbidden to catch fish on the Sabbath, the wicked creatures came out of the Red sea in unusual numbers and kept in sight of the people all throughout the day in order to tempt them. On the approach of night they returned into the sea again.

In a fatal moment some of the Israelites yielded to the piscine blandishments, caught several of them and had them for dinner, whereupon David cursed the Sabbath breakers, and God, to show his displeasure, changed them into apes and pigs. For three days they remained in this unpleasant condition, when a violent storm arose and swept them into the sea.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Human Eye Faster Than the Pen.
"You read 1,000 miles," is the calculation of a clever individual fond of details. The eyes of the average busy man, in reading alone, travel 1,000 miles, which is equivalent to an "occur trip" a third of the distance across our continent. Even the busiest man probably travels with his eyes 19 miles of type yearly, and there are doubtless many readers who travel six times the distance. If you read a yellow backed novel, your eyes have traversed from a mile to a mile and a half of type. The busiest pen cannot keep up with this pace. With ordinary use, your pen has not traveled as far as from New York to Albany.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE FEAR OF A MOUSE.

One Instance Where It Made a Lunatic of a Woman.
A mouse has long been known to be the bitterest enemy of womankind. Just why the average run of femininity should fear such a helpless, harmless little creature cannot be explained.

During the civil war a famous female spy was betrayed, through the instrumentality of a mouse. The woman was masquerading as a boy and succeeded admirably in deceiving the enemy until one evening while dining with a party of men at a farmhouse a black mouse jumped from a cupboard to the table, almost in the face of the supposed boy. With a shrill feminine shriek the spy threw up her arms and rushed across the room, and, springing on a couch, went into hysterics from sheer fright. The men, of course, suspected her and, rather than be searched, she confessed, but by the aid of the loyal old farmer and his wife she made her escape in the night.

A well known woman physician of Chicago says she can do any kind of surgical work without a tremor, but the sight of a mouse turns her strangely ill and thoroughly "unwomanly" her.

Another woman has such a terror of mice that she recently went insane through fright at one of the wee creatures. The woman was sweeping her cellar when a mouse darted out from an old barrel and ran about her feet. She tried to step on it and beat at it with her broom, calling piteously to her little boy to help her. But the boy, thinking she was in fun, frightened the terrified mouse toward the woman whenever it tried to get away. At length the boy rushed at it in earnest and the mouse darted under the woman's skirts and she fell to the floor insensible, only to lose her mind when at length consciousness returned to her.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

NO CHINESE IN LEADVILLE.
Two Pigtails Celestials Who Were Tabooed by the Town.
Every well known nationality except the Chinese is represented in Leadville. Only two Celestials ever entered the camp, and the story of their short stay is unique and interesting. There wasn't much of a demonstration on their arrival, for it was late at night when they climbed down from the roof of one of the coaches into the busy streets and hastily surveyed the strange surroundings.

Word was whispered about in the dives with which the street was lined, and soon the pigtailed were encircled by a quiet and gentlemanly mob of perhaps a hundred miners and hoboes. Scarcely a word was spoken, but as soon as the luggage of the passengers and the mails were taken from the boot of the Concord the China boys were assisted to the seats they had just vacated, the driver was given a tip and the distinguished arrivals were whirled out of town in much quicker time than they had entered it, for it was a down hill pull to Malta, the nearest settlement down the gulch. There they were left to shift for themselves as best they might.

What means of communication with each other these strange little people have I know not, but the news of the reception that was tendered to the first representatives of their race to visit Leadville traveled rapidly, and the fact soon came to be understood by them. In all localities where they congregated in Colorado, that they were not wanted. I later queried a Chinaman in an adjoining town as to whether he had ever been in the great mining camp, and his reply was characteristically laconic: "I no go Lead-v-i-l-lee. Lead-v-i-l-lee too much like hell!"—Santa Barbara.

Prosperous Marine Trade.
Farmer (who has never seen the sea before to fisherman on the Great South bay)—Wh' a all this here water belong to?
Fisherman (patting his chest)—Us, me man, to us.
Farmer—How much d'yer charge fer it?
Fisherman—Oh, we generally charge 10 cents a gallon.
Farmer—Cheap enough. I'll take a gallon of that hum with me for me old woman. But what sin I put it in?
Fisherman—Go over there to the tavern, and they'll lend you a jar.
Farmer gets his jar and has his gallon of water put in and leaves it at the railroad station while he goes for a walk. On his return he finds the tide at low ebb. "Gosh," he says, "don't they do a big trade!"—New York Press.

The Impossible in Society.
"They are impossible persons!"
"Yes!"
"Yes, they have no sympathy whatever!"—Detroit Journal.

One of the seen in the land. It is stone, round, breviate, was erected by Caesar, general of Leice, miles ago been narrowly a lawn roll, practical finder.

Tommy Brown—engaged to Mr. White?
Susie Green—No, but she knows was coming tonight, on the car at supper.—Catholic Standard Times.

No two kinds of birds fly alike. The style of flight depends on the structure and form of the feathers, the wings and the tail.

The father of a family, becoming annoyed at the faint finding of his children over their food, exclaimed in rage one day at dinner: "You children are intolerable! You turn up your noses at everything. When I was I was often glad enough to go ahead to eat."
"Poor papa!" said Rose, to the family. "I am so glad to be doing such nice things now—mamma and us."—What?
