NEWS OF THE RAILROAD WORLD.

THE TEXAS AND NEW ORLEANS CONSOLIDATION BILL.

GOVERNOR CULBERSON RECEIVES CONGRATULATORY LETTERS FOR HIS VETO MESSAGE—THE WRITERS SPEAK OF HIS LOYALTY AND GOOD JUDGMENT.

AUSTIN, April 17.

As indicating the trend of public sentiment on the veto of the act consolidating the Sabine and East Texas railroad with the Texas and New Orleans railroad Governor Culberson has received the following letter from a prominent citizen of Galveston:

"I have carefully read your veto message and reasons for disapproval of the Texas and New Orleans consolidation bill. Permit me to congratulate you upon your loyalty to Texas, patriotism and good judgment."

The following is a copy of another letter he received today from another prominent citizen:

"I have recently read your message vetoing the consolidation of the Sabine and East Texas railroad with the Texas and New Orleans railroad, and cannot refrain from writing to congratulate and commend you for the courage and wisdom which has marked your administration thus far, and as a citizen of Texas deeply interested in her welfare to thank you that you thus stand between the commonwealth and the unwarranted encroachments of corporate power.

"You may recollect, I lived in California a few years ago, and while there I could not but note the conditions mentioned in your message, and which has doubtless increased since I left. California was then so completely under the domination of the Southern Pacific company, both in state and municipal affairs, as Texas has been and is now under the direction of the Democratic party. For years those people have been struggling to loose themselves from the hold of this corporate octopus, but their efforts seem to have resulted only in deeper entanglements, and it is now doubtful if the day will ever come in our time when that fair state will not be cursed with the corruption consequent upon such a condition of things. I am sure you do not need encouragement. The approval of your own conscious and the commendations of strong friends are doubtless with you, but I feel impelled to say this much, believing that it can not but gratify you that there is even one more; one who has not had the honor of being counted your friend, who is ready and anxious to uphold you in the position taken in the interest of the 'general welfare.' Please permit me in behalf of a large element of Texas citizenship who feel friendly to the corporations and earnestly desire to see them favored with protection, yet regard the 'general welfare' as superior to all else in governmental measures to thank you."

The following letter was also received today from a prominent citizen of San Antonio:

"I read with much interest and appreciation your veto message referring to the Southern Pacific railway system. Its grip upon the commerce of California and Arizona and efforts to control the transportation of Texas products en route to market. It is a dangerous power for evil to the producers of cotton, cattle, wool and the many products of Texas, which find a market beyond the limits of the state, controlling a through line from El Paso to Sabine, also the Texas Central, Arkansas Pass system, a line from Beeville and Victoria to Houston, which are mere feeders for its through line and terminal at Galveston.

"About five years ago I met Mr. Huntington in New York and presented my plan of an outer or artificial harbor off Padre Island and invited his aid and co-operation in its construction, as we had no first-class port on our long coast line. I had reason to expect his co-operation, but he assured me very frankly that the proposed outer harbor was entirely practical, yet his interests were in the long haul over the Southern Pacific system to his terminal at Algiers."

A. R. A. IN SESSION.

St. Louis, April 17.—Nearly two hundred delegates, officially representing nearly all of the principal railway systems of the country, were present today when President H. S. Haines called the annual convention of the American Railway association to order at the Planters' for a two days' session. All the sessions of the association will be held behind closed doors. This morning President Haines delivered his annual address, an interesting paper, which was listened to with much attention. This was followed by the reports of various committees.
