GRAINS OF CORN.

Only a Few Grains Would Keep From Starvation

BUT THE RICH SPECULATORS

Prayed Upon Their Necessities and They Were Starving.

Then the Famine Riot Came and the Corn Was Taken from the Stores of Their Rich Oppressors—News From Morelia.

Morelia, Mich., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—The famine riot which occurred in Morelia last Sunday, and of which brief mention was made in the City of Mexico dispatches...

THE FAMINE RIOT

Morelia is the capital of the state of Michoacan and the residence of the arch bishop of the diocese. It is about 200 miles from the City of Mexico on the line of the Mexican National railroad.

There are several thousand poor people in Morelia, as there are in the other large cities of Mexico, as well as in the United States.

Mr. Finley, "their exclusive food supply is corn and owing to the failure of that crop in that part of the republic, there is naturally a great scarcity of the product and the poor people have for some time past been on the verge of starvation."

When the famine was threatened several months ago a number of the wealthy merchants contracted for large quantities of corn in the United States, the total shipments amounting to about seventy-five thousand bushels, which is enough to supply the suffering people, but these speculators kept up the price and what little money the poor people has was soon extorted from them.

For the past two months the suffering among the poor has been intense, and it is claimed that there have been deaths from actual starvation. The streets become thronged with beggars, and the hungry men, women and children made heart-rending appeals for help.

This was kept up until last Sunday night, when the starving band organized themselves into a mob, and driven to desperation, began a concerted attack upon the food stores of the city. There were fully 6,000 people in the mob and the police were utterly powerless to stop its progress.

One grocery store, or food store, after another was entered and as but little corn was found the frenzy of the mob increased.

The two regiments of cavalry and one of infantry stationed at Morelia were called out to quell the riot, but their appearance only added to the desperation of the lawless people. The commander planted the soldiers in front of the mob, but they fought their way through. General Mercado, the governor of the state, by this time had made his appearance, but was entangled to retire, as he could do nothing to quiet the disturbance.

The soldiers fired upon the mob, and it is said that one man was killed and others wounded. Acting upon command of his leader the mob started for the granaries of Jose Martinez, one of the rich speculators, in which 5000 bushels of corn were stored. They reached the granary and...

Down the docks of the store houses, every man, woman and child took all the grain they could carry away. As their temporary wants had been supplied they quietly dispersed. I left Morelia on Monday and learned that the government has since taken steps to relieve the suffering of the poor people of the city.

Mr. Finley concluded that President Diaz and the Federal authorities have been doing all in their power to furnish the needy in various parts of the republic with good supplies at low prices, and the trouble at Morelia was brought about solely by the avariciousness of speculators.

STEAMERS COLLIDE

With Terrible Force and Three of the Crew of One of the Vessels Instantly Killed.

HAMBURG, Oct. 2.—The steamers Hoy Bee and Doctee came in collision today. The latter vessel was so badly damaged that she went to the bottom. The steamers came together with great force and a scene of death and ruin resulted. The Doctee was nearly torn in two by the blow, and her captain, the mate and pilot were killed. The wrecked steamer was hoisted on a barge and towed to the pier. The bodies of the three killed were recovered and are being buried in the city.

The Hoy Bee rendered all the assistance possible, and all but the three mentioned were safely rescued. The Doctee was a Spanish steamer of 105 tons burden. She arrived at Hamburg September 16 from Barcelona.

IN HER PARLOR

With the Ghastly Features of the Dead, DECORATED WITH DIAMONDS

And in His Grip of Death Holding a Gold Headed Cane

Stood the Enclosed Remains of an Infidel Husband Loved by an Infidel Wife. She Will Go to Oblivion With Him.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—A special to the World from Cordoba, Gr., says: The embalmed body of a man upright in a glass faced metallic coffin, a gold headed cane in hand and with a profusion of diamonds and other jewelry decorated the parlor of Mrs. George W. Marvin's handsome residence in this town.

The body is that of her husband who died the 10th of last July. Dr. Marvin was the wealthiest man in Cordoba. He was president of a bank and worth over $250,000.

Dr. Marvin and his wife, who were infidels, made a solemn compact before death, agreeing they would both enter oblivion as near the same time as could be easily arranged by means of suicide. When the doctor died the body was followed to the grave by all the people of the town.

Four days after the burial in the darkness of night, there was another funeral procession, but no carriage followed the hearse and no one on foot accompanied the dead except those who helped dig the earth from above the coffin and bear the corpse back to the place from which the first procession started. In the dead of night a few invited friends went to the cemetery and brought back the body.

Next morning embalmers arrived from New Orleans and embalmed the body. Mrs. Marvin refused to separate the jewelry and the remains of her husband. To bury him in the cemetery she feels the body would be exhumed and the jewels stolen. Therefore the body is kept in the parlor of her house and will stay there until she decides on some sort of a safe tomb for the remains of herself and her husband. When such is prepared by her own hands, she says she will join him.

MATAGORDA BAY

LASHED TO FURY BY A FIERCE STORM

White Pushes the Waves Fifteen Feet Above the Land—Many Ships Damaged—Many Houses Destroyed.

HODGKIN, TEX., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—A terrific storm swept Matagorda bay last night, the waves breaking over the land a height of fifteen feet.

A special from Fort Lavaca says: The new dock house of W. J. Chapman was blown off the piling and it was a job of very short duration for the waves to completely tear it to pieces. A two story building being erected by Lightgins and Smith and which was not completed was blown off the blocks and toppled up.

The ice factory just finished was so warped as to be rendered useless. One of the side sheds was completely torn away.

The injured vessels are the quarantine steamer Mattie, William Moore, captain, which was driven ashore; the steamer Olga, Robert Parzola, captain, lost her rudder and the bottom was injured. The steamer Pilot, Covano Piers, captain, had her mast torn away and side battered. The steamer South, Billie Johnson, captain, had her beam and a part of her sides seriously battered. The schooner Louise Constantine, Demetio, captain, had her rudder shattered. The steamer T. D. Harry Rahnigens, captain, was driven ashore, but with minor injuries. The steamer Italia, Phoebe Pasquale, captain, had her bowsprit shattered. The steamer Two Golden, Constantine Margaglio, captain, suffered minor damages. The steamer Eleanor, James Beatty, captain, had her rigging torn away and the boat was badly battered. The steamer Dora, Edgar Rupert, captain, was very much shaken up. The steamer H. M. Bowie, Geo. Raymond, captain, was caught across the bay in the storm and the captain cut away the rigging to prevent capsizing. She was loaded with oysters and this morning towed in by the schooner Columbus of Galveston.

No lives were lost, but it will require some time and much money to repair the damage. At present no accurate estimate of the damage can be made. There is much uneasiness felt here for the crews of a number of boats which are known to have been out on Matagorda bay yesterday.

FANDANGO FIGHT.

One White Man and Two Mexicans Shot and Stabbed.

KYLE, TEX., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—Last night at a Mexican fandango four miles from here, a cow was raised between a young white man named Tom Perles and a Mexican which finally grew into a small battle. There were several Americans present and when the cow started they all took part. After the stroke of the battle had cleared away it was found that Tom Perles, the white man, was dead, having been both stabbed and shot. There were also two dead Mexicans and another wounded so bad he will die.

Behind Bars.

Don Adams, who was in the Pashanda for several days prior to Saturday, was surprised when he got home to find a box of cigars sent him by the friends of Miss Todd Collins at Denton, to be used in the Gazette contest. If he had received them in time the young lady would have been 14,000 higher on the list.

GROVER'S NO FOOL

So He Answer Long Letters Vaunting Personal Fidelity

SENT BY W. H. MURRAY ET AL

in a Plain, Sensible Way—He Kept a Copy too

Which He Didn't Have to Hide or to Burn and Here it is—Tell, Tell, Tell the Truth. Hogg at Denton—Harrity On the Situation.

The following telegram was received by A. L. Matlock yesterday, and fully explains itself: New York, Oct. 2.

I called on Mr. Cleveland this morning, and in course of conversation asked him if it was true, as reported in Texas, that he had written a personal letter to W. H. Murray endorsing the candidacy of Governor Hogg, to which he replied: "I have written no personal letter."

"Not long since I received a long letter from Mr. Murray, containing strong expressions of personal friendship and enthusiasm for party success, in answer to which I wrote this letter" [reading from copy].

GRAY CARLES, Sept. 18, 1902. W. H. Murray, Esq., Corsicana, Tex. MY DEAR SIR:—I thank you for your letter August 31 and desire to assure you that I appreciate your personal friendship and your real and steadfastness in the Democratic cause. Yours truly, GROVER CLEVELAND.

From which it will be seen Mr. Murray has no letter from Mr. Cleveland endorsing anything. JOHN N. SIMPSON.

The Opening of Bids For the New Work at Denton—Newsy Gossip From the Gate City.

DEMOTON, TEX., Oct. 2.—[Special.]—W. H. Hutton, keeper of the pump house for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas at Blue River, 1 T., spent the day in Denton.

A. B. Little, a prominent railway contractor of San Antonio, is in the city. He is interested in the new switching yards west of the city.

W. S. Cole, a conductor on the International and Great Northern railway out of Tyler, came up today. He is en route to Omaha.

Pete Brady, engineer; Ed Colton, switchman; and Dick Blaney, freight conductor in the service of the International and Great Northern railway out of Tyler, came up last night with dog, gun and rod. The party left early this morning for Caney bottom, thence they will go east into the mountains. They expect to be gone one week. Another party of Tyler boys have preceded this crowd.

Many people in Denton have been anxiously looking forward to the opening of the sealed bids for work on the new yards west of the city, which was to have taken place Wednesday, September 25. The delay was occasioned by the fact that Chief Engineer Wilson and Vice-President Parry had been summoned by telegram to go on the Hannibal division of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas where important business demanded immediate attention. The two officials who will open the bids, were due to arrive in Parsons this morning and they will probably attend to this important matter today. The bids, no doubt, will be kept a secret until Monday.

Passenger brakeman W. C. Canfield has resigned his position with the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and left today for the north.

Claim Agent Lammoney came in from the south today to spend Sunday at home.

Passenger No. 3, Houston and Texas Central, was again late today.

Division Superintendent Maxwell came up today on No. 2 from a trip to Waco.

Trainmaster A. B. Bethard returned today from Henrietta where he had been on a tour of inspection. He reports matters in excellent working order.

C. R. Herrel, chief clerk for Trainmaster Bethard, contemplated leaving next week for Springfield, Ill., on a visit to relatives. Mrs. Herrel and babies are already there, having left ten days ago.
