Washington, July 16.—When the cabinet met at 11 o'clock yesterday morning there was positively nothing from the front which would serve as a guide for the deliberations. It was at first thought the cable had been interrupted, but on inquiry of General Greeley, chief signal service officer, he gave assurance that the cable was intact. Thereupon Secretary Alger sent a message asking for the situation up to the last moment, inquiring as to how far the surrender had proceeded. No answer was received, however. A dispatch from Lieutenant Jones, military engineer at Playa del Este, reported that Secretary Alger's message was only six minutes in passage from Washington to Playa. A message was received by General Greeley at 2:23, indicating that negotiations were still in progress.

Toward the middle of the afternoon dispatches from Generals Miles and Shafter arrived in response to Secretary Alger's message. They were not given out in full, but such parts as were made public showed that the negotiations were still in progress and that the Spaniards had raised some unexpected questions. The most important of these was an instance that the Spanish troops should retain their arms when they return to Spain. There was entire willingness on the part of General Toral to turn over the arms to General Shafter at the time of the surrender, but with this was to be the understanding the arms were to be returned to the Spanish troops when Spanish soil was reached.

The authorities here did not regard it as serious or as likely to overcome a final settlement as it was attributed to the Spanish sensitiveness against the humiliation involved in the laying down of their arms. At the same time it was a point to which neither side appeared to be ready to yield. One of the dispatches from General Shafter, after specifying that this question had arisen, added it was believed a settlement would be reached before the day closed. Gen. Shafter himself summed up the situation by saying:

It cannot be possible that there will be failure in completing arrangements. No question whatever has been raised as to the surrender itself. Not only has General Toral agreed to it but this agreement has been ratified by General Blanco at Havana and by the Spanish authorities at Madrid.

After an extended conference with the president last night, at which three other members of the cabinet were present, Secretary Alger said:

"The situation is just this: The Spaniards at Santiago are prepared to surrender, but they want to carry their arms. We have determined to grant no such concession nor any concession except the generosity of this government to transport them to Spain."

It was nearly 1 o'clock this morning when the conference at the White House adjourned. Besides Secretary Alger there were present Secretaries Bliss and Wilson and Postmaster General Emory Smith. Adjutant General Corbin was present during the last hour of the conference.

Secretary Alger did not say how much time would be allowed the enemy to reach a conclusion, but it is known that the administration will make it very short and submit to no further parley with General Toral. The next move is surrender upon the terms which the United States government proposes or immediate attack upon the forces by the army and navy.

At 1:35 o'clock this morning when General Corbin left the war department for his home, he was yet without definite information from General Shafter concerning the surrender of Santiago. In accordance with the decision reached at the conference with the president he sent instructions to General Shafter that nothing but unconditional surrender by General Toral will be satisfactory to this government. In view of Shafter's last dispatch no fear is felt that the negotiations for the surrender of the soldiers will not be prosecuted to a successful conclusion.

The unusual delay which has puzzled the war officials is accounted for by the difficulty which Toral is having in surrendering that part of the force under his command which is not in the city of Santiago. General Shafter estimates that there are from 12,000 to 15,000 men in Santiago and nearly as many more in the province outside the city. It is believed the delay is made necessary in order to secure the surrender of the outlying garrisons, some of which may require Toral's authority to surrender.

The perplexing problem now to be solved is how to carry out the pledge made by General Shafter to remove the Spanish soldiers who surrender, to Spain. It will be no easy matter to remove 20,000 to 25,000 men across the Atlantic under the best conditions, but reports indicate yellow fever among the Spaniards threaten all kinds of difficulties. After all it was decided to be only a matter of money, and if the price offered is large enough steamships can be found to undertake the transportation. At best, several weeks will be required to remove the Spaniards, so that it will be necessary to maintain a considerable proportion of the American army in the neighborhood for some time to come.

It is thought the spread of yellow fever will be prevented among the troops. The surgeons reported the disease as of a mild type, and it is said this will yield to a change of location into higher and cooler ground.

The 25 men who go with him are yellow fever immigrants and will be transferred to the regular army hospital service. Major Sommers will sail from New York on the St. Paul and is expected to reach Santiago on Tuesday.
