

A STUDY IN CRIMINOLOGY.

New York Graphic.

Once upon a time there was a Reprobate. He lived in the Suburbs because his family—which was a Blue Blood—did not possess the price of Urban Extravagance.

The Reprobate had neither Brains nor Ability, but he was determined to become Famous. The thoughts in his Think Tank surged thusly: I cannot become a Lawyer because I have not the wit; a Doctor, because I have not the nerve; an Artist, because I have no talent; a Poet, because I cannot afford a Rhyming Dictionary; anything else, because I will not work.

Thereupon he emerged from his Den and killed Ten men, three Ladies, and Seven Children. His name was boosted into the Papers and he became Famous. He was convicted after a Trial and was condemned to death. Then all the Nice Girls fell in love with him and sent him letters, Candy, Poetry and Bananas.

His case was opened and it was reversed. Because he did not commit the crime? Oh, dear, no. They were sure of that, and it was not mentioned. He secured a new trial because the Mean and Nasty Prosecutor mentioned that his Mother had red Hair, which the court said was Prejudicial. Also Improper. Thereupon the convict returned and killed all the witnesses against him. He went through a new Trial with Flying Colors and Came out a Free Man.

The papers printed his picture some more and he married a Nice Girl with Nineteen Million from Kankakee. They lived Unhappily ever after.

MEN WHO DO AND MEN WHO DON'T.

Men, after all, are, and always will be, of two kinds—the men who accomplish and the men who don't. The other day there was an important conference at the office of one of the biggest men in American finance. It began early in the morning, and at noon it was not concluded. Promptly at 12:30 the clerks went out to lunch. The financier apologized to one of his stenographers for keeping him ten minutes after the regular hour—indeed, if it had occurred often the stenographer would have indignantly sought another position. He did not, however, apologize to the other seven or eight millionaires who sat about his desk until well after 7 o'clock with no thought of luncheon or dinner. These men are willing to make the sacrifice which success demands.

There is no dearth of openings for the man who will fit himself to accomplish. The fact is that the development of business has been more rapid than the development of men, and today there is a greater need of men of the right sort than ever, and every great business is looking for them.—Ex.

SNOW TEN FEET DEEP.

Reports Received at El Paso Show Heavy Fall in Mountains.

El Paso, Texas, Dec. 26.—Reports received here state that the snow-fall in the white mountains during the last few days, has been exceptional, there being eight to ten inches in some places and where drifts have accumulated, a maximum depth of six to ten feet has been attained. The reports add that while the cold and snowfall have been unusual, no suffering among stock has resulted.
