Now, while it is raining, is a good time to talk about the new railroad. Don't drop the subject for a moment.

The Monterey News contains a denial that the Mexican Central contemplates crossing the Rio Grande at Brownsville, but that does not prove the road will not cross here.

You people who think the citizens of Brownsville do not appreciate a good thing, should be here now and note the interest manifested by the general public in the proposed new line of railroad, the first public announcement of which appeared in THE HERALD yesterday. Col. Loti, who is at the head of the enterprise, is receiving much encouragement, even from sources least expected, and the prospects are bright indeed. THE HERALD will keep its readers thoroughly advised as to progress, and would suggest that they do not get too impatient, and expect things to happen too quick. It takes time to build a railroad, and while you are waiting just spend your spare moments in thinking of the immense benefits to accrue to this section.

City Council Meeting.

The city council had a regular meeting Monday afternoon, at which the following business was transacted:

F. W. Kibbe, who had been previously appointed to audit the city's books made a lengthy report of the financial condition of the city, the report being referred to the finance committee.

Teófilo Crixell came before the council and requested the use of Washington square for the purpose of giving open air amusements, conditioned that a part of the revenues derived from the collection of booths, etc., be delivered to the city, for the purpose of improving said square and converting it into a park. The consideration of the proposition was deferred until a committee could meet Mr. Crixell and enquire more fully as to the character of the proposed amusements.

Report of city marshal of fines collected for month of November, showing collections to amount of $11 and treasurer's receipt for same, was presented.

City secretary was instructed to advertise in the BROWNSVILLE DAILY HERALD for bids for the market and slaughter house revenues, said bids to be received and opened on the 18th day of December, 1905.

Report of city physician for months of October and November was received, examined and ordered filed.

City collector's report was received and referred to finance committee.

The city treasurer was allowed until next meeting to file his report.

Following bills were examined and ordered paid:

Gulf Refining company, oil furnished city from August 26th to November 2nd, $51.93.

H. A. Maltby, 1/2 dozen street lamps, $24.

Clarke & Courts, blanks for corporation court, $29.50.

Maverick-Clarke, election blanks, $12; delinquent tax, $29.50.

Celedonio Garza, feeding city prisoners for quarter ending September 30, $86.60.

Juan de Dios Garza, repairing city lamps and making new founts, $4.

F. Villareal, labor repairing street crossing, nails, axle grease and harness oil, $4.25.

In color the squirrel fish is a brilliant red, which makes it a conspicuous inhabitant of the sea as it darts here and there with quick, alert movements. The body of the squirrel fish shows a few stripes and is well covered with sharp spines.

FEMINE FINANCIAL MIND.

Women Cannot Grasp the Realness of Money in Large Sums.

"The reason women rarely make a success as financiers is that they have absolutely no conception of money in bulk," said a well known broker of this city in discussing this question recently. "We have examples of it every day. We have a few women patrons, but we don't like them. I guess you'll find that chivalry dies out when it comes to a question of taking care of women's money for them.

"Men think of large sums of money in the abstract; women only in the concrete. If you tell a woman she will profit $10,000 in a certain deal she thinks you are honest and not trying to get ahead of her. If you tell her there's going to be a big coup of $100,000 or so she looks at you in childlike bewilderment. Her experience does not give her any clew to the possibilities of this sum of money. She does not realize how much tangible value it represents.

"My, my! That seems an awful big sum of money," said one particularly unsophisticated woman who had made a successful deal through accident rather than design. "Could I live comfortably on that for the rest of my life? How much would my income be a year, say, without touching the principal?"

"A woman is afraid to deal with money in large sums unless she happens to be trained to it. She can't, in her mind's eye, see how many houses or rents or school bills it will pay for. When she hears of a large sum of money she always wants to know how much it's going to buy her, how it is going to look in some concrete form, like houses or dresses or trips abroad. As a simple quantity to figure interest on she can't realize it."—Philadelphia Record.

Washing Silk.

Pongee silk to be successfully laundered must be hung on the line without wringing the water out and allowed to thoroughly dry. Press with a moderately warm iron without sprinkling.

Restoring Black Lace.

A strong solution of vinegar and water is efficacious in restoring the color of black lace that has grown rusty. Rinse in coffee, then iron while damp with a piece of flannel placed over it.
