NEWS OF THE COURTS

ALL WERE BUSY ONES ON YESTERDAY.

THE MURDER CASE CONTINUED

Almost a Clash Between City and County—R. T. Lewis Acquitted. New Suits Filed.

It was a case of the usual busy Monday at the court house. For the first time in many months there was a semblance of a conflict of authority between the city and county officials early in the morning, but it developed later that the cause had been removed. R. T. Luis, the colored doctor, was tried in the county court upon a charge of malicious mischief, and acquitted. The complaint alleged that he had maliciously killed a hog. The evidence developed the fact that the hog was getting away with his feed and that there was no malice at all. The Tom Lewis murder case in Judge Watts' court was passed until November 2. Thi leaves Judge Watts without anything on hand today unless a case is tried by agreement. Judge Pope disposed of several important cases.

On Sunday the city officials arrested a man giving the name of Turner Montgomery. He was charged with various offenses, and was wanted by Sheriff Landry. The city officials did not turn him over to the county on Sunday, and he remained in the city prison that night. Yesterday morning Judge E. B. Moore sued out a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Pope, and it was made returnable yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Marshal Stewart being cited to appear with the prisoner to show cause why the city should hold him. Before the writ was ever served, however, the man was in the custody of Sheriff Landry, as it seems the original purpose had been to turn him over to the county the first thing Monday morning.

In the Fifty-eighth District Court.

In the Fifty-eighth district court, W. H. Pope presiding, a jury for the week was impanelled in part, but as no case went to trial, Judge Pope excused the jurors secured until Wednesday morning next, when the new panel will be completed.

In the case of W. H. Turner vs. Turner & Nabors Lumber company, Judge Pope called the case and W. T. Turner and his counsel, Duff & Duff, informed the court that they had been enjoined by Judge Broughton from further prosecuting the case, pending a hearing before Judge David E. Bryant, to be called on November 21 next. Judge Pope stated that he was ready to proceed with the case, notwithstanding the order of the referee in bankruptcy, but counsel who were enjoined preferred not to go into the case, and an order was entered passing it peremptorily.

J. W. Douglas vs. F. Blair et al; case dismissed by agreement at defendant' cost.

W. P. H. McFaddin vs. Seran Blanchette et al.; judgment for plaintiff against defendant for $1,206, with interest and costs of suit, with foreclosure of lien on property prayed for in plaintiff's petition.

Nona Mills company vs. Kirby Lumber company; on call for trial.

The jury for the week as secured in part is Isaac Garrison, C. C. Burley, Welby Gantz, J. J. Nathan Gaston Flowers, Joe Carroll and H. G. Brown.

In the criminal district court, Judge Watts presiding, the case of Tom Lewis, charged with murder, was called and occupied the court throughout the morning session, an order finally having been entered resetting it for Monday, November 2. Lewis, who is a young colored man, is charged in the indictment with having shot and killed Ed Mitchell colored, on August 22, 1903. The homicide took place at the Southern Pacific depot, and is alleged to have been caused by the defendant's having ceased paying illicit attentions to the defendant's wife.

When the case was called the state, through Assistant County and District Attorney Judge McLowell, announced ready. Counsel for the defendant first preferred a motion to quash the return of the sheriff on the special venire on the grounds that it was defective. This motion was overruled by the court. Defendant's counsel then preferred a motion for a continuance, and an adjournment was taken until 11:30 o'clock in order to permit counsel to present the motion in writing. The motion recited that defendant was unable to procure the attendance of absent witnesses, and that the wife of the defendant, who is a material witness, was hurt in the wreck on the Southern Pacific at China Saturday night and was unable to be in court, having sustained a fracture of some of her ribs. The motion for the continuance was overruled by the court, who, of his own motion, reset the case for Monday, November 2, and the special venire was excused until that time.

The criminal district court then adjourned for the day. The next case set for trial is that of Eva Brittain, charged with murder, which will be called for trial October 12.

County Court Proceedings.

The criminal term of the county court, when was passed from Monday last, was again taken up, and Judge Wheat called the docket for orders. Numerous orders were made dismissing, passing and continuing cases. In only one case did the parties announce ready for trial. This was the case of Dr. R. T. Luis, colored, charged with malicious mischief in killing a hog, the property of another.

All the cases on appeal from the corporation court were reset for Wednesday, October 12. The following orders were entered this morning:

Gertrude Grant, disturbing the peace; reset for Wednesday.

Gus Magauen, violating the Sunday law; same order.

Oscar Warren, disturbing the peace; same order.

Lewis Gester, disturbing the peace; same order.

James Sapp, selling liquor on Sunday; continued without prejudice.

Joe Tusa, affray; passed until Tuesday.

T. R. Lewis, malicious mischief; acquitted.

Jacob Mesa, violating Sunday law; reset for Wednesday.

R. L. Oswald, discharging firearms in city limits; continued.

Sol Dyson, unlawfully destroying property; dismissed at the instance of the county attorney.

Ben Blue, theft of less than $50; reset for Thursday.

John Houston, carrying a pistol; reset for Thursday.

W. J. McFaddin, aggravated assault and battery; dismissed on motion of the state.

Ray Kennedy, aggravated assault and battery; same order.

Robert T. Brashear, swindling; defendant not in court and recognizance bond in the sum of $200 forfeited and alias capias issued and cause continued.

County Court Jury.

The jury for the week in the county court is: T. M. Watson, William Italey, George Granger, Henry Le Floure A. B. Flowers, James O. Leonard, George Arnold, E. M. Denton, Henry Ainsworth, E. C. Ridley, C. W. Barfield and R. M. Micklebrough.

The attorney for David Timler yesterday afternoon filed his formal motion for a new trial. Timler was found guilty last Saturday and his punishment assessed at two years in the penitentiary.

In the district clerk's office yesterday afternoon a suit was filed by J. W. Strayer against Geroge E. Hart and J. F. Hart. It is over an alleged breach of contract involving an oil transaction. The damages claimed amount to $1,000, with interest and costs.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Roger G. Dawson and Alice Manning, Joe Elkins and Mary Horton, Henry Catoreine and Julia R. Tuck, J. Fennett and Katie Brady.

In the case of Nona Mills company vs. Kirby Lumber company, an agreed judgment was rendered.

BUSINESS WE NEED

BUSINESS MEN TALK MOST FAVORABLE.

BOTH DRUGS AND DRY GOODS

And Notions Would Sell Voluminously by Wholesale—Interviews on the Subject.

The Enterprise reporter making the business rounds is continually running into contact with business men who look with favor upon the establishment in Beaumont of at least one wholesale dry goods and notions house and one drug house here.

These men do not want any big blustering concern that will start in with one effort to turn the world over and break all previous business records, but they want two good substantial houses operated on a conservative basis.

Mr. P. A. Heisig, of Heisig & Norvell, one of the leading wholesale grocer houses here said:

"I believe that there is a good opening here for a wholesale drug house but I would prefer to see a wholesale dry goods and notion house to the drug business though both are good business propositions.

"My reason is to some extent personal but being a means of helping the wholesale grocer houses means that it would help Beaumont. I think we ought all pull together. I will help anything here that advances Beaumont and feel that others here would help me in the same cause. The desirability of a wholesale dry goods and notions house comes from the smaller towns which want to buy both their groceries and dry goods at the same place. It is inconvenient for a merchant from Jasper say to come to Beaumont and buy his groceries and then be compelled to go to New Orleans or Houston for his dry goods and notions. Then after he goes the influence of those cities is brought to bear upon him to buy all his goods of all kinds in those cities and the people seem as a unit in bringing about this result. In the end we may possibly lose a merchant whose natural tendencies are towards Beaumont for everything.

"I am confident that T. S. Reed feels just as I do about this proposition and that the wholesalers now here would gain by the bringing in of new houses in other lines. Our railroad facilities are such that they would have plenty of territory to do a safe and conservative business and one that would finally become prosperous and lasting.

"We do not want a wholesale house here that is in any manner connected with any retail house in the city. The moment you try to run both the wholesale and the retail in one organization you lose trade of other retailers. It is but natural that the others should say that the man handling both retail and wholesale is taking an advantage over the single retailer. This feeling spreads until in the country you will find the retail merchant declining to patronize a wholesale house that has a retail branch.

"It is true that we have some merchants here who do sell wholesale in some cases but they do not depend upon a wholesale trade and their sales of this character are usually where the merchant comes here to buy groceries of the wholesale grocers and do not have the time to get to some other point for his other lines or is in a hurry to get the goods themselves. As a matter of fact the local merchants will give wholesale concerns almost enough business to make it profitable But they will not do that where the wholesaler is doing a retail business also.

"I should be glad to see agitation become sufficiently convincing to bring some one in here to organize and start out in both these lines on a conservative basis."

Dr. W. N. Forbes, representative of Parke, Davis & Co., hailed an Enterprise reporter yesterday about it this line:

"Say, I see you are talking about a wholesale drug house here. Now you're talking good sense. There is the best opening here of any place I know. The territory surrounding Beaumont prefers Beaumont. When they have an opportunity they buy everything possible here and it is only because they cannot get everything they want they go through. would like very much to see a practical wholesale drug man come into Beaumont, organize a stock company and start out on a conservative basis I believe that Beaumont merchants alone would buy $75,000 a year. The country would take much more than that and the first years' business might be made to run as high as $200,000. The trade would simply come here of its own volition. You ought to keep up that sort of talk until you get the people here awakened to the fact that they have such a splendid city and such an opportunity to do a good, legitimate fairly remunerative business.

Mr John N Gilbert said to an Enterprise reporter that the need of wholesale establishments here is urgent. He does not see why such institutions would not pay from the first They would assist the wholesale grocers and the latter in turn would help them. This city, in his opinion has the openings for wholesale houses in at least three different lines.

Gentry Coming to Town.

Despite the familiarity of all persons with the immensity of the operations necessary to the handling of such a railroad animal show as is that conducted by the Gentry Bros. the show is this year so much greater in every direction that the fact is at once apparent and it is hardly necessary to call attention to it. Three things which impress visitors to the Gentry show this year, and these impressions are not lost even after one hundred visits, are its overpowering magnitude, its supreme excellence and real perfection of organization. Lilliputian animal actors in superabundance, all performing curious terpsichorean originalities and odd feats of gyrations with curious and comic episodes are seen in a mixture of a new and novel fun-making performances. Gentry Bros. will positively appear in this city on Wednesday, October 19, afternoon at 2, evening at 8, with a gorgeous street spectacle at 10 o'clock in the morning.

IN RAILWAY CIRCLES

SANTA FE WILL MAKE CHANGES IN SCHEDULE.

THE S. P. PASSENGER DEPOT

Work Being Done by Contractor—No Change as to Shops, which Will Be Built—Personal Mention.

C. E. Swindell, general passenger agent of the Kansas City Southern, was in Beaumont again yesterday.

* * *

Mr. James Monroe, city passenger and ticket agent of the Southern Pacific, announces the appointment of Mr. Jim McCormick as one of his assistants. Mr. McCormick is expected here today. He comes from a position as clerk to the purser of one of the big Morgan steamers plying between New Orleans and New York.

* * *

H. B. Moore, general agent of the Kansas City Southern at Port Arthur was in Beaumont yesterday morning.

* * *

Joe Pumillia, the well known young railroad clerk, has accepted a position in the car service department of the Gulf & Interstate.

* * *

F. E. Roessler, immigration agent of the Kansas City Southern, with headquarters at Kansas City, is in Beaumont, taking in the good roads convention.

* * *

H. O. Byrd spent his Sunday in Texarkana, returning yesterday.

* * *

The very low rate that the Southern Pacific is putting on to San Antonio is merely an illustration of the gratitude the road feels toward the people of that city for suppressing the scalpers there. Until recently San Antonio was infested with this character of people, and the company declined to put on attractive rates, saying that the scalpers reaped the benefit. On October 29th, however, for No. 9, they are going to sell round trip tickets for $4.50 and the holder is entitled to occupy the Pullman palace drawing room cars if he desires to pay the extra price for his sleeping. The tickets are good to return on the last train of October 31.

* * *

The work on the Southern Pacific passenger depot is being pushed slowly but surely. One of the gentlemen connected with the railway company was asked yesterday about conditions generally pertaining to the new depot. He said that the trouble lies in the fact that the depot was let out by contract, and is not like the work usually done by the company. The contractors have been unable to move as rapidly as the company desires, but the officials cannot help it. As to the sheds he stated that this would be a matter of a very few days when the depot is once ready for occupancy. The sheds will be built and in his opinion there has been absolutely no change in the plans as originally outlined by the company, and as stated by Mr. Van Vleck.

* * *

On November 13th there will be a general shaking up of the schedules of the Santa Fe railway, from Chicago to the gulf, and perhaps to the Pacific ocean as well. So far as the branch lines are concerned, there is nothing definite. The present time is likely to be changed, however, and it is more than probable that even the local officials in charge of such matters do not know just what they will do since their changes must of necessity be governed in large measure by the changes on the main line. It is expected that the Somerville service will be materially changed.

* * *

The Southern Pacific yesterday laid the pipe for its private water main across Pearl street, and in another two weeks the line will be at the roundhouse.

Bell, general passenger and ticket agent, Grand Trunk Railway system, Montreal, all information concerning routes, guides and full particulars can be had.

BOSTON WINS OUT

FLAG WILL FLOAT OVER HUB CITY GRAND STAND.

IT WAS A SENSATIONAL FINISH

28,500 People Witnessed the Downfall of Gothamites on Their Own Grounds.

New York, Oct. 10.—Boston vanquished New York on the baseball field here today, winning the American League championship pennant for the second time.

It was a sensational finish to a thrilling struggle, which has been going on for several months. During the last two months the teams have been see-sawing in the lead for the championship and the fact that the issue narrowed down to the outcome of today's double header on the Washington Heights grounds, demonstrated how close the battle was. In order to win the pennant, Griffiths New Yorkers required two victories today, while Boston needed only one. At the end of the fifth inning, the local men seemed to have the first game well in hand, as they scored two runs.

In the seventh inning, a bad throw by Williams to the plate allowed La Chance and Ferris to cross the plate and tie the score for Boston.

Wild Pitch Did It

Each side being equal, things went smoothly until the first half of the ninth, when Criger reached first safely on an infield hit. Dineen passed him to second by a sacrifice, and Chesbro losing control at this critical stage, made a wild pitch, the ball hitting the press stand, while Criger was running in with the winning tally.

New York failed to tie in their half of the game and the pennant went to the New Englanders by a score of 3 to 2.

Putmann and Winter were the opposing pitchers in the final game which went the full nine innings without a run being scored. A wild throw by La Chance gave the game to New York in the tenth. Attendance 28,584. Score:

First:
Boston	000	000	201	—	3	9	0
New York	000	020	000	—	2	6	2
