MAY BUILD DEMONSTRATION ROAD

The Brazos County Good Roads Club, to which the Bryan Automobile Club has changed its name, accompanied by Prof. R. J. Potts of the A. and M. College, held a conference with the Commissioners' Court yesterday. The object was to interest the court in a proposition to build a demonstration sand-clay road from Bryan to Wellborn on practical lines that could be followed on all the roads of the county in case it is a success.

The club asks the court to build the road, offering to keep it in perfect condition for one year, at the end of which time they will report to the court the exact cost and the methods used in the upkeep. This data could then be used in the upkeep of the other roads of the county, or rather the methods that proved successful.

The court will get an estimate of the cost of building the road from a competent engineer before any steps are taken. However, the members of the court regard the proposition favorably, and no doubt the people of the county would like to see the experiment made.

A NOTE FROM FRANK MYERS

Is Recovering from Operation for Broken Ankle—Appreciates The Daily Eagle.

Chicago, Mercy Hospital, April 15, 1913.

Editor Bryan Eagle:
I inclose a clipping from the Chicago Tribune. You will see that Brazos County is not the only county that is in need of good roads.

I receive The Daily Eagle every day, and no one knows how to appreciate our little daily until he gets away from home.

I have been under an operation for a broken ankle and everything looks fine. Dr. Murphy is well pleased. Guess I will be on my way home in about two or three weeks.

Weather somewhat chilly up here this morning. Success to The Daily Eagle and its force. I remain, Respectfully yours, FRANK A. MYERS.

The clipping referred to in Mr. Myers' letter showed a road scene in Cook County with the buggy stuck in mud to the axles, and one of the horses down in the mud. The driver was out trying to coax the fallen horse to get up, and he himself was badly stuck in the mud.—Ed.

COMMISSIONERS' COURT.

The Commissioners' Court spent the day in discussing the road question, and advancing means of lowering the cost of working the roads.
The court is in correspondence with a firm which makes oil tractors and claims that the cost of operation is much lower than steam. The court is considering asking for a demonstration, as it costs nothing.

Dr. Gomez is accused of complicity in the Zapata revolt.

UNVEILED REPLICA ALAMO MONUMENT

Miniature of Great Structure To Be Erected in Memory of Heroes Built on Exact Proportions.

San Antonio, Texas, April 22.—The replica of the proposed monument to be erected to the heroes of the Alamo was unveiled last night. There was quite an assemblage, presided over by Judge J. E. Webb, president of the organization which has undertaken the task of building the monument.

The principal address of the evening was by A. B. Storey, who asserted that the great pile could easily be constructed and that it would be by the people of Texas.

The replica is 25 feet in height and three feet square at the base, the exact proportions of the monument to be erected, which will be 802 feet high and 85 feet square at the base. At each corner, above the massive pillars, which in the big monument will be 75 feet high and placed on granite blocks 50 feet high, are statues of four of the Alamo heroes, Crockett, Travis, Bonham and Bowie. Small models of the statues have been designed by Peter H. Mansbendel of Austin, who will execute the statues for the big monument, and these will be placed on the replica. At each side of the replica, just below where the shaft joins the base, are panels of scenes about the Alamo on the morning of March 6, 1836, when the fortress was finally assailed by an overwhelming force and all its defenders put to death.

Plans and specifications for the Alamo heroes' monument were prepared by the Alfred Giles Company. All material used in the construction of the replica was donated by San Antonio business men.

The replica is an artistic gem and should prove one of the features of Fiesta week. It will be decorated with flags during the day and beautifully illuminated each night, a large globe of light at the top being one of the crowning features.

Already an offer has been received from a Tennessee-Texas to furnish free all the marble required in the building of the great monument that will be 802 feet high and the highest structure in the world. Tennessee was the home of Gen. Sam Houston and of David Crockett, and of many men that have helped make Texas famous, and it is thought very fitting if any material is to be used from outside Texas that it should come from Tennessee, with which this State has always been so closely affiliated. The offer of marble has come from R. J. Thomas of Cooper, Texas.

MORGAN'S WILL FOR PROBATE

Less Than $20,000,000 Left in Special Bequests—Disposition of Art Treasures.

[By Associated Press.]
New York, April 22.—Interest in the will of the late J. P. Morgan, made public Monday, centered today in the question of the financier's estate and in what disposition his son would make of the vast collection of Morgan art treasures. Less than $20,000,000 was accounted for in the specific bequests made by Mr. Morgan, the remainder being the residuary portion left to the son without mention of the amount.

Some estimates made today placed

COLQUITT VETOED 9:30 CIVIL SALOON BILL

Gives as a Reason the Attitude of the Comptroller in Construing the Law—Says the 9:30 Criminal Statue Serves Same Purpose—Vetoed Marketing Board

[By Associated Press.]
Austin, Texas, April 18.—Governor Colquitt this morning vetoed the civil bill providing for 9:30 p. m. saloon closing. Numerous clerical errors crept into the bill, but the Attorney General held the intention of the law, rather than the exact wording, should be taken into consideration. This did not meet the approval of Comptroller Lane, who passes on all applications for saloon license.

In his veto of the bill the Governor says: "The Comptroller's attitude indicates a disinclination to co-operate with the other departments in a harmonious administration and interpretation of the law. In view of this attitude, and further reasons, I see no good purpose in raising a row later on the total estate as high as $125,000,000, but according to a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., not even the son himself can tell within many millions the actual value of the fortune. Until appraised by the State for the purpose of collecting the inheritance tax the question probably will remain open.

J. P. Morgan declined today to say anything in regard to the disposition of the art treasures, but it was intimated he might make a statement some time this week. The treasures were left to the son with the hope "he will be able in such manner as he thinks best to make a permanent disposition of them or such portions of them as will be a substantial carrying out of the intentions which I have cherished to render them permanently for the pleasure and instruction of the American people."

J. P. Morgan, the testator's son;

over the interpretation, and I have decided to file the bill without my approval. The criminal bill providing for 9:30 p. m. closing, effective July 1, substantially secures the purpose of the bill vetoed."

The Governor also vetoed the bill creating a marketing board in connection with the Department of Agriculture.

Drunkard Law Unconstitutional.

[By Associated Press.]
Austin, Texas, April 18.—The Attorney General in an opinion today declared the bill providing for the incarceration of habitual drunkards in an asylum to be unconstitutional on the ground it was arbitrary and harsh.

Herbert L. Satterlee and W. P. Hamilton, his sons-in-law; and Lewis Cass Ledyard, the Morgan attorney, filed their oaths as executors today. The will probably will be admitted to probate tomorrow. The petition to the surrogate makes the formal declaration that property involved "is over $10,000" in each case.

Wichita Falls—Building has been unusually active in this city during the past few months and in March the building permits totaled $107,250.
