BRYAN, TEXAS, SEPT. 29, 1909.

The world's appetite for peanuts is increasing in something like a geometrical ratio. The capacity of Texas for furnishing the peanuts is unlimited.

Taft has gone down deeper under the ground than ever Roosevelt did. The chances are he doesn't have done it if Roosevelt hadn't been out of reach.

In order to bar out all but rich men from the Taft banquet in Dallas the cost of a plate was fixed at $25. This is not a reliable test because there are sensible rich men and poor fools with no more sense than to pay $25 for 25 cents worth of grub just to be able to boast that they dined with the president.

THE TOWN MAN AND THE COUNTRY MAN.

When the town man and the country man get together to make something happen, it is going to happen. They are allies who cannot be resisted.—Paris Advocate.

The interests of the town man and the country man are the same and unless they get together and stay together neither can prosper as they should. And the movement that has been started in some counties for the people of town and country to get better acquainted is one in the right direction and will be of incalculable advantage to them and to the state.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Facts. The town man and the country man got together on the Corn Show and made it a success. They are together on the stock show and it will be a hummer. They are together to stay together and there is therefore something bigger and better in the future for both. Mark the prediction.—Corsicana Sun.

The country man with a little help from the town man got up a corn show, a horse show, a hog show, a chicken show and an all-round agricultural exposition in Bryan that astonished the natives. Next year the town men who didn't help will run over one another to get in the game.

CULBERSON FOR PRESIDENT.

Senator Culbertson it is said is en route for Texas; may have reached his home by this time. It is expected the senior senator may deliver an address on public questions at some time ere long. Indeed a movement is now on foot in Waco to request him to speak soon, either in this city or in Dallas, as he may prefer. Mr. Culbertson becomes by reason of Governor Johnson's death, a very important figure in public life and what he may say on public matters—especially those that are of concern to Democrats—will have more weight than ever.—Waco Tribune.

Senator Culbertson has been the favorite of many Democrats since the last election for the leadership of the party in 1912 and, since Governor Johnson has been removed from the activities of men, public thought is turning to Senator Culbertson as the next Democratic nominee for the presidency, with a degree of unanimity that will justify his friends in believing that his nomination will be a certainty.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

TO BOOST THE TROLLEY LINE.

The Eagle will issue about the last of the current week a special number, the object of which is to encourage and assist the movement to build the line from Bryan to the A. and M. College. It will contain all the information available on the subject, including interviews with those best informed on the various aspects of the subject both from the standpoint of Bryan and of College. It will be illustrated with pictures of persons and objects germane to the enterprise and will be made as attractive in appearance as our means will permit. Two thousand extra copies will be printed for distribution.

In compiling, printing and circulating this large special edition we are of course incurring a large extraordinary expenditure of money as well as of time and labor, in consideration of which we earnestly appeal to the business men of Bryan to assist us with a liberal advertising patronage. Hitherto under similar circumstances they have never disappointed us and we feel confident that they will come to the rescue generously in this instance.

Says the Bellville Times: "Nine tenths of the people do not know what the tenets of Democracy are until some politician tells them, and fully one half of the time the politician tells them wrong."

The first statement does not apply to the people of Brazos county but the latter is true everywhere.

Dr. Cook entrusted the flag he carried to the North Pole to Mr. Whitney. Commenting on this Peary says he would not have entrusted his flag to his own father. This isn't saying much for Peary's father and is still less creditable to Peary himself.

The Taft administration has taken in hand to make a new monetary system for the United States. Most of the people want a system that will make money easier to get without decreasing its purchasing power.

When Henry Hudson in that old Dutch ship, the Half Moon, in 1609 sailed up to where Albany now is he never dreamed of the racket that would be made about it three hundred years later.
