One touch of good clothes makes the whole world kin.

To the man whose wardrobe is composed of the well conceived, well-made

Stein-Bloch Clothes

one city is like another. There it no East—no West. He is at home on Michigan Boulevard, on Broadway or in the precincts of Oxford Street, West, London.

Every suit, every overcoat, every raincoat, is made on lines and from materials drawn from the best usage in all parts of the world.

Americans, generally, know what the Stein-Bloch label stands for—clothing and merchant tailors know it best. They know that the price is adapted to the bank account of every man who wants correct style and good fit.

It was no surprise to them that these clothes were chosen by Selfridge, the London merchant, as the representative product of well-dressed America.

Come in and try on a Stein-Bloch.

SOME FINE YEARLINGS.

Mr. S. F. Harlan of Alexander, is a firm believer in raising good stock and for a number of years has been improving his own herd and has raised some of the best beef and milk cattle in Brazos county. He has some very fine cattle now and on yesterday sold two yearlings to a butcher in this city one of them 13 and the other 15 months old, for $15 each. They were Devons and very large and fat. The price was almost twice that obtained for scrub stock and proves Mr. Harlan's contention that it pays much better to raise good stock than it does to raise the common kind. It is just as easy to raise a good cow or a good beef as it is to raise a poor one, and it is twice as much money in the pocket of the farmer who raises them.

THE EAGLE PRINTING COMPANY.

BRYAN, TEXAS, OCT. 12, 1909.

Bryan rejoiceth as a young giant who has just discovered his strength.

"Glorious things of thee are spoken," Bryan—city of schools and churches.

The Bryan-College trolley line bonus was completed today. Now watch Bryan grow.

Now is the winter of our discontent made glorious summer by the sun of progress and prosperity.

Remember the date—October 12, 1909. On this day begins a new era in the annals of the city of schools and churches.

The crisis is past and Bryan is entering on a career of prosperity undreamed of in the soon-to-be-forgotten days of provincialism.

The tariff belongs to national politics exclusively and ought not to be considered in the selection of state officers. But candidates for state offices will make a hobby of it all the same.

The people of Texas will make a mistake if they elect a one-idea man for governor, no matter how good the idea may be.

The commerce of the gulf ports has increased nearly 400 per cent in the last ten years and Bryan feels the thrill of this new life pulsing in her veins.

It is a remarkable coincidence that the Bryan-College trolley line bonus was completed on the 417th anniversary of the discovery of America. Thus is the 12th day of October made doubly memorable.

A distinguished minister and educator who was here about six months ago said The Eagle was the best paper he had ever seen in a town the size of Bryan. Now Bryan is going to grow and The Eagle will do its level best to keep at the head of the procession.

The addition of practically the entire teaching force of A. and M. College, including the families of the professors and instructors, to the citizenship of Bryan, will greatly strengthen the churches, the local schools and the social institutions of the city.

Perhaps there is a scintilla of inspiration for the Bryan city council in this from the Fort Worth Star-Telegram: "A hesitant and laggard municipality never acquires greatness
