BRYAN, TEXAS, OCT. 21, 1909.

In one respect at least Taft is following Roosevelt policies—he is not busting any of the trusts.

The trouble with the credit system of doing business is, those who need credit can't get it and those who can get it can't need it.

President Taft thinks he can give the people of Alaska a better legislature than they can choose for themselves. The czar of Russia has similar opinions in regard to his duma.

The progress of the peanut is another proof that, sooner or later, merit wins. You can't keep a good thing down any more than you can a good man.

Uncle Joe Cannon says if La Follette and Cummins are Republicans he is something else. That is just what some Democrats are thinking of others who call themselves Democrats.

The crop is short and the price is good, therefore the cotton fields will be gleaned more closely this year than ever before. The pickers are hunting for the last lock and will not stop till they get it.

The lawyers are discussing the north pole controversy from a legal standpoint. A distinguished member of the Boston bar suggests that "Dr. Cook go into court and claim damages on the ground that he has been injured by Peary's statement." It would be easy enough to prove that Peary intended to injure Cook, but that his efforts had a contrary effect can scarcely be doubted.

A new explosive is to be tried in the Panama canal work. It is said to be 50 per cent stronger and $20 a ton cheaper than dynamite and to be absolutely safe in handling because it cannot be exploded by concussion. The Panama commission has ordered twenty tons of it for experiment. If all that is claimed for it be true, dynamite has had its day and will take its place among the has-beens.

If some reliable supply of cheap fuel could be secured Bryan would be an ideal location for a cotton mill. Given cheap fuel and Bryan's dinner pail brigade would soon be an army corps. If somebody would go down deep enough into the earth the chances are the fuel would be found in the shape of coal, lignite, oil or gas. It's worth trying.

Baron von Strantz, a prominent leader of the Pan-German party in the empire of the Kaiser, declares that Americans "are suffering under a pitiable delusion in regarding Great Britain as their mother country" and claims that Germany is entitled to that distinction. Yes, we misguided people of the United States have been taught by our histories and have accepted as a fact that Germany is our grandmother country.

A CHECKING ACCOUNT is a great convenience for the ladies, as it furnishes an accurate record of their household expenses.

The Galveston Tribune reminds us: "That hazing has not been abolished in the schools of the country is proven by the continuation of the fight against it." The same may be said of prize fighting, pistol toting, gambling, blind tigers and dozens of other things. As long as a vice is condoned by public opinion it is impossible to suppress it by law.

The ship subsidy is simply a proposition to take the money of the people and absolutely give it to individuals who are to use it in building up a private business—a business that would benefit nobody but those directly interested in it. This brazen scheme of robbery lacked only three votes of passing the house in the last regular session of congress and its promoters are moving heaven and earth to get it through next session.
