WESTON'S LONG TRAMP.

Starts on Walk From New York to San Francisco.

New York, March 15.—From New York to San Francisco on foot is the long tramp planned by Edward Payson Weston, the world's most famous walker, who began his journey at the New York postoffice today.

It was Mr. Weston's seventieth birthday. His age is probably the most astonishing feature of his venture, since the walk from New York to the Pacific coast in the time in which Mr. Weston promises to do it is one to tax severely the powers of a man half his age. He expects to cover the route, more than 4,000 miles long, in 100 days, excluding Sundays. It is a matter of principle with Mr. Weston never to walk on Sunday. He devotes the day to rest and to delivering temperance lectures. The expenses of his trips are paid from the proceeds of the lectures.

Mr. Weston first attracted the world's attention as a pedestrian in 1867 when he walked from Portland, Me., to Chicago in twenty-six days. In 1907 Mr. Weston repeated that walk, but bettered his record by twenty-eight hours.

On his present long trip Mr. Weston will be accompanied by journalists from various cities and an attendant and his manager.

"This is probably the first and only attempt ever made to cross America under surveillance during the entire trip," said Mr. Weston in talking of his venture, "and I intend to create a record for younger men to aim at in future years."

"I believe that I shall make this trip in even better time than the schedule. In preparation for the event I have been walking twenty-five to thirty miles daily for the past several months."

AIR RACE ENTRIES CLOSED.

One American Will Take Part in Balloon Contest Ncal. Fair.

Paris, March 15.—Entries for the international balloon race to be started from Zurich, Switzerland, next fall have closed at the headquarters of the International Aeronautic federation in this city.

Definite date for the race has not been fixed, but it will be held in the closing week of September or the first or second week in October. Among the contestants will be one American balloon, three German, three Italian and two Swiss balloons.

Horse Dashes Into Crowd.

Grand Prairie, Tex., March 15.—In a runaway a wild horse driven by D. A. Bradshaw ran into a crowd seated on the porch of Dr. Payne's drug store, broke Mr. Bradshaw's leg, fractured an arm of R. Jordan, broke the nose of Clyde Irby, severely injured one hand of Julius Stovall and injured the foot of Jay Payne, tearing his shoe completely off his foot. The horse left the buggy a wreck and stopped a mile or so away.

Buys Immense Pump.

Tulsa, Okla., March 15.—The city has purchased a supplemental giant pump for the water system, which is now undergoing extensive enlargement and rehabilitation. The new pump will have a capacity of 4,000,000 gallons of water every twenty-four hours, and weighs 190,000 pounds.

Miss Ethel Departs.

Washington, March 14.—Miss Ethel Roosevelt left Wednesday afternoon for Oyster Bay.

FRIEND O' THE FAMILY

"Well, sir," said the shoemaker shortly after the sunfish quit biting. "I got a letter yesterday that done me a lot of good. You remember I told you the last time we was out fishin' together that I used to have a shop of my own up in old Illinois an' made good money too. Well, sir, all the kids in that town knowed me, an' they wasn't a one of 'em that wouldn't have gone to the bad place for me if they'd been old enough to know what that really meant. But they wasn't—bless their little hearts!"

"An' there was two of 'em in particular, the nicest little kids you ever seen. It's a fact that there little girl'd come from school every day leadin' her little brother by the hand. An' they'd never be a time they'd be passin' the shop on their way to school or goin' home to dinner that they wouldn't stop an' knock on the shop window."

"An' often after school 'd be out they'd stop in an' see me. Why, I've had as high as ten or twelve of 'em at one time after school in my shop singin' the shoemaker song an' goin' through the motions just like their teacher 'd learn 'em to."

"Sometimes some of 'em would have to stop an' laugh—they thought it was such a good joke on the shoemaker. But there'd always be two or three of 'em would go on an' finish out, 'cause they knowed they'd never get the dinner candy if they didn't. An' there's where I used to have the joke on 'em. They never knowed how much I liked to hear 'em sing that there song. I'd sooner hear it now than have a dollar."

"Well, that's just the way it was all the time with 'em kids. They all knowed me, an' they all knowed my dog. An' when they knowed my dog they knowed a mighty good dog."

"Well, sir, this little girl's daddy used to be station agent there at that town, an' it was known all along that part of the Big Four line that there wasn't a depot anywhere that was what you could call as model a depot as his. Course I knowed him, an' he knowed me, an' his wife she used to tell the little girl when they'd want me to come an' take dinner or supper with 'em. It wasn't very often I'd go, but I couldn't refuse when they'd send the little girl after me."

"Now, him keepin' his depot so model is what got him promoted. The Big Four sent him over to a bigger town in Indiana. Course I was glad to see him do'n better—he deserved it. But after they'd gone me an' my dog we used to shut up shop an' go fishin' an' huntin' a little oftener than before."

"Well, come along Christmas time an' what 'd I do but one day get a letter from this here little girl tellin' me her an' her little brother was goin' to have a Christmas tree an' couldn't I come over to Indiana an' see 'em Christmas."

"So I made all arrangements to go, an' you bet I laid out a dollar or two fer presents. But course, like I had to be, one day I gets word her an' her little brother was took down sick—diphtheria, the dispatch said."

"So I makes up my mind I'd go any way. There's no tellin' you know, what's liable to happen in a case like that. So I put $100 in my pocket—an' even so that I didn't have to put it there, I always carried at least a hundred in them days—an' I went over. An' I didn't get there none too soon neither. She died the afternoon of the evenin' I got there."

"Well, I didn't know then what to do. I wasn't what you could call a friend o' the family, but I wished I could do somethin' for that poor little girl a-layin' there. An' before three days was out I got my chance."

"You see, her dyin' of diphtheria, they wouldn't let 'em ship the body back over the railroad. Her daddy be'n' agent didn't help 'em none in that case, neither. He tried hard enough to get a permit, but it didn't do no good. He just couldn't get it."

"The mother was just about crazy to think they'd have to lay her away in Indiana instead of the old buryin' ground over in old Illinois alongside of 'em that had gone before. But you bet yer life they didn't have to, fer I went an' got a team an' a wagon, an' I says, 'I'll drive her through.'"

"It was 12 below zero when I started, a little before midnight. They took the mornin' train next day an' got there long ahead of me. Ninety-one miles in a spring wagon at 12 below ain't no picnic."

"I didn't get to see 'em after the funeral. I felt just a little bit wore out, an' I thought the best thing I could do was to go lay down a while. An', leave me tell you, I got all the layin' down I wanted in the next year an' a half, an' it cost me everythin' I had but my tools an' shoemaker's kit. I've got that stored up there in old Illinois yet."

"I wrote to her folks one time, but I didn't get no reply. I thought maybe they thought I wasn't quite as good as they was, so I never tried writin' no more."

"This here letter I got the other day was from a friend o' the family that knowed them an' knowed me. It said they hadn't never heard a line from me an' they often wondered what had become of me. It said that little girl's mother often wished she knowed where I was at, so she could write, because, this letter went on to say, she said I was the best friend o' the family they ever had."

"An' that's the kind of letter that makes a feller feel good."—St. Louis Republic.

Three Drown.

Selma, Ala., March 15.—The Alabama river is overflowing the lowlands here and in vicinity. The home of a negro family near Selma was swept away and the husband, wife and a child drowned.

He Knew English.

Book learning, strictly speaking—that is, learning solely from books—leads one into many a hole. In "The Italian Trail" Frederick Moore tells the story of an Italian official of the Ottoman bank who had taught himself English and was enraptured at the chance to practice it on English people.

It was with much pride that he addressed us at supper, but we did not recognize the language he spoke and expressed in French our unfortunate ignorance of foreign tongues.

"That is your own tongue," said the Italian, but even of this statement we understood not a word.

He drew a pencil from his pocket and on the back of a letter wrote: "I am speaking English."

We were astounded. "Perhaps I do not pronounce correctly," he wrote next. "I have learned the noble language from books."

The hilarious Englishman in our party gave the unhappy Italian his first real lesson at once. He took the pencil and wrote:

"Always pronounce English as it is not spelt. Spell as it is not pronounced."

Judge Dallas Resigns.

Philadelphia, March 15.—Judge George Dallas of the United States Circuit court for the Third judicial circuit sent his resignation to President Taft. Under the law he is eligible to retire, but the announcement of his resignation was unexpected.

NEVEROUS PROSTRATION.

Indigestion Causes It—Mj-o-na Will Cure It.

If you have indigestion, you don't get all the nutriment out of your food that you should.

Your worn out stomach passes the food on without extracting enough nutritious substance to supply the blood and nerves.

And if the nerves are not supplied with nourishment, they begin to rebel. They kick up a great disturbance. They make you irritable and cranky, you worry about trifles, and you can not sleep soundly at night, you have bad dreams, and you get up tired in the morning.

Try Mj-o-na tablets, the money back cure. Mj-o-na will cure your nervousness by driving out the cause. Mj-o-na will give you relief the first hour. It will cure acute cases in a few days, and chronic cases in a few weeks.

Belching, gas, heartburn, sour taste of food, waterbrash, foul breath and other dyspeptic symptoms vanish before the mighty power of Mj-o-na.

Try Mj-o-na. E. J. Jenkins sells it and will refund the money if it doesn't cure, and only 50 cents a large box.
