NEW WELL COMPLETED.

urnishes Fine Flow and Greatly Augments Water Supply of the Company.

The new well at the plant of the Bryan, Water, Ice, Light & Power Company has been completed at a depth of about two hundred feet. It is a fine well and furnishes a fine flow of good, pure water. The Eagle reporter took a look at the well this morning and the pump was throwing a splendid stream which had been kept steadily going since 10 o'clock the night before and there was not the slightest sign of diminution. The water ran all night into the waste track in order to thoroughly clean the well and during the day yesterday it was cut into the reservoir.

This new well will greatly augment the company's water supply and there is not likely to be any more water famines. Mr. Preston is going right ahead and sink one of the wells on the west side of the plant to the second, or deep water stratum, and when that is accomplished he believes he will have an abundance of water for all purposes.

The new well was drilled by Mr. J. W. Poyner, an expert driller from the Albert Warnecke Well Contractors of Houston. He made a fine job of it and fished it up in thorough workmanship style.

AUNT MARY ERWIN DEAD.

Aunt Mary Erwin, a faithful old "Black Mammy," but with a soul as white as snow, died Thursday night at 12 o'clock at the venerable age of 80 years. For thirty-five years she has been a faithful servant in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Cole, and during all that time she was ever true, honest and willing to faithfully perform her every duty, and her life was so pure and upright as to be worthy of emulation. She had nursed and helped to raise every child that has come to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Cole, and so great was the love of every member of the family for dear old Aunt Mary that when she died, the home was converted into a house of mourning.

She has been suffering of late with heart trouble, and it was an attack of this disease that caused her death. She was able to cook supper on the night she died.

As a reward for her faithful and untiring devotion to the family, Mr. Cole provided everything necessary to give her an elegant funeral.

In the life of Aunt Mary Erwin her people should read a great lesson. For her faithfulness and her pure christian life, she gained the love and respect of all here on earth, and a crown of righteousness beyond the grave.

BIG FIRE IN MILANO.

Loss Aggregates Nearly $13,000 With Some Insurance.

Milano, Tex., March 25.—A fire broke out in T. C. Eggleston's drug store here about 7 o'clock this morning and swept every house in the row. The losses are as follows: L. O. O. F. hall, value $1,000, insurance $500; W. T. Booker frame building, value $500, insurance not known; N. Brennann, frame building, value $500, no insurance; Tidwell frame building, value $500, no insurance; W. O. W. hall, frame building, value $500, no insurance; Stamper heirs' frame building, value $500, no insurance.

J. D. Peoples' stock of general merchandise in the lower story of the L. O. O. F. hall and Stamper heirs building, valued at about $8,500, insurance $4,500; about $1,500 goods saved.

T. C. Eggleston stock of drugs in the Booker building valued at about $600; insurance about $300.

H. K. Haddox barber shop in the Brennan building, valued at $100, no insurance.

White's gunshop in Brennan building entire loss.

Miller Bros. restaurant in Tidwell building entire loss.

The fire originated from a lamp exploding in the drug store while no one was in. A strong wind from the north saved the only remaining store (J. B. Newton & Sons.) on that side of the town.

Both the Odd Fellows and Woodmen lost all rituals and regalia. The Masonic building was saved only by hard work.

NEW EAST RIVER BRIDGE COMPLETED.

Greatest of New Yorks Many Bridges And One of the Wonders of the World.

Special to Bryan Morning Eagle.

New York, March 26.—Queensboro Bridge constitutes the main topic of conversation in Long Island City just now, and its opening to traffic next week is looked upon as the approaching signal for a great boom in the little city across the East river. The bridge will be the third connecting Manhattan with Long Island and a fourth structure—the Manhattan bridge—is now well under way.

It is now twenty-five years since the Brooklyn bridge was completed and presented to the world as one of its wonders. It occupied thirteen years to complete it. During the first year of its use it was estimated that 10,000 persons crossed it daily. In 1898, the year of the consolidation of Brooklyn and New York, this number had grown to 300,000 a day.

The threatened exodus to Brooklyn and the suburbs of Queen county was observed a decade ago, and after the consolidation municipal attention was instantly urged to a recognition of this anticipated distribution of population and the growing necessity for providing additional bridges across the East river, with the result that the Williamsburg Bridge was opened several years ago. Although its capacity is 30,000 persons an hour, it has not stopped the increase of traffic over the Brooklyn Bridge.

Between the Williamsburg and Brooklyn bridges the Manhattan Bridge was started in 1901. With its phenomenal capacity of 32,000 persons an hour and 650,000 a day, this bridge is planned to be the largest of them all.

With 7,474 feet to its credit, the new Queensboro Bridge is the largest of the bridges now erected in point of length from end to end. Its longest span is that over the river west of Blackwell's Island. The length of this span is 1,182 feet.

The bridge was planned for the accommodation of heavy traffic, and although estimated to cost $12,000,000, it has already exceeded that figure by a large amount. Although its daily carrying capacity has been stated to be 500,000 persons, it is more probable that 600,000 persons will be able to use it each day.

The westerly approach to the bridge is at Second Avenue, Manhattan, and occupies the blocks between Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth streets to the East River. Its easterly approach faces a splendid plaza in Long Island City.

Though the bridge is to be opened to traffic next week, the official opening and dedication will not take place until summer, when it is proposed to hold a monster celebration in honor of the event.
