

THE GAZETTE,

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
J. C. HABERMACHER.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
One Year, postpaid, $1.00

Entered at the Shiner, Texas, Post-office as second-class matter.

Wednesday, Sept. 9, 1903.

If you want your town to come to the front, get together and pull together.

The railroad commission is hard at work on express rates, and there is no doubt but they will be greatly reduced.

CAPT. PEARY has been granted a three years leave of absence and will make another effort to reach the north pole.

If Colonel Jankhoff, the leader of the Macedonian insurgents, is caught by the Turks. He will have his head yanked off.

A PARTY of exiled nuns passed through Houston last week en route to St. Edward's College at Austin. They were from France.

SPECIAL detectives have been detailed to guard the American legation at Constantinople, but the department does not fear any further trouble.

WHEN the Galveston News spreads itself on the big Sept. 1st edition, all the other big Texas dailies stand aside and gaze in admiration.

King Peter of Serbia is said to have threatened to abdicate twice in ten days. If he waits much longer his army chief may save him the trouble of carrying out his threats.

OUR warships, the Brooklyn and San Francisco, have arrived at Beirut, but it is not thought they will remain long. They should be on their guard while in Turkish waters for the fate of the Maine may overtake them.

A MAN who has stood up under the fire of the anti-imperialist societies as long as Gov. Taft ought to be qualified to make a courageous secretary of war.—Galveston Tribune.

He will, from a republican point of view.

The foreign consuls at Constantinople are between two fires; the insurgents and the Turks are both after them. The insurgents want to bring about the interference of the powers, and the Turks hate them on general principles. Between the two the consuls are in rather a tight place.

The democrats are badly split up over the choice of a leader in the presidential campaign of 1904. They need not be alarmed; there is plenty of time; the hour will furnish the man. In 1896, when Bryan was first nominated, he was not thought of until the nominating convention was held. Let us not be too hasty, but use Davy Crockett's advice, "Be sure you are right then go ahead."

The situation in the Balkans has reached the acute stage and war is in sight. A council of war has been held in Constantinople, and an ultimatum is about to be sent to Bulgaria. Turkey is reported to have 400,000 men under arms and is about to cross the Bulgarian frontier. Russia and Austria are ready to intervene, and it is said England will be with them. Any settlement that permits the Turk to remain in Europe will be in vain.

A MAN by the name of Wellbrenner endeavored to force his way into the home of President Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill last Wednesday night. He claimed that he had an appointment with the President, and wished to marry his daughter, Miss Alice. He was arrested and locked up. A loaded revolver was taken from him. He was examined by a physician and declared to be insane.

SOME strong power should take the Turk by the back of the neck and toss him over into Asia and see that he stays there.—Galveston Tribune.

The malignant and turbaned Turk would have been relegated to Asia long since, were it not for the jealousies of the Christian powers. They alone are to blame.

It is claimed that nothing short of a miracle will prevent war between Bulgaria and Turkey. It can also be said nothing short of a miracle ought to prevent it. The condition prevailing in that corner of the world is a disgrace to civilization. It will not be different until the Turk is cleaned out.—Gonzales Inquirer.

REPORTS of outrages, fights in which large numbers are killed, and burning of whole villages come in from various points in the Balkans; also news of new insurrections. Three American warships have been ordered to Beirut to look after American interests.

JUDG Lewis' phiz in the September issue of the Western Publisher is very "fetching." A prominent young lady of Shiner became so smitten with it that she cut it from the book, mounted it on cardboard and gave it a prominent position in the parlor.

Home and Foreign Advertising

If our home merchants would advertise their goods properly, the large supply houses would find their trade falling off in the country districts. The big department stores advertise and give prices on every article, while the lone merchant if he advertises at all, seldom quotes prices. We like to read in our home papers the prices for which we can buy goods from our home dealer, together with a description of the goods so that we may know what we can purchase from our home stores. The home merchant, nine times in ten, sells his goods as cheap as the same grade of goods are sold by any of the big supply houses, but their customers don't know it. A merchant must not think that even his best customers are so familiar with his goods and prices that he knows all about it without being informed. We can buy as cheap at home as we can anywhere, and it is the merchant's duty to educate his customers to that belief. Printer's ink is the great business educator.—Western Publisher.

One on the Prohibitionists.

An exchange says we are all poor critters. Not long ago a prominent merchant in a neighboring town received a letter from a large distilling firm asking for a list of names of citizens who might be interested in the literature issued by the firm setting forth the merits of a new brand of whisky and promising him a commission on all sales. The merchant being somewhat of a joker himself, sat down and made out a list of the prominent prohibitionists of the place and forwarded it. He forgot all about the matter until about a month later when it was called to his attention by a letter from the distillers enclosing a draft of $10.50 with thanks for list, which had been found peculiarly remunerative.

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctor's prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for."
"In consulting with my druggist he advised McEise's Wine of Cardui and Theodore's Black-Deaught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most nourishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, white and bloody discharges, is helpful when approaching menopause, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

WINE OF CARDUI

For the Truck Grower.

Instead of planting cotton only for a sale crop year after year, it would be better sometimes to plant a large crop of Irish potatoes, or sweet potatoes, for there may be a great deal more profit in these than in cotton. The writer knows a small farmer with forty acres under fence, who left cotton off his list one year and planted eight acres of sweet potatoes, and his neighbor wondered at his folly. During the month of November he sold 1700 bushels of potatoes to wholesale dealer at 75 cents per bushel, cash—about eight times as much as he would have received from the same ground planted in cotton. The next year he planted six acres of Irish potatoes and sold the crop for more than he got for the sweets.—Farm and Ranch.

Death of William Luoke, at Moulton.

Moulton, Texas, September 3.—Mr. William Luoke, aged 68 years died this morning. He leaves a wife and seven children—three girls and four boys. Mr. Luoke came to this country from Germany when 8 years old. He was an ex-Confederate and has lived in Lavaca county twenty-two years. He died of congestion of the liver; was sick only two days; will be buried at Bayville tomorrow morning.

Miss Mary Martin accompanied by her mother Mrs. J. E. Martin went to San Antonio last Friday, where Miss Mary will enter the Methodist college for young ladies.

You Know What You Are Taking When you take Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic because the formula is plainly printed on every bottle showing that it is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. No Cure, No Pay. 50c.

Mr. Ed. Bailey of Nickel was in the city last Saturday and reported the serious illness of the little four year old child of Mr. J. E. Quebe-deaux. The GAZETTE hopes the little one may have a speedy recovery.

The best preventative of bad luck is good management—on a farm or elsewhere. Haven't you known, during a general failure of crops, some one farmer who made good crops? Go and talk with that man and learn how he did it, and do likewise.—Farm and Ranch.

Card of Thanks.

The Ladies' Cemetery Association desire to thank the Knights of Pythias Lodge for their donation of $10.00 to the cemetery fund.

Mrs. C. B. WELHAUSEN,
