Letter to C. B. Welhausen, Shiner, Texas.

Dear Sir: It's an old saying: the best advertisement is a pleased customer.

It happens to us continually in this way: A man buys Devoe for his home—he has painted it once in three years for a dog's age, and thinks he knows what he wants—buys 30 gallons, and has 10 left.

He sees right-off that twenty Devoe is as much as 30 of anything else. He likes that; it comes quick; it is a surprise; and he tells of it. The best advertisement is a pleased customer.

Three years roll round. There isn't a sign that his house needs paint; he don't paint it: Next year he don't paint it. This comes slow; it is a surprise; but he has got used to it. Still the best advertisement is a pleased customer.

Yours truly, F. W. Devoe & Co. C. L. Williams sells our paint.

One for all and all for One.

The cotton growers have the situation well in hand, and by carrying out the plan of not rushing the cotton now in their hands to market, have succeeded in stopping the decline in price and caused an advance of a cent a pound or more from the lowest point touched.

Now is the critical time, and if the acreage and fertilizers are reduced one-fourth it will at once cause a demand from spinners all over the world, and an advance on the present crop will be followed by a good demand for the ten million bale crop, which should be the limit for the cotton production of 1905.

A less acreage in cotton means more land in other crops, more care in cultivation, less money for labor, and more money for cotton. These great rewards will come to the South if every cotton planter will adopt the motto, "One for all and all for one"

Notice the change in the ad of Mr. A. Levyson. All prices in his line have been greatly reduced.

April Smart Set.

In the novelette which opens the April Smart Set, Grace MacGowan Cooke has struck an entirely new note in fiction. It is a story of the West, so saturated with the atmosphere of that part of our country and photographic in its depiction of ranch life that it will take high rank among the best tales of that class yet it is more as a character study that "The Red-Headed Woman" will win praise. The heroine is the most original, the most human, the most refreshing woman who for a long time has stepped from a printed page. There is no reader who will not be fascinated by her vagaries and interested in her remarkable career.

The Herald understands that the summer normal faculty will be composed of Professors A. K. Jones of Yoakum, T. S. Cox of Hallettsville, C. A. Peterson of Monilton, and two gentlemen from Gonzales and Cuero respectively, to be selected. — Hallettsville Herald.
