BOARD REDUCES COST OF SCHOOL MAINTENANCE

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 17.—Cost of operation and maintenance of the state educational institutions was decreased from $193,000 to $97,108 per month during the sixty months of months took charge of their institutions on January 1. The reduction was the result of the co-operation of superintendents of institutions who were called into conference with the board of control during January and asked to reduce purchases to absolute necessities, according to Chairman S. H. Cowell, who has written a letter of commendation to the superintendents.

In the letter Chairman Cowell declared that the total expenditures for repairs and maintenance of the educational institutions for the last year are $1,164,000 and that for the first four months of the year, when the board of control functioned, the expenditures were $417,000, or 35 per cent of the total expenditures. Since January 1 the expenditures were $193,000, or 16 per cent of the total expenditures. From January 1 to April 1 the expenditures were $108,000, or 9 per cent of the total expenditures.

The board urges further economies in view of appropriations recently made and the necessity of using all the funds left for the state. The appropriations for maintenance of institutions have been increased 3 per cent in comparison with the 1918 appropriations.

Export Commerce From Middle West to Be Exploited

By The Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 17.—Distribution of export commerce from the Middle West is about to enter a new era, bringing two-fold benefits to shippers, according to Louisville railroad interests.

As a step in that direction, plans centering here, including the construction of a belt line railroad around the city, have been approved by the Interstate Commerce commission to furnish a list of railroad sta ons where shall be free [illegible] facilities for "official scenic tours" showing steamship sailings from American ports to foreign destinations.

The guide is being published under auspices of the new transportation act. It carries with it the operation of another provision, said to be beneficial, of the Cummins-Esch act requiring all railroads, competing for the route which their lines serve to secure through export bills of lading in connection with steamship lines shown in the guide.

Inauguration of the through bill of lading privilege, coupled with equalization of New York rail rates, effective with last December, it was announced by the Southern's foreign commerce traffic department, indicates a wide open to Middle West shippers full benefits of the port by affording a number of routes by steamship and rail from southern ports to foreign points.

Announcement was made that Louisville and Nashville has established direct export freight lines from Louisville and that package cars for solidification of export freight will be operated from principal middle western points to southern ports. These cars, with others under control or operation by railroads which control terminals of additional cars for the certain handling of southern forwarding products in this way.

Harem Gorgeously Staged for "Fair And Warmer."

A lavish presentation in its regal splendor graced the center of the Mission stage in Hollywood last week when Director Henry Otto "shot" some scenes to represent the vision that pretty Miss Dillon has in her latest picture "Fair and Warmer," the Avery Hopwood farce now being filmed for Jesse Lasky Inc. under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger, director general.

The Harem designed and executed by Joe Hidden, special technical director for the production, involves the use of Solomon Tones, and is indeed a dream in the line of its voluptuous beauty. Diffused lights cover a huge dome enclosed structure of translucent canvas and illuminate a scene of sensuous beauty. Heavy curtains rest upon their velours of strange oriental patterns and divans and scattered attendants of mammoth size effects still more pronounce the splendor of the ensemble.

And such girls that these Turks are stealing away! Black haired and draped beauties that seemed to have been plucked from the fairest gardens of the world, for the attention with eyes of classic, unencumbered dignity of the surrounding.

Beautiful Turkish rugs cover the floors and heaps of [illegible] and cushions prove to contrast warm the cool grace of the graceful harem while on the walls long heavy draperies of velvet purple that lend an air of distinction and richness to the entire scene. In the background a fountain plays and the music of the water blends softly with the twanging of a lyre.
