THE BEET CROP TO BE A BUMPER

In Logan and Lewiston Districts There Will Be Produced Bigger Crops Than Last Year.

The field superintendent of the Logan sugar factory has just completed his crop report for the Logan factory beet growing territory which shows the crop to be one of the most flourishing in the history of the industry in this valley at this time of the season. If the weather conditions continue favorable, there is no question but the 1913 beet crop will be recorded the largest in the history of the valley. In the Logan factory territory there is a total of 6550 acres planted to beets all of which are in good condition. In the Lewiston factory beet growing district there are 4273 acres planted and the crop on a whole compares favorably with that of the Logan district. There is according to the above figures, a total acreage of beets in the valley of 10,823 acres. Taking the crop throughout the entire valley, the estimate at the present time as to tonnage is placed at 12 tons per acre. This will make a crop to be harvested of about 129,000 to 130,000 tons as against 109,000 tons last season. Last season the crop was cut short on account of a heavy hail storm about this season of the year. If no unforeseen calamity strikes the beets, the growers as well as the factory people, have every cause to rejoice over the outlook for a bumper crop in Cache valley this season.

EARLY APPLE MARKET GOOD

Cache Fruit Growers Could Place Order For 50 Carloads. $1.20 Now Offered For Fall Jonathans

According to reports from officers of the Cache Fruit Growers association, the present outlook is exceptionally bright for a good market for apples this season. Already $1.20 has been offered for fall delivery of Jonathans. An order for fifty carloads of early apples could be filled right now if they were to be had, and a good price could be received, says Ras Rasmussen, manager of the association. The leading apple growers in Cache valley have completed a systematic thinning of the crop this season which is in excellent shape. Although the trees are not bearing so heavy as last year, the crop in the valley will be fully as large because there are a large number of young trees coming into bearing this season. The varieties are principally Jonathans, Ganos and Ben Davis, the latter two varieties being about 40 per cent of the crop and about 50 per cent being the Jonathans for which this valley is becoming famous for their production. Our best Jonathans sold last year for $1.10 per box and indications are that they will bring a much better price this year. One reason for this is the fact that the fruit has been carefully sprayed by the leading growers and as a result it is practically clean. It is thought that no less than one hundred and fifty car loads of apples will be produced in this valley this season if conditions continue favorable.

THE LINDQUIST WATER REPORT

Submitted at Meeting of Commissioners. Gives Views on How to Get Water System

We publish herewith the report in detail of Commissioner G. W. Lindquist as submitted at the last meeting of the commissioners:

Logan City, July 14, 1913. Board of City Commissioners, Logan City, Utah.

Gentlemen: In view of the fact that since the recommendation heretofore made in April no plan has been suggested that will render it possible for Logan City to improve her water system during the present year, and it appearing to me that this is largely due to the fact that we are confined to one method of raising the necessary funds, to wit, borrowing money, and our borrowing capacity being limited, largely on account of the fact that we are expending the revenues of the city a year in advance, I respectfully urge that the board adopt one of two policies either levying sufficient tax this year with the idea or policy in view of doing the same next year, to place the city upon a cash basis in two years, or if that does not meet the approval of the Board I respectfully urge the creation and establishment of a water works fund, putting into such fund all receipts from the water works department, and in addition thereto would suggest that we levy a tax of seven mills this year and a like amount next year for water works purposes.

Further that we either abandon the policy of issuing script for water works extensions, or at least limit such script to the payment of water rates for water used upon the premises for which it is issued, the policy of issuing script keeps the water works department poor, and is not justified by business rules or necessities.

If a seven mill tax is levied this year, and a like amount next year, it will net to the city approximately $32,000.00, a saving of several thousand can be made in elimination of the script, and upon receipt of our taxes for the current year the outstanding indebtedness of the city can be reduced to such an extent as to enable the city to bond for $25,000 or $30,000.00, which would make it possible for the city next year at least to construct the proposed system from the De Witt Springs to our present intake.

This improvement alone is of the utmost importance to the City, at present we are compelled to rely upon the charity of the Utah Power and Light Company, for a supply of water during such time as it becomes necessary to turn the water out of the

NEWSY ITEMS FROM TRENTON

The Coming and Going of a Great Many People. Books Added To Library

Trenton, July 24.—Miss Hazel Cutler of Salt Lake is visiting in Trenton.

Mr. C. A. Brown returned from a flying trip to Ogden last evening.

Miss Ada Dahle of Logan, is the guest of Miss Sylvia Cutler this week.

Miss Hazel Butler returned from a month's visit with her brother at Driggs, Idaho, where they have a large ranch. Miss Hazel rather appreciated being in Trenton again at least she had a very pleasant smile on her face Saturday evening.

Mr. Ray S. Hansen returned from a few days visit at Ogden.

Mr. Jack Whitney of Kemmerer, Wyoming, was a visitor at the Cutler residence over Sunday.

Misses Grace and Nora Hauser, two of Trenton's young ladies, are spending a few weeks in Randolph, Utah, which used to be their home.

The Trenton people are indeed pleased with their crops, which are looking splendid.

Mr. Wilson our pleasant station agent, welcomed his wife and family to the little town of Trenton. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson moved from their home in Missouri to Trenton.

A fine collection of the latest books have been added to the library where the people can get almost anything in the book line they wish.

Representative Garrett, Colonel M. M. Mulhall and Senator Overman, Who Figure In Lobby Probe.

Photos copyright by American Press Association.

Colonel Martin M. Mulhall of Baltimore, former lobbyist at Washington, has placed serious charges against the National Association of Manufacturers before the senate investigating committee, Lee S. Overman of North Carolina chairman, and the house committee. Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee chairman. The manufacturers are alleged to have improperly influenced legislation. Prominent men now living who Mulhall asserted were susceptible on the score of covetous legislation branded his charges as "malicious falsehoods." Mulhall accused a former employee of the house of representatives of having been employed by him to obtain information about labor legislation, and the employee was dismissed.

OUT IN DASHY HOLIDAY ATTIRE

Pioneer Day Celebration at Smithfield Was a Huge Success. Many Visitors Took Part

Smithfield, July 25.—The celebration of Pioneer Day was a huge success, every one was out in their dashy holiday attire and a large crowd of visitors was on hand to take part in the celebration. The vigorous salutes fired at daybreak aroused the slumberers to life and action which did not cease until the clock told the midnight hour.

At 10 a. m. the streets were crowded with people and rigs and the parade began under direction of Marshall of the day, LeRoy Nelson. The first float showed a pioneer house of two rooms. Mrs. Annie Miles was hostess and entertained, wool pickers, batt carders, knitters etc. in her front room, while she stood in her calico polonaise among bright cooking tins, bare table, fire place well equipped with utensils such as a teakettle, tongs, roasting pot, spinning wheel, and a floor full of children white and red ones too, waiting for the dainty (?) meal that was being prepared in the little log kitchen. The Farmers Union Mills, "The Old Standby" was well represented. The Brick and Tile company showed their products to a good advantage. E. B. Lindquist, painter and wall decorator, had a most unique little house with painters at work on it and wall paper served as decorations on the rig.

Bishop Miles' auto was converted into a sailing vessel christened "The City of Commerce" and was indeed a credit to the designers.

Bishop Winn's two thoroughbred Jerseys and his sheep, bundles of wheat and bunches of sugar beets, made a great many wish they were ideal farmers too.

Robert Griffiths livery business, Lumber company; the Plumbing and Heating business of James Hill; Sego

Milk company; Counties of Utah; Merrill Furniture company, and the mounted riders were all good.

One of the most attractive was the one bearing Miss Lola Raymond representing Utah and her maids. The Sego Lily drooped and served as a canopy over Utah. The lady presented a most queenly appearance as does our fair state among her sisters.

After the parade a program was rendered in the tabernacle. One of the most special numbers was the singing of "Mountain Braves" by the following early settlers: Alice Done, Bishop George L. Farrell, William Douglas, Robert Thornley, Annie Roskelley, Zilpah Raymond, Elizabeth Raymond, Rebecca Pitcher, Matilda, Merrill Julia Cantwell and William Done. They received an encore and sang "Oh Ye Mountains High." Louis McCann Vernon Tidwell and Laura Fay Smith all recited, Nathan Done sang, and A. B. Chambers recited the history of the Saints from the leaving Nauvoo until they reached the valley of Great Salt Lake.

In the afternoon there was the usual racing and sports, ball game, etc. A grand ball ended the day's proceedings. Out of the company that settled Smithfield in 1859 the following are left: Robert Thornley and wife Virgil Merrill and son Washington; Thomas Mather and Mary Chambers. One of the early settlers in the early 60's made a canvas of the congregation and found every person living present that came to our city in the 60's with the exception of one aged lady.

The Trenton baseball club played with our boys at 5 p. m. The score being 12 to 8 in favor of our home boys.

Mrs. Loreine Cantwell was struck upon the head by a stray ball and stunned, but it is not thought to be serious.

Miss Zina Roskelley is working in the telephone office again.

Messrs George Y. Smith and Leonard Miles, Mrs. Smith, Brenda Smith and Eunice Woodruff returned Sunday from a two week's trip through

TRIBUTE PAID TO PIONEERS

Joseph Nielsen as Orator of the Day Entertains Hyde Park Citizens With Speech

Hyde Park, July 24.—Pioneer Day was celebrated here in about the usual way. There was no parade, but the day was an enjoyable one to all who were present. Beautiful strains of music from the brass band called the people together at 9 a. m. At 10 a. m. the meeting was called to order by Master of Ceremonies Henry E. Hancey. The program was as follows: Prayer—Chaplain William A. Seamons.

Quartet—F. T. Ballam, Willard Ballam, Arthur Peterson, George Seamons. This piece was so pleasing that the singers were obliged to respond to an encore.

Speech on early days of Hyde Park—Bishop C. G. Hyde.

Speech—James Woolf of Riverdale, Idaho, a pioneer of 1847.

Comic Recitation—Miss Leona Hanson.

Prof. Willard Ballam gave a violin selection accompanied by Mrs. Agnes Daines upon the piano, and Robert Christofferson upon the cornet. This was a well played number with a harmonious blending of all parts and was also encored.

Next came the oration by Joseph Nielsen who is an orator of no mean ability. On this occasion he was at his best and paid a glowing tribute to the pioneers. He briefly traced the history of the Puritan fathers of their great desire for religious freedom; of their planting the tree of liberty upon this continent, and of the great work of the Prophet Joseph Smith and his associates. Spoke of the honesty and fidelity and the hardships endured by those who made that great pilgrimage across the

ENLARGING THE SHOP BUILDING

Work On Chemistry Building Will Not Commence For a Few Weeks. $55,000 Will Then Be Expended

The beginning of the present week saw a force of men at work upon the Agricultural College Mechanic Arts building. A second story is being added to the left and right wings of the structure making them equal in height to the center. The rapid growth of the Logan institution the last few years has made this step an absolute necessity. In view of the fact, the last legislature made a special appropriation of $9000 for this purpose. The extra space will be utilized for class rooms and shop work in the various phases of agricultural engineering.

In this building, in the future most of the instruction in the short practical courses in agriculture, mechanic arts, irrigation, drainage and commerce will be given. The work will be rushed to completion for the opening of school in September.

An appropriation of $55,000 was also made by the state solons for a chemistry building, but work on this will not be commenced for a few weeks.

A GAY TIME AT UP AND DOWN CAMP

The eight young men who comprise the camp in Logan canyon known as the "Up and Down" camp had one glorious time Wednesday evening in preparing themselves for a celebration of Pioneer Day. Their grounds were profusely decorated with jack-o-lanterns, pennants and drapery of various kinds which presented a beautiful appearance and attracted the attention of all passers by. A continuous Dutch luncheon was served, commencing early in the evening on Wednesday and extending over Thursday. To conclude the day's activities on Pioneer Day the boys became a band of fire fighters and although they organized into a bucket brigade a blaze which started from one of the lanterns used in decoration at the camp. The party was composed of Bart Green, Don Smith, Brock Green, Art Berntson, Art Wells, Grover Dunford, Gay Smith and Bailey Dunford.

WATER LOSS AT THE STATE DAM

Mr. H. A. Porter, U. S. Hydrographer, located at Salt Lake who was engaged early in the summer by the water users of Logan river to determine how much if any, water is lost through the impounding of waters in the state dam, has completed a series of measurements both above and below the dam and now comes out with the startling statement that no less than 14 more second feet of water enter the dam than goes out of it down the river channel below. Where the water goes, Mr. Porter does not pretend to say, the water users however, are of the opinion that it sinks and rises below town. This report would seem to substantiate the rumors last spring that as soon as the state dam was lowered, water began to flow in unusual quantities below the city from flowing wells.
