TOWN TALK.

Yesterday's clearings were $247,256, as compared with $152,942 for the same day of last year.

Lulu Conn, who on Feb. 28 was sentenced by Justice Timmony to 30 days' imprisonment in the city jail for vagrancy, was yesterday pardoned by Mayor Clark, on the condition that she leave town within 24 hours. Clemency was extended on the ground that the girl's mother was dangerously ill.

In an opinion rendered to State Auditor Richards yesterday, Attorney General Bishop holds that the auditor would be unauthorized to draw a warrant against the 1895 appropriation in favor of the state board of horticulture for contingent and traveling expenses in curred in 1897, one-half of the appropriation for the two years having already been expended for the latter year.

The University public lecture tonight is to be delivered by Mr. C. R. Savage of this city and is to be on the subject, "The Nansen Arctic Expedition." A series of stereopticon views illustrating various parts of the region through which Nansen passed is to be exhibited. As usual, the lecture will be delivered in the lecture hall of the laboratory building, on First North street, and is to begin at 8 o'clock.

The statement that George Light was injured by colliding with a telephone pole is incorrect. George was on his wheel riding home, when he met a lady. She tried to jump, first to one side and then the other, as a woman generally does, and, to escape hitting her, George ran into a tree. He broke his collar bone, but came down town yesterday with a sort of grate on the injured part, which enables him to get around.

People were very much surprised last night to see the following notice pasted on the door of the E. G. Hines & Co. produce store on West Temple street: "Closed by the police. Keys are at the police station." Investigation revealed the fact that the door of the store had been left open by some one connected with the store. They key was left in the lock, so the police locked the door and put up the notice, for the information of the proprietors.

Cheyenne Sun-Leader: Among the engineers in conference at the capitol in this city this week was State Engineer Young of Utah, who is a son of Brigham Young and one of the most widely known engineers in the United States. Mr. Young graduated at the head of his class at West Point, and was for 20 years at the head of the government engineering corps. Mr. Young was instructor at West Point for four years and a number of officers at Fort Russell recited to him. Mr. Young and Mr. Mead visited Fort Russell yesterday, and a reunion, as it were, took place between instructor and pupils. Mr. Young is a very magnetic person and entertaining conversationalist. The distinguished visitor left for the west this morning.

The New York Journal of Sunday contains an account of an escapade of Hamilton Fish, jr., a scion of one of the foremost New York families, who sojourned in Salt Lake for a brief period about a year ago. Young Fish was arrested by the police for assaulting a conductor on the Elevated railroad in New York, and from the Journal's account of the affair it would appear that Fish came out of the encounter with the conductor second best, as he appeared in the police court with a badly cut head and a nose very much the worse for wear. He told the magistrate that he had no recollection of the affair and explained that he had gone into a saloon in Jersey City and there received a dose of "knock-out drops," which rendered him unconscious, and while he was in that condition he was robbed and thrown out. He expressed sorrow at having misbehaved and offered an apology to the conductor, who generously forgave him and the case was dismissed. While Fish was in Salt Lake he got into several scrapes with the police, and was before the city justice on charges of drunkenness and fighting.

Silver Republicans Intend Making a Campaign This Fall.

CANNON FOR SENATOR

FUSION HAS FAILED, SO THE NEXT BEST REMAINS.

A Democrat Calls Attention to the Manner In Which Non-partisan Promises, Made Before the Election, Are Kept—Ole Pehrson Returns to the City to Make a Protest Against the Manner In Which He Has Been Treated—A Few Shadows of Coming Campaigns Which Are Being Cast.

Davy Gill is in charge of the new headquarters of the silver Republican party and in a few days it is expected that the followers of Doremus and Joe Eldredge will begin to reassemble there for the purpose of getting sage counsel and advice. Joe Lippman is the head push at headquarters, which are located at 223 Atlas block, where the faithful can call and get information concerning the silver question and what the Republican party has done to advance it.

The opening of these headquarters means that a campaign is to be waged which will have for its ultimate end the election of Frank Cannon to the senate next winter. It means that an effort will be made to elect a legislative ticket and that the party will nominate county officers and do and perform all such actions as political parties are entitled to perform.

Just when the first gun will be fired in the coming campaign is a bit of a mystery as deep as that which surrounds the place from which the said gun will be fired, and what it will be loaded with. But Mr. Lippman has promised that the same shall be fired, and, accordingly, the noise may be expected.

It is understood that the Tribune will be the official organ of the silver Republicans, as outlined in an editorial a day or two since, and for that stand there is fear and trembling in the house of Whittemore, because the papers that get to Washington have to be all bought up in order that no stray copy may find its way into the hands of the executive. For, when a paper which advocates silver at home, while its head urges appointments of gold men on the outside, gets to the seat of government it is liable to create suspicion and the plea that commercial reasons pure and simple prompt this action doesn't go down with the powers that be.

There isn't a great deal of fear being manifested by silver men over the proposed action. The Democratic party is the only friend that silver has at this time and to abandon it for the sake of securing one office or more is to abandon principle, as was aptly demonstrated in the statement of Hon. C. S. Varian, made in this paper a few days ago. It may be the policy to hold the remnant of the Republican party together, but if it is true silver men do not see it. In the judgment of the leading men of Utah, silver is the overshadowing issue and, until the question of finance is settled, the silver men ought to be a unit.

But of course the object of the movement is apparent. Fusion having failed, those who would see the Democracy destroy itself in this state, abandon its principles and elect a Republican to the senate, now desire to try some other methods.

HOW IT LOOKS.

Democrat Talks On the Way Promises Are Kept.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In a fit of retrospection I picked up a copy of the address issued last fall by the non-partisan committee. Speaking of Salt Lake City, it said: "Its business should be managed by business men of approved fitness and experience. Its servants and employees should be selected for these qualifications, and no others, just as in any private or corporate business, of which the municipality is, after all, but the larger counterpart." In this connection I happened to think of the appointment sent to the council last Tuesday evening for superintendent of waterworks, and I at once concluded that something must have slipped a cog.

Those of us who know him are willing to concede that in some directions the nominee of that position is possessed of ability, but to credit him with "approved fitness and experience" for the position of superintendent of waterworks, is a thing of which we have never dreamed. His congressional and other experience in public office may have given him a knowledge of some of the ways of the wicked politician known as "fence-building," but we thought "pipe-laying" an entirely unknown profession to him. I wish that some of the non-partisan committee would inform a waiting public as to where he has acquired the knowledge of hydraulics, of mechanics, of the handling and working men and the buying of materials and supplies which a superintendent of waterworks of "approved fitness and experience" should have.

There is a well-authenticated rumor, however, that negotiations have been opened with the head of a well-known plumbing house to the end that, should the nomination be confirmed, he should become "foreman" of the waterworks department, and furnish for the superintendent the expert knowledge required. But it would seem that at present there is no such office as "foreman" in the department, and it cannot be the intention to create an office to cover this emergency. The present superintendent is also foreman, and in such capacity handles all the men and supervises the work of the department.

Again permit me to quote from that famous address of the committee: "That only such persons should be selected for municipal office as are honest, efficient and willing to devote the requisite time to the public service, having no unnecessary deputies or assistants."

And thus do we see "non-partisan" pledges fulfilled.

O. S. L. BUILDING FIRE.

BOXRUD & CO.'S LOSS FROM $1,500 TO $2,000.

The Losses Are Fully Insured—Adjusters Appointed—The Damage to the Building.

As yet the exact loss occasioned by the fire in the Oregon Short Line building early yesterday morning, is not known, and it is difficult to estimate the figures it will reach. The floor is badly damaged in several places and will have to be entirely replaced in those spots. The plate glass windows in some of the doors were broken by the firemen in order to effect an entrance, and other parts of the building and fixtures have been injured by smoke and water.

H. B. Windsor has been appointed special agent for the Franklin company, who carry part of the insurance, for the express purpose of making an examination and estimating the losses. C. R. Tuttle, special agent of the Continental company, will arrive in the city today and will begin work at once with Mr. Windsor, to adjust the losses. It is thought that the loss will amount to $5,000 or $6,000, all of which is covered by insurance.

A. H. Boxrud & Co. have not yet begun their work to determine the damage done to their goods, but expect to do so today. It is thought that their stock, which consists of stationery and notions, is damaged by smoke to the extent of $1,500 or $2,000, fully covered by insurance.

AMUSEMENTS.

Jo Holland, the well known and popular comedian; Lucius Henderson, his clever wife, Gretchen Lyons and other capable players will be seen at the theatre tonight. Mr. Holland is said to have a very congenial role in the "Mysterious Mr. Bugle." He comes of an old theatrical stock, and has lived in the atmosphere of the theatre all his life. His actual stage career was begun in 1878. He made his debut in George Rignold's production of "Henry V." In 1879-80 he supported John T. Raymond; in 1880-81 he was with his brother, George, and the following two seasons with McKee Rankin. He went to California with Clara Morris and played in the California Theatre Stock company. In 1886 he became a member of Augustin Daly's company, playing three years with him in this country, England, Ireland and Scotland. In 1891 he played leading comedy in Charles Frohman's productions, notably, "Mr. Wilkinson's Widows," "Settled Out of Court" and "Shenandoah." Since that time he has been prominent before the public as a star with his brother, E. M. Holland, and independently.

Recent cancellations of date by the "Bachelor's Honeymoon" company and the "1492" company have induced Mr. Burton to ask the Salt Lake Opera company to keep "Said Pasha" in rehearsal, so that it may be repeated at the first favorable opening. The opera company excursion to Logan is to take place on the 24th, instead of the 22d, and Provo will not be visited until some time in April. The Oregon Short Line people say a big excursion party will doubtless go to Logan, as tickets will be made good for several days. Special rates will also be given to theatre parties from Brigham City and elsewhere along the route, the people taking the opera train up and being dropped at their homes by the same train after the performance. It is probable also that an excursion party will come down to Logan from Preston to take in the opera.

CAINE'S APPOINTMENT

Council Committee Decides to Let It Go Over.

MAJORITY OPPOSE HIM

NO FIGHT ON THE SELECTION OF FOLLAND.

Fernstrom's Significant Remark—Devine and Kelsey Still In Suspense—Talk of a Trade—Mayor Clark Formulating His First Veto—Other Matters Considered.

It will be another week before Mayor Clark will know definitely the fate that is in store for his protege, John T. Caine, whom he appointed Tuesday evening to the office of superintendent of waterworks. The appointment was referred by the city council to the proper committee, and last evening it undertook to discuss the appointment behind closed doors. To the credit of Chairman Allen, who never tries to evade the responsibility of meeting any issue, and is never averse to denying his constituents the right to know, through the public press, his position on any matter of public importance, the councilman from the Second entered a protest against star chamber proceedings. The protest was effective, and Chairman Allen's colleagues on the committee acquiesced in permitting the reporters to hear the deliberations. Unfortunately, the news gatherers were not within sight when the door was opened, but immediately after the committee arose, the members, with only slight reserve, gave an account of what had transpired.

MAJORITY AGAINST CONFIRMATION.

Councilman Patrick moved that the committee recommend to the council the confirmation of the appointment. Fernstrom moved that consideration of the appointment be deferred. Diehl seconded Patrick's motion, and Siddoway seconded Fernstrom's. Had the Patrick motion come to a vote it would undoubtedly have been killed by three.

Without taking a vote, the entire committee agreed to defer action on the appointment. This was done on the strength of a strong intimation from Fernstrom that by the time the council meets a week from next Tuesday the whole matter of appointments and confirmations will have been adjusted. The significance of the hint became apparent when it was known that by the time named it is expected the supreme court will have rendered such a decision in the Pratt case as will enable the mayor and council to reconcile their differences with respect to the proper exercise of the prerogative of each.

With the postponement of action by the waterworks committee on the Caine appointment went the anticipated discussion over the gentleman's lack of special fitness for the position, which the mayor seeks to bestow upon him, but which the large majority in the council, in obedience to public sentiment, seem determined shall not be given the chairman of the non-partisan campaign committee, in violation of platform pledges that patriots, and not politicians, should be rewarded with office.

NO FIGHT ON FOLLAND.

Owing to the inability to get a quorum of the committee on sanitary rules and quarantine, by reason of the fact that the members were engaged with other committees, Chairman Fernstrom's committee did not meet to consider the appointment of Eli A. Folland to succeed himself as clerk of the board of health. Had the committee met it is quite likely that a report would not have been agreed to, because of the desire to restore the clerk's salary to the old figure of $75 a month before confirmation takes place. While Mr. Folland is sure of confirmation, ultimately, a question has arisen as to the proper confirming power in this instance. Several councilmen contend that the board of health, of which the mayor is ex-officio president, has sole jurisdiction in the matter of choosing the board's clerk, but others hold that this view of the law is based on untenable grounds.

NO ACTION ON THE OTHERS.

The committee on fire and police, which has the appointment of Chief Devine under advisement, and the prison committee, to which was referred the appointment of Mrs. Hampton for prison matron, took no action on these matters. Neither was anything said by the sewer committee relative to confirmation of City Engineer Kelsey as his own successor, whose appointment is pending before the council on a favorable report from a majority of the committee.

CAINE TO BE TRADED FOR KELSEY.

Engineer Kelsey's confirmation Tuesday evening is assured unless a combination against him is effected before then. Friends of the mayor are expressing themselves to the effect that his honor will withdraw Kelsey's name and appoint George W. Snow for engineer in consideration of delivery of enough votes to confirm John T. Caine as superintendent of waterworks. But in the opinion of councilmen whose votes would have to be secured to effect such a deal, the policy will be to choose the least objectionable as between Kelsey and Caine, and confirm the former at the latter's rejection.

From a councilmanic standpoint a trade in Caine's behalf could be accomplished with greater ease on an appointee for the sanitary inspectorship, and also for the license inspector's office, so as to appease certain interests yet unrecognized, notably the Scandinavian element, which to date, has been unduly discriminated against by the executive, so it is alleged, because they championed the cause of Democracy rather than non-partisanism in the late election.

THE FIRST VETO IN SIGHT.

While the council committees were preparing a grist of business, important and routine in character as well as otherwise, for consideration by the council Tuesday evening, his honor, the mayor, was far away formulating his first veto message. The veto pertains to the ordinance reducing the salary of the unfilled office of chief of police to $5 a month. Notwithstanding that the ordinance was passed by the council by ten affirmative votes out of the entire fifteen, the executive is confident of his ability to cite sufficient sound reasons for objecting to the enactment of the measure. He also hopes to convince one or more of the solid ten that his position is correct and thereby make his veto effective.

Mayor Clark has until next Monday to file his objections to the chief's salary ordinance with the city recorder, and it is not improbable that his honor will also at the same time file his disapproval of the resolution amending the Salt Lake & Ogden Gas & Electric Light company's franchise permitting a slight increase in illumination charges. However, as to this latter measure, it is by no means as certain of being made the subject of a veto message as the ordinance mentioned.

EXPOSITION SQUARE NUISANCE.

C. W. Symons, Rodney Hillam and C. E. Wantland, representing several hundred residents of the southeastern part of the city, who have petitioned the council for relief from the nuisance permitted to exist on Exposition square, addressed the committee on public grounds in support of their protest.

Mr. Symons made the point that the neglected condition of the square was directly the cause of Denver parties refusing to advance money for making extensive residence improvement and erecting terraces in the near vicinity and opposite the square.

Rodney Hillam recited that the grounds were not used by the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing society in accordance with the terms of the grant from the city to the state. The unsightly fence and cattle sheds, together with the fact that no state fairs have been held there since four years ago, but instead only wild west shows, football games and swearing contests are given, made life in that locality almost unendurable. In the opinion of himself and co-petitioners the square should be converted into a public park or suitably improved otherwise and maintained.

Mr. Wantland directed the committee's attention to the necessity of granting the relief desired so that property owners would not have their land suffer undue depreciation and the building of residences not be retarded.

The committee will give the matter the attention its importance merits, but no report will be agreed to until after the committee confers with President Winder of the society, with whom the committee will meet tomorrow afternoon.

OTHER PUBLIC GROUND MATTERS

The public grounds committee decided to award John H. Thorne the refreshment selling privilege at Liberty park for the year 1898, upon paying the sum of $100.

Through an oversight the committee did not consider the resolution favoring the setting apart and improvement of Pioneer Square as a public park.

A petition addressed to the committee by Stephen W. Taylor for the privilege of occupying the F. M. Little place near the mouth of Parley's canyon, and owned by the city, was referred to the council. The applicant proposes to pay a small rental charge and to improve and cultivate the premises, which need attention.

Before the committee arose C. E. Wantland made an argument in favor of the city tendering a site near the Warm Springs to the Western Federation of Miners as a location for the proposed home for aged and disabled miners.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The finance committee did not take up the Barnes resolution favoring negotiation toward issuing a new series of bonds at a lower rate of interest to fund the $500,000 bond issue of 1888, bearing 5 per cent annual interest, but instead the time was occupied considering a plan of reducing the number and cost of telephones in use by the city and the matter of increasing the monthly maintenance allowance for the health department. Nothing definite, however, was agreed upon on these matters.

NEW TANKS FOR THE HIGH LINE.

The waterworks committee decided to inspect the Fort Douglas reservoir and storage tank with a view of adapting similar plans for the proposed City creek high line.

POLICE ETCHINGS.

Isaac Wolfe, manager of the California Wine company, was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with assault alleged to have been committed upon the person of J. P. Hill. It seems that Hill went to the place of business occupied by the above named company for the purpose of looking over the building, he having something to do with the construction of it. While here, it is alleged, Wolfe demanded that he clean out the yard and Hill refused, whereupon Wolfe assaulted the latter.

* * *

Last night about 8 o'clock a telephone message from the residence of Mr. Henry C. Johnson, at 81 S street, notified the police that a burglar was in the basement of the house. The patrol wagon was sent out with the directions to go to "81 F street," and the run was made in a few minutes. One of the officers knocked at the door and asked a woman, who opened it, if she telephoned for the police. She did not seem to comprehend the officer's meaning and he explained, "We received a report that burglars had broken into your house and were still in your cellar."

The woman looked very much frightened and said she did not know about it and that there was no cellar in the house. They began a search for the house but it could not be found, and when a small boy was asked where a telephone could be found he jumped in the wagon only too glad to show them one "at his house." The telephone was found, but "central" would not allow the officer to talk without the deposit of a dime. He was "flat busted" but the telephone girl politely told him he would have to produce or not talk.

Finally Detective Sheets dug up a dime and talked to the police station, but the sergeant said he understood the address as 81 F street. There was nothing left but to return, which was done. The officers just reached the station when a telephone message from the Johnston residence asked how long the police considered five minutes, they having promised to be at the house in that length of time, and it was over half an hour. The address was then procured and the wagon went to S street and made an examination of the premises. No trace of a man could be found in the basement and as far as could be seen no man had been in there.

It was then explained that a man had appeared about 8 o'clock and begged for some money. He was given 25 cents and a few minutes afterwards the ladies in the house thought they heard him climb through the window into the basement. Mr. Johnston is a traveling man and was not at the house when the supposed burglar entered, and the ladies became very much frightened, fearing that a man was in the basement.

Raddon & Williams, whose butcher shop was burglarized not long ago, and the cash register broken open, have their register once more in working order. To prevent any more mistakes being made by burglars, who do not know how to open the register, they have left the drawer open and 10 cents is left in it each night. The following sign is fastened on the register in plain view: "This drawer is open. There is 10 cents left, so help yourself and have a drink on us."

George Wright was arrested last evening by Officer Everill. Wright was somewhat intoxicated and resisted the officer savagely, and finally succeeded in tearing Everill's coat nearly from his back. Wright was locked up in spite of his efforts to get away, and will have to answer to the charge of drunkenness.
