TOWN TALK.

Charles Thiede, convicted of wife murder, has his interview with Governor Wells this afternoon.

C. A. Carlquist was receiving the congratulations of his friends yesterday over the arrival at his home of a baby boy.

At 6 a. m. yesterday the thermometer registered 62, at noon 74 and at 6 p. m. 72, the maximum temperature being 77 and the minimum 61.

A meeting of the committee having in charge the arrangements for the coming fire chiefs' convention will be held at the old city hall at 8 o'clock this evening.

Ten cents per copy will be paid for copies of the Deseret Evening News, dates September 2, 1895; November 28, 1895, and December 8, 1895, sent to this office.

Miss Jessie Covey sends word that she will not take part in the dancing contest, which forms a part of the programme for the Newsboys' excursion on Friday next.

Secretary McDaniel, of the Democratic state committee, reached Ogden yesterday and will return to Salt Lake today. The gentleman attended the Chicago convention and afterwards was detained at Buffalo, Ill., by the death of his father, a respected citizen of that place.

The remains of the late Bertha Maria Hansen arrived here from Ogden on Saturday night and are now at the undertaking parlors of C. A. Carlquist. The funeral will take place at 2 p. m. today at the residence of her son-in-law Andrew Hyrup, 871 First street. The deceased lady and her husband attended the old folks excursion at Ogden, and while returning to her home at Huntsville, was thrown out of a wagon and injured so severely that death followed. Mrs. Hansen was born in Randers Ampt, Denmark, seventy-four years ago and came to Utah in 1859.

Jake Floan, who lives with his family at 453 South First West street, was arrested by Officer Tom Hilton about 11 o'clock last night and booked for disturbing the peace. Jake took in the town yesterday and acquired a jag of immense proportions. Then he went home and abused his family, making himself so obnoxious that a telephone message was sent to headquarters. When the officer arrived Jake had full possession of the house, the wife and children having sought refuge at a neighbor's house. He did not like the idea of being disturbed, but nevertheless was given a ride in the "Black Maria" and dumped into the drunk house. Floan has been in trouble for a similar offence before.

EVERY NIGHT THIS WEEK
The Mikado at Garfield.
The last opportunity to see this lovely opera. Bathing, boating, dancing.

THE LATEST SOCIETY FAD
Is to attend the "Mikado" at Garfield; repeated every night this week. Bathing, boating, dancing.

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE GRAND—"The Midnight Alarm" will be presented by the Pearson company tonight, and will hold the boards for the week, closing the engagement.

"THE MIKADO"—In consequence of the large attendance at Garfield Beach throughout last week the management has determined to repeat the opera this week, giving a performance every night. Some changes have been made for the better and all who may attend will have the pleasure of witnessing a perfect entertainment from start to finish. Two orchestras will be in attendance, one for the opera and one for those who wish to dance. In fact, no expense or pains will be spared in making Garfield the popular watering resort.

WE CAN PROVE IT,
Prove it by yourself, if you will but give us a chance. You won't doubt the evidence, because it will be clear, convincing and conclusive. Our $15 to order suits are the talk of the city. Our perfect glove fitting is the pride of the nobby dressers. Just give us a chance at you; if we don't make you feel good all over it won't cost you a cent. Look through our magnificent line of samples, anyway. You'll be pleased.

THIEDE MAY BE RESPITED

Has Convinced His Keepers of His Innocence.

HIS LAST CHANCE TODAY

GOVERNOR WILL VISIT HIM AT THE COUNTY JAIL.

Should the Condemned Wife Murderer Succeed in Convincing Governor Wells as He Has the Officers He Will Get Another Chance—Promises Some Startling Disclosures in That Event—The Prisoner Fat and Healthy, But Shows Signs of Great Anxiety—Trembled When Inadvertently Reminded of His Perilous Predicament—Was Visited By His Daughter Yesterday—As Yet He Makes No Professions of Religion.

There is believed to be a strong probability that Charles Thiede, convicted of wife-murder and condemned to die on the gallows twelve days hence, will be granted a respite after the interview has been held which has been acceded to by Governor Wells, and which will take place this afternoon at about 4 o'clock at the county jail. That is, at least, the logical conclusion to be drawn from the circumstances surrounding Thiede's case at present, for should he succeed in impressing Governor Wells as he has those who are his keepers, the chief executive's conscience will compel him to give the despairing man one more chance to prove his innocence.

Thiede has told his story to the deputies and those who constitute the death watch, over and over again since apprised of the decision of the supreme court of the United States, and has succeeded in convincing everybody about the jail of his entire innocence of the crime of which he was convicted. When he was first taken to the county jail those in charge held the opinion that he was guilty, but gradually the earnestness and apparent truthfulness of the man began to make an impression upon those around him, as he daily and many times a day asserted his innocence, accompanying the assertion with another repetition of his side of the case, which he claimed had not been properly presented. Gradually, also, incidents transpired which tended to prove his statements, until now he has the satisfaction of knowing that at least there are a few people who do not believe he killed his wife.

Governor Wells has been advised of the convictions that have forced themselves upon the officers, which fact will be a point in Thiede's favor when the (to him) momentous interview with the only man who can do aught to save his neck begins.

MAY BE A SENSATION.

Should Thiede impress the governor with the belief that there is room to doubt his guilt, and a respite be granted, there is a possibility of a sensation being sprung the exact like of which has never been heard of in these parts. It will be, according to Thiede, no less than an effort on his part to prove that there are those in this community who are interested in having him put out of the way; who are willing to go to the length even of seeing him hanged, that their guilty transactions may be covered up, and who have for this reason directed their efforts to that end.

This and many other things Thiede says he can prove that will have the effect of establishing his innocence, if given an opportunity, and should the respite be granted, new lawyers will be called into the case and another effort for a new trial will be made.

When seen yesterday in his cell at the county jail Thiede declined to make known the line of action he will adopt in the event he is given an opportunity to do anything, but said that if the respite, which he so ardently desires but dare not hope for, comes as the result of his interview with the governor, disclosures will be made which will be sufficiently startling to shock the community.

READING AND WRITING.

The condemned man spent a quiet Sunday in his cell yesterday reading and writing. He apparently realizes fully the extremity he is in, and though he bore up well during the few minutes he talked with a Herald reporter, it was noticeable that the effort to appear cheerful was an effort and required a great amount of self-control. This trait is not sufficiently developed in him to enable him to appear calm, for he wants to talk constantly when a person is with him. Between sentences he would often pour down long draughts of water with a feverishness that indicated a terrible anxiety on his mind, and his whole bearing is anything but an indication that he is resigned to his fate.

During his long confinement Thiede has taken on flesh instead of losing it. He is very fat and flabby, but appears in the best of health aside from the pallor in his face which comes from lack of outdoor exercise, and a certain reddishness under the eyes which suggest sleeplessness or perhaps more correctly, the feverishness apparent in his demeanor. This slight color, the only color in his face, is probably due to feverishness, as the guards say he sleeps well, or that if he does not he gives no indication of wakefulness.

Thiede's cell is a steel cage on the upper floor of the jail, and is much better quarters than the average prisoner enjoys. It is roomy enough to permit of a table at one end, a bunk along one side and a washstand or sink and a chair on the other, with room enough between to turn around in comfortably. On the table are the books with which he puts in most of his time during the day. They are of a legal nature, for the prisoner has taken of late to reading law, and has acquired quite a spattering of it. It may be due to this fact that he was able to couch his letter to Governor Wells, in diction of which he was previously incapable. That he did write the letter with no other assistance than he might have received from the watch seems a fact, as Sheriff Hardy says there was no one else who saw him during the time it was in preparation. At night the prisoner is given a light, and he often sits up late writing, but the nature of the work he engages himself with is not known, as the keepers have not troubled him to ask.

HIS VOICE TREMBLED.

Asked how he felt, Thiede replied that he supposed he felt just as any other man would feel if condemned to die, when he knew he was innocent. His voice trembled as he said it, but a moment later he was again expostulating upon the unfair treatment he seems to think he has received since first arrested, and had apparently forgotten the cold-blooded reminder of his position which the query inspired and which brought him instantly to the horrible realization of the straits he is in, which is apparently with him during his hours of loneliness, although the question was only meant as an inquiry concerning his health.

Thiede was disinclined to talk much of his case or of himself, preferring, as he said, to say what he had to say to Governor Wells today. With reference to his excellency, Thiede took on an air of greater cheerfulness than he evinced at any other time, as though he has great hopes of a favorable result of the interview.

Of Lawyer Hamilton and what he may be able to do for him in the event of an opportunity, Thiede would say very little, but expressed confidence in the gentleman. Of his attorneys, strange as it must seem to all who know of the desperate fight they have made for him, he spoke very resentfully of what he termed their unfaithfulness to him, and he denounced the statement of Attorney Moyer with reference to his property, which was published a few days ago, as being untruthful.

VISITED BY HIS DAUGHTER.

Thiede's daughter Anna, a miss of 10 years, paid her father the regular Sunday morning visit that has been customary since his confinement in the county jail. She was accompanied by Mrs. Koenan of St. Ann's orphanage, where the child is cared for. The scene between them was as might be expected, very affecting on the father's side, but the child does not appear to realize her parent's predicament and could not understand yesterday, as on the last few occasions since the fatal day was finally set and began to draw near, why he was more demonstrative than formerly.

Mrs. Koenan is a Christian Scientist, and as has been usual with her, spent considerable time offering spiritual consolation to the father.

As yet Thiede has not professed to have been converted, but it is a noticeable fact that whenever he is prompted to use strong language while reciting his woes, he checks himself and abstains from profanity. Rev. Gilliban has visited the prisoner frequently of late, but as stated, Thiede makes no confessions of faith.

George Dean, a railway employe, who once boarded with the Thiedes at Sandy, called at the jail yesterday to see the prisoner and offer consolation. Dean, who bears an excellent reputation, says that Thiede and his wife always got along nicely together and to his knowledge never had any difficulty during the long time he boarded with them. He expresses himself as having faith in Thiede's innocence.

THE LAST WEEK OF MIKADO
At Garfield Beach.
This beautiful opera will be repeated at Garfield every evening this week by general desire. Trains at 10 a.m., 2:15, 3:15, 5:00 and 7:15 p.m.

AT THE RESORTS.

MANY VISITORS TO THE CHARMING LAGOON YESTERDAY.

The Hot Springs Road Resort Destined to Become Very Popular—At Garfield and Saltair.

That charming resort of the Hot Springs Railway company, the Lagoon, at Farmington, came in for its share of patronage yesterday, and was seen to its best advantage. The effects of the recent "wet spell" had entirely disappeared, and all who visited the place were delighted with it and complimented Mr. Bamberger upon his enterprise. Trains ran out every hour after 2 p.m., and the management did everything for the comfort of the patrons.

The resort boasts of a very comfortable pavilion, a miniature lake and many other attractions sufficient to entertain a big crowd.

The Lagoon must be considered as a strong rival for public patronage and favor the rest of the season.

At Garfield Beach.

There was an immense crowd at Garfield Beach yesterday, and the patrons of the resort were provided with some splendid entertainment. The bathing alone was attraction enough, but in addition an enjoyable concert was given by the "Mikado" cast.

At Saltair.

Beautiful Saltair had another banner day yesterday. The chief attraction was the fine concert given by the K. of P. band. It was a musical treat and was thoroughly appreciated. The water was in fine condition and most of the excursionists took a dip in the briney

ALL FOR SILVER.

A few days ago the Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Gazette wrote The Times asking for a list of Republican papers that have bolted the St. Louis platform because of its opposition to silver, and which advocate the election of Bryan and Sewall. It is presumed that the names of the Colorado Republican papers is desired, and a partial list is herewith submitted:

Denver Republican.
Leadville Herald-Democrat.
Denver Eye.
Eagle County Blade.
Salida Mail.
Delta Independent.
Glenwood Avalanche.
Glenwood Ledger.
Dillon Enterprise.
Grand Junction Sentinel.
Colorado Catholic.
Gunnison Tribune.
Telluride Republican.
Pueblo Sunday Opinion.
Bessemer Independent.
Loveland Reporter.
Boulder Herald.
Montrose Press.
Elk Mountain Pilot.
Florence Refiner.
Monte Vista Graphic.
Sagauche Crescent.
Denver Times.

There are many others whose names are not recalled at this moment. It will simplify matters to say that there are not in Colorado ten newspapers, whatever their political affiliations may be, Republican, Democrat or Populist, that are supporting McKinley and Hobart.

The Gazette is doubtless informed as to the defection of Republican papers outside of Colorado. The Lowell (Mass.) Sun is among the latest converts to the cause of silver, Bryan and Sewall. Editor Faulkes of the Gazette is credited with being able to see through a millstone that is mostly hole.—Denver Times.

GREAT DAMAGE IN PARIS.

PARIS, July 27.—Violent storms occurred in this region tonight, immense damage having been caused by wind and rain. The lower quarters of the city have been flooded and several casualties are reported.

THE CITY'S AQUA PURA

An Abundant Supply Can Be Obtained From City Creek

AT A MODERATE EXPENSE

USE OF PARLEY'S CANYON WATER SHOULD BE DISCONTINUED.

City Creek Has Three Systems of Pipe Lines Supplying Different Portions of the City—The Members of the City Council Should Investigate and Make Themselves More Familiar With the City's Needs in That Regard.

With a view to ascertain what changes in the present water system are necessary in order to avoid using Parley's canyon water a reporter of this paper Saturday afternoon, in company with Superintendent Wallace and Councilman Diehl, chairman of the water works committee, inspected the system and source of supply in City Creek canyon. The superintendents of the system have all maintained that with a small outday of money sufficient water could be obtained from City creek to do away with the use of Parley's canyon water. There is enough going to waste now to supply the entire city, but the pipe line system is inadequate to convey it. Only the chairman of the water works committee and the department employees know anything about the water works system, for so far none of the present members of the city council have taken the trouble to visit the works.

CITY CREEK'S PIPE LINE.

City creek has three systems of pipe line—the high line, as it is called, supplying Capitol hill, and the upper portion of the bench above Brigham street as far as Ninth East; the Twentieth ward system, supplying that ward or the lower bench, and the large mains coming down from the brick tank about a mile up the canyon, and which supplies the central and greater portion of the city.

The high-line tank is about four miles up the canyon from Eagle Gate. From it the water for the high parts of the city—Capitol hill and the East side—is conducted through a twelve-inch main till a short distance below the brick reservoir, where the cross is, forcing the water up both slopes of the hill. The pressure is 250 pounds to the square inch, sufficient to force the water as high as the side hill will ever be settled. The west side main from this system conducts the water into the Capitol hill reservoir, from whence it is distributed, supplying that portion of the city lying between First North street and towards Warm Springs.

The Twentieth ward tank house is some distance below the high-line system. The water is conducted through two twelve-inch mains, supplying as before indicated the Twentieth ward and lower bench.

BRICK RESERVOIR.

All who have visited the canyon have seen the brick reservoir. There are two separate tanks, a pipe leading from each and converging into a thirty-inch main, which conducts the water down to Eagle Gate.

While something like 6,000,000 gallons per day is utilized from City creek, the overflow from the reservoir, if used, would double the amount. Superintendent Wallace and Mr. Diehl are confident that if the city would expend about $20,000 for putting in another 30-inch main the necessity of using impure water would be entirely done away with. The water is not equalled by any save that which comes from Emigration canyon. The city owns the land on both sides of the creek as far up as Morgan county—about fourteen miles—and two men patrol the canyon night and day, preventing campers from polluting the water. Then, before it enters the distributing tanks, it is screened several times and a watchman at every tank washes out the screens at regular intervals.

SUPPLY FROM SPRINGS.

And the water can be made much purer. There are a number of springs from the hillsides all along the creek. By tunneling the ground the supply could be greatly increased, and all of the very purest kind of water. The trees and other verdure along the banks keep the water cool as it issues from the rocks. The sides of the creek are rip-rapped, preventing caving in during high water. With the addition of a cover on the Capitol hill reservoir the water could be kept free from contamination, and a supply of water secured which, for purity, could not be excelled by any city on the coast.

FINANCE THE DIFFICULTY.

But the city is in a sad financial plight and the city fathers take very little trouble to look after the supply of water. A howl went up when the water department used about $300 in repairing the damage done by the floods last spring. If some of the councilmen would take the trouble to go up the canyon and look over the repairs they might talk more intelligently when such matters come up for discussion in the council meetings. The floor of the high line tank was forced up, being only of single thickness. This was repaired and a new flume put in. Then the rip-rapping was torn away for distances of 100 feet in some places, and all this had to be repaired. The road is maintained at the expense of the department and proves a source of expenditure. And all this is charged against the department. As Councilman Diehl put it: "If only some of the members of the council would be impressed with the necessity of a pure supply of water and the efforts of the department in this line, and would take the trouble to visit the system and give the water question cool thought, they would be able to discuss with better understanding such matters when they come up for consideration."

Superintendent Wallace does not anticipate any scarcity of water this year, the late rains having greatly increased the quantity in all the small streams.

HOTEL AND CORRIDOR.

Commercial men are beginning to stack in now, coming for the fall trade, and although a presidential year is always dull for them they seem to be thicker than ever, and prosperous and happy. They were thick last evening around the Knutsford and the stories came thick and fast.

* * *

"My brother played a great one on me recently," began O'Neill. "In Philadelphia I'm something of a good thing with the ladies, and in fact I fell terribly in love with one—blue eyes, golden hair and all that sort of thing, you know. Well, business was dull one day so I thought nothing would be nicer than to go to see Gladys—yes, that is her name—lovely, don't you think so? I got home that evening, and my brother asked me where I had been that morning.

"'Playing tennis with Gladys,' said I.

"'Where were you this afternoon?'

"'Out walking with Gladys.'

"'Where were you this evening?'

"'I called on Gladys.'

"'Hum,' he hemmed and left the room. 'In a moment I heard him give a frantic yell and he came running into my room.

"'What's the matter?' I exclaimed.

"'Haven't you heard?'

"'No. What, quick!'

"'Gladys has been arrested.'

"'No; what for?'

"'For working a minor over eight hours.' He laughed and then I slugged him with a sofa pillow."

* * *

Popular Alexander next had one. He said:

"There were two rival contractors erecting buildings directly opposite one another on a narrow street. They worked day and night in the hope of getting ahead of one another, but finally O'Hoolahan got out of bricks, and so he went over to Dugan and said: 'See here, Dugan, we've been a-scrappin' long enough, let's shake hands and quit.'

"'Very well,' said Dugan, 'Oim uv the same moind meself.'

"'But the way, Dugan, could you lind me 500 bricks?'

"'Devil a brick could Oi lind; get out.'

"So O'Hoolahan went back and said to the workmen: 'Min, will yez get upstairs behond the wnall and yill yis to ivery-thing of say?'

"'We will that,' came in chorus. So up they got.

"When they were settled up came the yell, 'Min, aare you there?'

"'Yis.'

"'Aare you atin' yer lunch?'

"'Yis.'

"'Till me, aare you A. P. A.'s?'

"'Yis,' and over came the five hundred bricks."

* * *

"I suppose this is the time for fish stories," said Flynn, and the crowd shifted uneasily in their chairs.

"I was out fishing last summer with a fat friend of mine, and after sitting in the hot sun all day we didn't have a fish. My friend," said Flynn, "I hate to go home without even a minnow, and just then a small boy showed up coming along the path. He was that proverbial small boy who always turns up, and he had a beautiful string of fish.

"'What will you sell those fish for, my boy?' asked my companion.

"'Seventy-five cents.'

"'I'll take them.'

"The boy walked up to hand them to him, but my friend yelled excitedly: 'No, no; keep away, stand over there and toss them to me, so that I can tell my wife I caught them.'"

* * *

"It's a little out of season for poker" went on Alexander, "but I just heard a rather good one on a quiet poker party. The game got pulled, and when one of the players appeared before his honor, the latter asked:

"'You were playing poker?'

"'Yes, your honor.'

"'You were playing for money?'

"'No sir, there was no money on the table.'

"'What were you playing for then?'

"'Chips.'

"'Aren't chips money?'

"'No, your honor.'

"'But, I say they're just the same as money, and I fine you ten dollars.'"

"The victim dug deep into his trouser pocket, pulled out an immense handful of reds, whites and blues, dropped them on the clerk's desk and as they fell with a clatter said, 'there your honor, is the fine, ten dollars worth of chips.'"

"Well," said Hanna, "if it's my turn I'll tell you about my trip down south.

"We stayed one night near the hut of an old negro who owned a large pop-corn field. That night about 12 o'clock we heard a great hubbub, and upon getting up perceived the cabin burning to the ground. Nothing would be done to save it and so we went to bed again, but what was our surprise next morning to see upon awaking, the field perfectly white?

"When we walked over to it we saw that it was about three feet high with glistening pop-corn, the fire in the cabin having popped every kernel."

The field officials are: Judges, Captain Richards, Captain McFarland, First Sergeant Weir, company A; Sergeant Hunt, company A, clerk of course and scorer; Sergeant McEvoy of company D, assistant scorer; Captain Noble, First Lieutenant Wright, Second Lieutenant Simmons, starters; Second Lieutenant Palmer, referee; Second Lieutenant Preston, Second Lieutenant Woodward, Second Lieutenant Carey and Corporal Currier, company G, timers; Corporal Lusk, company H, inspector; First Sergeant Russell, marshal.

The Second battalion, commanded by Major W. H. McLaughlin, consisting of companies B, C, G and H, leave today at 5 o'clock on a practice march to Big Cottonwood, returning tomorrow.

* * *

Practice marches seem to be growing more severe than formerly, to judge from the number of men who fall out and hunt up the Red Cross ambulance. At first the marches were only seven and a half miles one way, the troops returning the same day. Now they have grown to forty miles in two days.

The ball game yesterday afternoon resulted in a score of 11 to 8 in favor of the Colts. The work of the junior team proved something of a surprise to the Giants. They put up a handsome game, and assert that they can defeat the Giants again easily.

Private Hopkins of company H has transferred to the band and will play the valve trombone.

The First battalion returned from their camp in Little Cottonwood on the 24th inst. A number of men fell out of the ranks going and coming, which has called forth the now famous dead wood order from the post commander as to the future course to be pursued by the company commanders when their men fall to make the march.

* * *

The post commander has issued the following circular, No. 45, since the return of the First battalion from the forty-mile march to Little Cottonwood canyon.

Fort Douglas, Utah, July 24, 1896.

First—A record of men examined by the surgeon and by him reported incapacitated for military duty will be kept by the regimental adjutant for reference should the soldier apply for re-enlistment at the expiration of his present term of service. The regimental commander is willing to carry on a reasonable amount of dead wood in the shape of soldiers who cannot march, drill, take exercise or do duty, but there is such a thing as overdoing it.

Second—Company commanders must not send such to the surgeon direct, but submit the names to this office, and, if they are reasonably young men or men with no very great length of service, the propriety of their discharge in order to make room for men who can serve, will be considered. It is feared that the men now excused may have been injured rather than helped by the efforts made in their behalf, viz: steps directed looking to their discharge.

Third—No application for leave of absence by officers or furloughs for enlisted men during the season of active operations will be considered by this office, except in cases of urgent necessity. Furloughs to enlisted men will be made mandatory.

By order of Colonel Theaker.
(Signed) CHARLES P. GEORGE,
First Lieutenant and Adjutant Sixteenth Infantry, Post Adjutant.

KANSAS GRAIN TRADE.

Week Just Closed Has Been One of the Liveliest Ever Witnessed.

WICHITA, Kan., July 26.—The week just closed has witnessed the liveliest grain trade in southern and central Kansas that these sections have experienced in five years. Just now the bulk of the old corn from this section is going to St. Louis and New Orleans, but dealers from northern, eastern and southern points are all buying heavily. The shipments, while enormous, do not in any sense represent the business done. A very large amount of corn has been contracted for, but is held awaiting cars. A great deal of the corn is in unroofed bins and on account of the recent rains, it is too wet to shell.

Grain Rate War.

KANSAS CITY, July 26.—The grain rate war which has been waged for the past week will, according to the statements of several leading traffic men of this city, practically be concluded when the next cut in rates is made. This, it is anticipated, will occur within a few days at most.

One of the active lines wired from Chicago to its local representative asking what rate would be required on wheat to hold it to the Chicago markets as against the southern ports. The reply was that it would require a rate of eight cents per 100 flat. It is believed that such a rate will be put in possibly tomorrow.

That rate is less than actual cost and none of the lines will care to maintain it for any great length of time. When business is done at a loss it will be a matter of a short time to get managers in conference for adjustment. It is useless at the present time to discuss a compromise, it is stated. The fight is to a finish.

MUST BE A PANIC.

LONDON, July 27.—The Times has a dispatch from Madrid which is as follows: It is stated that the government has paid the enormous price of £700,000 each for the two war vessels recently bought at Genoa, while a contract has just been given for two torpedo boat destroyers at £50,000, which was dearer than the tender of a first-class English firm, on the ground that quicker delivery would be secured. Nothing short of a panic can explain such extravagance.

AN AGREEMENT LOOKED FOR.

CLEVELAND, July 26.—It is believed by the leaders of the strike at the Brown hoisting works that terms of settlement between the men and company will be agreed upon within a day or two, and that work will be resumed before the end of the week. Propositions have been made which are likely to be accepted, but the locked out men refuse to give the terms of the settlement.
