ELEVATED AND SUBWAY MEN CALLED OUT ON STRIKE IN PHILADELPHIA

Cars on These Roads Are Running Every Twenty Minutes Instead of Five—Ugly Feeling Engendered by Last Night's Rioting Results in More Minor Disturbances. There at Another Time Since

Street Carmen Walked Out

Philadelphia, June 3—Many boys and girls who had been waiting patiently for their turn to be called into service, were ruggedly surprised when they passed along the platform and saw that the trains were running every twenty minutes instead of the usual five. They had been waiting for hours, but the waiting was over and the workmen were back on the job.

The workmen, who had been out for some time, were called back into service and were doing a good job.
