centered with a basket of dainty bridal wreath tied with white tulle. Miss Reid was assisted by her mother, Mrs. William Reid, Mrs. J. D. Spencer, Miss Marion Whitney and Miss Mary Godbe.

Tuesday afternoon Miss Priscilla Cartwright was the hostess at a Kensington at her home on North West Temple street, in honor of the popular young bride-elect. The tea table was covered with a handsome lace cloth over yellow satin, in the center of which was a basket of delicate bridal wreath. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. T. H. Cartwright, Miss Marion Cartwright and Miss Bee Williams. Twenty-five guests were bidden.

IN honor of Mrs. Edward Russell Woodruff (Miss Etha Mayo), Mrs. Franklin Riter presided over a delightful tea Monday afternoon at the handsome Woodruff home on North State street. The guests of the afternoon included the close friends of the young bride and the members of the sorority of which she is a member. Sprays of deep purple iris and branches of snowballs were combined for the effective decorations of the rooms and the table, where the flowers filled an artistic basket tied with purple tulle. The hostess was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. E. D. Woodruff, and by Mrs. H. N. Mayo and Miss Helen Woodruff.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Judge will spend the summer in San Francisco, where they will be joined the latter part of the month by Mrs. Judge's sister, Mrs. Fredrick Cowan, who will spend several weeks with them. Colonel and Mrs. D. C. Jackling, who have spent the past two months in New York, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Judge in San Francisco.

Mrs. Lewis B. McCornick will return today from New York, where she and her mother, Mrs. Margaret Blaine Salisbury, have spent the past month. They also visited in Washington, D. C., with Lieutenant Walker Salisbury, who is doing government work there.

Former Mayor and Mrs. John S. Bransford arrived during the week from Los Angeles, and will be at the Bransford apartments for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Jennings entertained at a delightful dancing party Thursday evening at their home on East South Temple street in compliment of their nephew, James Jennings, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Jennings. The rooms were prettily decorated with spring flowers and fifty young guests were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wyland left Wednesday evening for Denver where they spend a couple of weeks enroute to their home in Casper, Wyoming. Mr. and Mrs. Wyland have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Savage for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Nelson Story of Bozeman, Montana, who has been the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Mayo for the past week, will leave today for the east where she will attend the graduation exercises at Monticello Seminary where her daughter, Mayo, will be graduated, and will also go to Culver Military school where her son, Nelson, is a member of the graduating class.

"I cannot entertain the idea of marrying you," she replied coldly. "My heart is with our brave boys at the front."

"It's a good thing for the boys," he replied, drawing himself up. "They need all the ice they can get on the Mexican border." New York Times.

THE GEOLOGIST'S REWARD —MANANA

THE Geologist sat in his wood-seat chair

Smoking a cheap cigar.

He was dreaming a dream of the millionaire

Out in his motor car.

A sad smile played on his rugged face,
A frown was on his brow;

For the millionaire in his oil wealth ease

Had entirely forgotten him now.

He dreamed of the faraway hidden past

When treasures were stored away,
Liquid treasures, held strong and fast,
Sealed in for many a day.

His study and research furnished the key

To the treasure trove in store,
And he unlocked the vaults for the millionaire

And told him where to bore.

He studied the fossils, the anticlines,
The dips of the strata there.

He found the "Fault" in the structure fine

And the "Fault" in the millionaire.
The "Fault" in the structure gave the "pay"

Which the millionaire tells about
While he smokes his "perfectos" every day,

The geologist's cigar goes out.

The Geologist's dream of comfort and wealth

May never realize,
But still he smokes his cheap cigar
With an optimistic guise.

He knows he added to the world's great wealth

From the mystic liquid flow;
And draws his pleasure and comfort
From studies of the long ago.

The luxuries had from abundant wealth

Are for him but a beautiful dream.
The riches secured through his work afield

To him are only a gleam.
When the last trump sounds and he climbs the stairs

To those pearly gates ajar,
Here's a harp and a crown for work well done

And a Golden Motor Car.

—By Dr. L. P. Morgan.
