and white, the rooms being decorated in these colors, and gowns and neckties were mostly in blue and white. The bride wore a beautiful white satin messaline with oriental shadow lace and silver thread and carried a lovely bouquet of bride's roses, bridal-wreath and smilax, tied with satin ribbon.

The groom wore navy blue costume and white four-in-hand tie. The best man a tie of light blue to harmonize with gown worn by bridesmaid and the room decorations.

Mother of the bride wore blue and white pussy willow silk and Miss Mabel Fullenwider, sister of bride, wore a light blue chiffon over silk.

Mother of groom wore a beautiful black silk gown and a dark green crepe de chine silk gown was worn by Mrs. Carl W. Peterson, sister of the groom. The brothers of the bride wore light blue ties and the attirement of all the guests was grand, making the assemblage an elaborate affair.

The newly wedded pair left on Saturday morning for a honeymoon trip to San Francisco and other points in California and after their return, July 1st, will live on groom's ranch, in New Sweden.

The young people are both of prominent and excellent families and are themselves in a class of model young folks, respected and loved by all and their many friends wish them much joy, success and happiness in their new life.

The new minister was invited out to supper. He was a bachelor, and when he helped himself to the biscuits for the third time he looked across the table at the hostess' little girl, who was staring at him with round, wondering eyes.

"I don't often have such a good supper as this, my dear?" he said in his most propitiatory tone. "We don't either," said the little girl, smiling. "I'm awful glad you came."—Lippincott's Magazine.
