

New Entertainers at Wilson Hotel Grill

THE FAMOUS MCKINNON TWINS, CABARET STARS
NOW APPEARING AT THE WILSON HOTEL GRILL

Two of the prettiest and most interesting cabaret stars booked at a local restaurant this season are the McKinnon twins, now appearing at the Wilson Hotel Grill.

The McKinnon twins became famous on the Pacific coast, where they have appeared in all the famous restaurants, and their physical similarity is so great that it is practically impossible to distinguish one girl from the other.

They are "Queens of Ragtime," according to Manager E. L. Wille of the Wilson Hotel Grill, and they bring new gowns, new songs, and some lively entertainment specialties for their engagement at the Wilson.

This popular cafe is proving a strong attraction with its popular priced business men's luncheons, table d'hote dinners and special Sunday table d'hote dinners. Hot weather viands are being featured on the menus at present, and the fact that the cafe is on the ground floor makes possible an adequate system of ventilation, and the maintenance of a cool temperature constantly in the cafe.

SPICE

A farmer wrote to the editor of an agricultural paper as follows: "I have a horse that has been afflicted for the past year with periodical fits of dizziness. Please let me know what I should do with him, as he seems to get worse instead of better. I am afraid he will be unfit for work if something is not done soon." In the next issue this answer appeared: "When the nag is looking all right, sell him to some one."—San Francisco Argonaut.

"Why have you called in expert accountants?" "People have begun calling our cashier 'Honest Bill Jinks.'"—Philadelphia Ledger.

"So you worked your way through college? Your father must be proud of you." "Not much. He's the man I worked."—Boston Transcript.

Crawford.—I understand that his matrimonial difficulties have been settled. Grabsaw.—Yes; wife's relatives have agreed to maintain strict neutrality.—Life.

"Does your daughter play Mozart?" we asked, displaying unusual erudition.

"I believe so," she replied deprecatingly, "but I think she prefers auction."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Fair Autoist (who has broken down on the road)—Pardon me, sir, but have you an extra plug. Country Yokel—No, ma'am, but you're welcome to a chaw offen mine, ma'am.—Detroit Free Press.

"I like this quaint little mountain village of yours, waiter. I suppose I can get plenty of oxygen here?" "No, sir," we've got local option."—Sacred Heart Review.

"There were plenty of other men who wanted to marry me." "Yes, and not one of the ungrateful hounds has been around to even so much as thank me."—Toledo Blade.

Struggling Author (who has just read his latest story to his wife)—There! That's the best thing I ever did. His Wife—Yes, dear. What magazine shall you send it to first?—Life.

"Does your married life seem home-like, my boy?" "Oh, yes. My wife's quarrels are exactly like the rows mother used to make."—Chicago News.

Cholly—Before I met you I thought of nothing but making money. Ethel—Well, keep right on! Pop ain't so rich as folks think!—Dallas News.

"De world owes you a livin'," said Uncle Eben, "but it's up to you whether you gits it out'n yoh own kitchen or in de bread line."—Washington Star.

Mrs. Gray—The window in my hall has stained glass in it. Mrs. Green—Too bad! Can't you find anything that'll take the stains out?—Topeka Journal.

"I thought you liked your new friends so much." "So I do, but I just had to give them up—they own such a cheap car."—Puck.
