

WOULD YOU RATHER LOOK OLD OR YOUNG?

How would you like to be able to look into the future knowing that you had a means for "staying the hand of time"? Wouldn't it give you great satisfaction to know that you could prevent the flight of the years from leaving upon your face the tell-tale marks of their passing? When you reach forty, or fifty, or sixty, wouldn't you like to look back upon the world with the face of a girl of twenty? It is said that a woman "is as old as she looks," but did you ever stop to think what it is that makes her look old? It isn't the years for you can't see and count them. Is it anything other than wrinkles? Wrinkles and the loose skin and sagging muscles that have destroyed the contour of the face of youth? Think over all the people you know who are beginning to "look old." Would they look that way if it weren't for the wrinkles? Then imagine the wrinkles gone, wouldn't they look young again? Isn't it always the wrinkles? If no one had wrinkles, and every one looked young, wouldn't the world and everybody in it be better off? Then why not begin to do your part?

One day, while working in his laboratory, a chemist inadvertently mixed certain chemicals which being useless for the work in progress, were thrown away; and in doing so a portion was spilled on his hands, and some spattered on his face. As it was non-poisonous and harmless he paid no attention to it, but in a short time noticed an unexpected and very remarkable action on the skin. It was smoothed and softened, and the wrinkles obliterated, leaving it with that soft and satiny sheen so characteristic of the perfect skin. Professional curiosity prompted him to investigate this unanticipated action of the chemical used, which finally lead to working out a formula for the combination of certain chemicals which positively and permanently removes wrinkles, and does this without the slightest injury to the skin.

Giving portions of it to various of his friends and acquaintances, it was experimented with by different persons for somewhat more than a year, and in all of that time there was not a single instance in which it failed to produce the desired result. As those who had used it spoke of its wonderful action to their friends, the demand for it became so great that arrangements were made for its manufacture, and a lotion prepared from this formula is now offered under the name of Thaisine Wonder. It is a flesh-colored liquid containing a chemical compound which acts as a powerful but wholly harmless astringent. After it is applied, the liquid dries, holding the skin smooth while the astringent and other chemicals operate to maintain and make permanent the lasting effect of smoothness and softness. It is non-poisonous and non-injurious, will not harm the most delicate skin, and it positively will not promote the growth of hair. It is unequalled for closing enlarged pores, and for tightening the loose and flabby skin, leaving it smooth, white and beautiful.

The ease and convenience with which Thaisine Wonder can be used, (it does not take more than two minutes to apply) and the certainty and permanency of its results put it in a class far apart from the "muds," poultices and various nostrums with which the market is flooded, and all of which do little or no good except for the time during which they are used, no real or lasting benefit being derived from them, and which are troublesome and inconvenient to apply. To use Thaisine Wonder a small portion is poured in the palm of the hand, and with the tips of the fingers it is spread thoroughly over the wrinkles, or it is poured in the palm of the hands, and applied to the entire face, and the neck if needed. Except for the coated, somewhat glossy appearance which it gives after use, it is practically invisible, so it can be used at any and all times. It is this feature which makes it so very desirable for women who wish to be much out of doors, as it can be used readily at such times, preventing the wrinkles caused by frowning when in the bright out-of-door light. For motoring trips, a light application is a wonderful protection from the effects of wind and weather. It is especially good for moving picture actresses who are doing out-of-door work, as it prevents the wrinkles caused by sun and wind, and so thoroughly protects the face. By using cold or tepid water it can be removed in a moment.

Leading specialists in facial and skin treatment now say most positively that you must not massage the face to remove wrinkles. It only breaks down the under-structure of the skin, stretching it and leaving it loose and flabby. Massage is one of the most productive causes of sagging muscles by which the rounded contour of face and chin is lost. The best treatment now advised is the use of astringents, and the light application, occasionally, of a good cold cream or skin food, worked into the skin by gentle patting. Thaisine Wonder is the only remedy which meets the requirements of this newer and better method of treatment of the face, and at the same time accomplishes the end desired.

Thaisine Wonder will correct the most exaggerated case of enlarged pores, and consistently used will remove the unsightly blemish known as "eye-bags" or "eye-pouches." Its beneficial effect on wrinkles can be seen from a single application.

You should be able to procure Thaisine Wonder from your druggist, or it will be sent charges prepaid, upon receipt of price, $3.00 the bottle (8 ounces).
