

Wherever you go there is one name that is magic among connoisseurs—the password to purity, richness, smoothness and fine old age—

“Cedar Brook To Be Sure”

The largest selling brand of high-grade Kentucky whiskey in the world; the same today as in 1847. Say “Cedar Brook”—and be certain of rare old fashioned goodness.

At leading Clubs, Bars, Restaurants, Hotels, and also at all leading Dealers.

The Height of High Ball Quality

BOTTLED IN BOND

“Your wife came from a fine old family, didn't she?” “No; she brought them with her.”—Judge.

Visitor.—It's a terrible war, this, young man—a terrible war. Mike (badly wounded)—'Tis that, sor—a terrible warr. But 'tis better than no warr at all.—Punch.

“Of course,” said Farmer Cornfossil, “Josh's superior knowledge is a great thing.” “Don't you think it has practical value?” “Yes, I suppose it has. But I noticed this afternoon that his bein' able to call a yallerjacket by his real scientific name didn't make the critter a bit more sociable or forbearin'.”—Washington Star.

“Pa, what is affection?” “Affection, my boy, is carrying three extra tires on an automobile that never gets more than four blocks away from a garage.”—Detroit Free Press.

“You are the first man I ever permitted to kiss me.” “And you are the first girl I ever kissed. Will you marry a liar?” “I will.”—Stray Stories.

THE PLACID IMAGIST

(With abject apologies to Dante Gabriel Rossetti.)

By Ernest McGaffey.

The placid Imagist looked out
From the closed bars at even;
The asylum she was quartered in
She'd figured out, was Heaven;

She had a pencil, and wrote down
“Come seven, come eleven.”

Her robe of hybrid tatters was
Fantastic and forlorn;
And ever and anon she sipped
A modest nip of “corn”;
And she was writing poetry
“She was? Yes! “In a horn!”

Herseemed she scarce had been a day
One of those choristers,
Whose mongrel ululations weird
Such raucous discord stirs;
The “bug-house” was not yet quite gone
From that dazed look of hers.

It was the ramparts wide of Bosh
That she was standing on;
The mooning bat-in-belfry tower
By the castle of Bull-Con;
That castle in the air they build
When sanity is gone.

It lies in “Jub-Jub” lands afar
Where darkness draws the latch;
Where Lewis Carroll's “silly toves”
The “frabjous” warriors catch;
The regions of the “Tum-Tum tree”
And “frumious bandersnatch.”

Heard hardly, some of her new friends
Concocted chopped-off
As crude and as unmusical
As where a hearth-stone shines,
And stretched beside its ruddy blaze
A dreaming fox-hound whines.

From that fixed place she stood and saw

A rift the shadows piece;
And shuddered as she thought she marked

The shade of Ambrose Bierce,
As though he read her “dope” and
said,
“Bismillah! this is fierce!”

“I wish that fame would come to me
However brief,” she said!
“Although my verse is deadly dull
And heavy as pig lead;”
She took another dram and sighed
“Gee-whillikins! my head!”

She gazed and listened, then remarked
“Men stand for any ‘guff,”
And it will be an easy task
To print my awful stuff;
And though I've but a small ‘fourflush’
I think I'll run the ‘bluff!’”

She saw me then, and winked her eye,
I know! I felt her wink;
And then she thought a sort of thought,
I seemed to hear her think;
And having nothing more to do
I went and bought a drink.
