Writing for the April "International," Dr. Max Stein says, "Every day the Association for the Distribution of Beer in Germany, of which I am the director, sends one and a half million liters of beer to our soldiers at the front."

It is the settled conviction in Germany that good, mild beer, such as is necessary to the armies.

Dr. Stein says further: "We do not consider beer a luxury, we consider it a necessity, and we believe that the health of our troops would suffer greatly if for any reason the beer supply were cut off."

dispatches of Tuesday morning of the White Sox victory in Chicago. Claude Williams and Byrd Lynn saved the game after the White Sox regulars had tried their best to give it to St. Louis. Williams was sent in the box in the third inning, and in the seven innings played allowed but three hits, while Byrd Lynn, batting for Cicotte in the eleventh sent in the run that gave Chicago the game by a score of six to five. Then there is Gedeon with the Yankees. As this is being written he is being featured in the eastern press. In the two games prior to Wednesday he made six hits.

It is true that the Bees' start this season has been somewhat disappointing. Nevertheless no team in the major league has shown more class than did our boys in last Saturday's game, and we can quite well depend this early in the season on the judgment of the man who pulled us out of the almost hopeless slump in mid-summer last year and landed us in second place to strengthen very shortly the Bees into winning ball.

Under any ordinary conditions, taking into account the financial success of last year baseball stock with even mediocre management of the affairs of the club should pay this year from twenty to thirty per cent in dividends. The WEEKLY regrets that it cannot definitely give a detailed statement of the receipts and disbursements of the club last year. The directors are probably within their legal rights in having never made public through the newspapers a detailed statement of these receipts and expenditures. The WEEKLY is inclined to believe that in a public enterprise where citizens invest for the good of Salt Lake rather than any monetary returns such statements should be made, but in the wisdom of the local ball magnates this has not been done. We have, however, some figures lately issued showing what a splendid baseball town Salt Lake is. Last year, it will be remembered, our attendance at the opening game exceeded the opening day attendance of any other city in the league, and that, mind you, includes San Francisco, Portland and Los Angeles, with their hundreds of thousands of inhabitants. This year, while the official opening day attendance in Salt Lake was smaller than either Los Angeles or San Francisco the gate receipts were larger, for Zion is the only city in the league where seventy-five cents is charged for grandstand seats. In the coast cities the admittance is twenty-five and fifty cents. The table of attendance as made public by President Frank S. Murphy, of the Salt Lake Baseball club, shows, however, a substantial increase over last season. It is as follows:

The official opening day attendance in Salt Lake City was 8,762, as against 7,623 for the first day in 1915.

Los Angeles drew 12,733 on the first day, as against 7,539 in 1915.

San Francisco had 12,083 people at the initial contest, while on the same day in 1915 it had but 6,886.

Here are the official attendance figures for the first weeks of 1916 and 1915: Salt Lake—Four games, 20,124 in 1916, as against 15,592 for the four games of the first week in 1915. Los Angeles—Seven games, 34,483 in 1916 and 21,056 for seven games in 1915. San Francisco—Seven games, 47,259 in 1916 and 40,849 in 1915.

Baseball is a great recreation for the residents of Salt Lake, an entirely clean sport giving amusement and interest to thousands of our people at a not prohibitive cost. As Zion grows and the West grows the franchise of the Bees is bound to increase in value. It would be a fine thing if all of our people who contributed to the establishment of the city in the western league could continue to share not only in the joy of the sport but in the financial returns that are bound to come in the years. We deplore that thus early in the game two or three men should attempt to control,
