

SEVIER BRIDGE RESERVOIR-OASIS PROJECT

The stupendous piece of modern engineering represented in the above cut has resulted in the reclamation, by irrigation, of a vast area of most desirable agricultural lands in the Pahvant valley, Millard county, Utah. ¶ With the uncommon natural resources of this fertile valley, having the depth and richness of the lands of the Middle West, and a great river shimmering in the sunshine for 300 days of the year, its latent possibilities are attracting men of energy, and in a short period this imperial valley will be the most productive in the West. ¶ Oasis, the shipping point of the valley, surrounded by 75,000 acres of arable land, rimmed by the snow-capped Pahvant mountains, is 140 miles south of Salt Lake City, on the main line of the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake railroad. ¶ The Oasis Land and Irrigation Company has made application for the segregation of 43,000 acres of this land under the beneficent provisions of the Carey act and will have an opening and drawing in the near future. ¶ Watch for the opening date and make your selection. ¶ Write for handsomely illustrated booklet descriptive of Millard county, Utah, and the Oasis project.
