

mately for Mason Valley will be in Boston and New York. The stockholders of this company from the very beginning have had a fair shake for their white alley. When the officials deemed it expedient to sell 70,000 shares of treasury stock recently at $1 per share, everyone interested was given a chance to get his pro rata, and nearly everyone did get it. The stock was selling for above $1.75 at the time, too. There is no more popular company anywhere than the Mason Valley, and it has a big mine, too.

When will the Western Pacific be ready to carry freight? This is what Deep Creek wants to know. Poor old Deep Creek. She is like the fellow with a raging thirst and a half pint bottle full of the stuff that cheers, but no corkscrew within a score of miles. Deep Creek has waited for forty years for a railroad, developing a tremendous appetite for one. Now it has the Western Pacific, but no trains are running yet. Those old-timers who have been waiting for years, gray-headed and bent, as sentiment has it, will find the children grown up and owners in fee of the landscape before the road comes, if they don't look out.

To the Candidate for Office

Who has not already taken advantage of

A Press Clipping Service

We wish to remark that he is either a stranger in the public eye; has never been shown how valuable a press clipping service is to him; or else has been a failure in politics so long that it isn't any object to him to see what is said about him.

☐ But if he is up and doing—no matter who or what—and regardless of the political party with which he is affiliated, a complete newspaper record of everything said about him

Is Sure to Prove Invaluable

In our notable list of subscribers there are United States Senators, Congressmen, Governors, Judges, and men in every political position, even members of the legislature and city councilmen, and while we do not guarantee that everything we send them will be conducive to their peace of mind, we do guarantee that the service will be complete and the price will appeal to them

If you're running for office you can judge fairly well from our Press Clipping Service how fast you're running

The clippings are on your desk every morning at a nominal price

Go to the telephone right now if you live in town and after getting 301 on the Bell or 302 on the Independent give us your order for all newspaper reference to your candidacy.

If you're not in town, order immediately by letter so you will miss none of the items.

In our own office and through our exchange bureaus we read everything published in America every day. So it's pretty hard to miss what you want us to find.
