E. S. Ferry entertained about thirty of her friends at a bridge tea on Wednesday afternoon. Assisting Mrs. Ferry in the entertainment of her guests were Mrs. Heber M. Wells, Mrs. Lewis McCornick and Mrs. Walter G. Flier.

Now that the ladies on the committee making the arrangements for the Charity Ball have unanimously decided to revoke their action of a week or two ago, at which they unanimously decided to eliminate turkey from the supper on that evening, the arrangements are moving along smoothly again. The ball will be given on the seventeenth, at Odeon Hall, and promises to be one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever given in the city. The committee has named Harry Sherman, Robert J. Glendinning, F. C. Schramm and George Y. Wallace as floor-walkers for the evening.

In honor of Mr. C. W. Whiteley and Mr. D. C. Jackling, whose safe return from the wilds of Mexico, Arizona and Scott City, Kansas, was the occasion for some rejoicing, Mr. H. A. Lee and Mr. R. W. Sloan entertained at dinner on Wednesday evening at their residence on Third South Street. The dinner was a most elaborate affair, unexcelled in its appointments by anything these hosts have been responsible for in the past. Covers were laid for twelve. Come to think of it, there was some repartee, too, but that's another story.

Mrs. A. Fred Wey and Mrs. Vaughn Paul entertain at a bridge tea on Tuesday afternoon.

One of the prettiest teas of the autumn was that given by Mrs. George R. Hancock and Miss Hancock at their home on Thursday.

In honor of Miss Jean Odell and Dr. H. P. Kirtley, the Misses Barch entertained at bridge on Tuesday evening.

Miss Lydia Palmer's lecture at her home on Third Avenue on Thursday interested a large number of her friends who had been invited to hear her.

An informal luncheon given by Mrs. F. E. McGurrin at the Alta Club in honor of Miss Lees was one of the pleasant affairs early in the week.

The musicale at the Commercial Club on Tuesday evening, under the direction of Prof. J. J. McClellan, was a notable event, attended by a large and brilliant gathering.

Among those assisting in the musicale program were: Miss Dwyer, Miss Evans, Miss Gray, Mr. Brines, Mr. Weihe, Mr. Graham, Mr. Ensign and the Salt Lake Symphony quintet.

IN TOWN AND OUT.

What to do with one's hands

Carry a Walking Stick.
'Tis the season of all the year for walking. A good stick is company, like a pipe. Stylish, too. Swing it occasionally, if you feel energetic. For inclement weather an Umbrella.

We can suit you with both.
