

The latest Mr. and Mrs. Nat C. Goodwin

The marriage of Miss Edna Goodrich and Nat C. Goodwin was not a surprise. In fact, it was just what was expected by those who knew Miss Goodrich and Mr. Goodwin best, and who had taken the trouble to note the cross-country, cross-ocean tours of Miss Goodrich and her mother and Mr. Goodwin and George Weeden. The ceremony took place as soon as convenient after the Maxine Elliott-Goodwin divorce, recently granted by the obliging Reno jurist. It will be remembered that Mr. Goodwin followed the "Beauty and the Barge" to Europe early in the summer, though after his arrival "The Genius and the Model" failed to meet. Mr. Goodwin explained his presence on the other side to the newspaper men as one of his "Hobbies," but the reporters had been "In Missouri" and asked to be shown. Again he explained he was not a "Gilded Fool," but simply "An American Citizen," and if he chose to have a "Midsummer Night's Dream," it was none of their business. But the explanation has now been made and just as he did "When We Were Twenty-one," his fourth romance culminated in "A Blaze of Glory."

Caller—"Is the lady of the house in?"
 Waitress (who has been given notice)—"She's in, but she's no lady."—Life.

THE SEA HATE.

Soft it sings in shining ripples, glad beneath the golden day,
 With a laugh among the dune grass, as it flings its jewel spray;
 But I hate its smiles and whispers, for beneath the white, curled crests
 Lies the great black heart of terror and the wrath that never rests.

Hidden from the blessed daylight, in its caves it heaves and throbs,
 With a dreadful choking gurgle and a sound of dying throbs;
 And the long dark trailing seaweed, lifted on its ebb and flow,
 Is like hair of drowned women whelmed within the undertow.

Through the pale green dusks of twilight, from the rolling mystic line,
 Comes a chant of fear and beauty, calling sweet to me and mine.
 But I see the siren music of the cruel, luring flood,
 For 'tis doom is in its message and the answer in my blood.

—F. O'Neill Gallagher, in London News.

Veuve
Clicquot
 Champagne.

Dry and Brut

The standard of fine champagne

Sold by all high class dealers

Keith-O'Brien Co.
 Toy Opening
 Saturday
 Bring the Children
 Keith-O'Brien Co.

Walker's
 CORNER 312 SO. AND MAIN

The Designer Free

¶ To any one subscribing to the Designer, the great Fashion Magazine, for the year 1909, beginning with the January issue, WE WILL GIVE THE NOVEMBER AND DECEMBER, 1908, ISSUES FREE.

¶ The Designer, already famous as the magazine of real use to women, increased its size beginning with the October number. It is now as large, as beautiful, as useful as any woman's magazine published for $1.00 or $1.50 a year, and it is bigger value than any because it is still only 50c the year.

¶ This offer is good for the present. We may be obliged to withdraw it any time.

Walker Bros. Dry Goods Co.