

THE SHOPPERS.

By John Kendrick Bangs.

Oh, the Christmas tide is rising
You can see it on the street
In the attitudinizing
Of the shopper most discreet.
There are merry times a-coming:
Santa Claus is on the way—
You can tell it by the humming
'Round the bargain counter gay.

There's a boom in worsted slippers
Such as pious preachers wear;
Woolen mitts for chilly flippers,
Rich tararas for the hair.
Every toy shop's spick and spandy.
All abloom with dolls and things;
And the men who make the candy
Look as prosperous as kings.

Santa Clauses by the dozens
Stand behind the window panes,
While our sisters, wives and cousins
Dissipate our surplus gains.
E'en the fated Christmas turkey
By the spectacle is nerved
As he thinks how fine and perky
He will look when he is served.

There are twenty thousand women
On each ordinary block
In a human ocean swimmin',
With no thought of frazzled frock.
Like a lot of center rushers
In restless force they roll—
Fullers, haulers, shovers, pushers,
They're advancing toward the goal.

Mr. Porthos, Mr. Athos,
D'Artagnan, the fierce and brave,
Would become a thing of pathos
If they stood before that wave,
For a woman with a mission
That is all beneficence
Would have made that coalition
Look like 27 cents.
