

Social Saunterings

The spring of the year, premature or otherwise, but nevertheless spring, has kept the Country Club crowded with golfers all week, and between the days in the country and the evenings at the theatres, preceded and followed by many a dinner and supper, the week has not been what might be called in the strictest sense, one of rest, even if Lent is upon us.

The old motor cars are being re-tinted, the new ones are being chosen, and every indication is that it will be harder for the fashionables to break out of society between now and Easter than it was for most of them to break in.

There have been no entertainments of startling dimensions, but everyone has had a pretty good time at the small affairs, and the restaurants and theatres have seemed about as attractive to the devout among those in the smart set as they have to any others in the classes and cliques that go to make up the social life of Zion. Intellectually, aesthetically, etc., etc., "The Right of Way" and the opera have strained the qualifying attributes of those who are supposed to know in the evening, but thankfully, the weather man has been good, and the following days have given the needed opportunities for recuperation.

The election of Mr. D. C. Jackling to the Presidency of the Alta Club was a well-deserved compliment, and met with the unanimous approval of the members. Mr. Jackling's election, together with the excellent board of directors, who will serve for the ensuing year, is an assurance that the affairs of the Club will be handled in splendid shape.

The Press Club will meet with the Commercial Club tonight at a little dinner, which will be almost informal. It will be the center of attraction for most of the men in town who belong to the Club or who have friends among the press gang, and during the course of the proceedings there will be little that has transpired in the past year or which may in the next, which will be overlooked.

Very sad, indeed, was the news of the death of Mrs. James R. Davis, which came from Los Angeles during the week. Mrs. Davis, who was formerly Miss Ruth Galloway, of Denver, and one of the most beautiful belles of the Colorado capital, has visited here several times, and has a large number of friends in Salt Lake who were shocked at the sad tidings. Mrs. Davis was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Galloway, who for the past three or four years have resided in Goldfield, where Miss Galloway was married to Mr. Davis, the Goldfield millionaire. Mr. and Mrs. Davis had just returned from an extended tour of Europe, and were about to make their home in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester D. Freed entertained at a dinner at their home on Thursday evening in honor of Miss Scott of Montana, who is the guest of Mrs. Afton Young at the Young home at Red Butte Hollow.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Scott to Le Grand Young, Jr., was one of the surprises of the week in society circles. The wedding will take place in June and the young people will make their home in this city. Miss Scott is a beautiful and accomplished girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Scott of Montana, and Le Grande Young, Jr., is one of the best known and most popular of the younger bachelors.

Miss Afton Young will entertain in honor of Miss Scott on Sunday evening.

Mrs. R. A. Grant entertained at a beautiful violet luncheon Thursday afternoon at her home on First avenue in honor of her guests from Ogden. After the luncheon, Mrs. Grant entertained at a theatre party at the Colonial to see "Faust."

Mrs. S. D. Evans entertained at bridge in honor of Mrs. Dorsey Ash on Thursday in which she was assisted by Mrs. John C. Reed and the Misses Evans. Twenty-five ladies enjoyed the event.

Mrs. W. L. Ellerbeck entertained informally on Thursday evening.

For Mr. K. Koehler and Mr. E. Ortman, of Portland, Oregon, Captain and Mrs. Bryan Conrad entertained informally at a luncheon on Sunday at the Post.

Miss Esther Allen, Miss Matie Hall and Miss Edna Cohn will be the hostesses at a musical at Gordon academy on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt B. Lowe, accompanied by Miss Lucy Naisbitt, will leave today for San of the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Glendinning, in Spokane on Wednesday. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend E. W. Cooper of St. John's Episcopal church, and was a quiet home affair, only the immediate families being present. After a trip to the northwest, they will make their home in Spokane.

Mrs. Arthur W. James entertained at a tea on Wednesday afternoon for twenty of her lady friends.

Mrs. William McCrea was hostess at a luncheon at her home on Wednesday in honor of her mother, Mrs. McCrea, who is the guest of Mrs. George A. Lowe.

In honor of Governor and Mrs. Wm. Spry, Mr. and Mrs. William N. Williams entertained at a reception on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Kerr entertained at a box party at the Colonial on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Scott.

Col. E. F. Holmes, Mrs. Holmes and Miss Bransford breaking the monotony of motoring in the Southland.

Francisco, where they will stay a week, going from that place to Honolulu. They will be gone two months.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ferry have returned from New York after a visit of a month.

Miss Marge Miller, who has been the guest of Mrs. L. G. Trent of Auburn, California, has returned home. Miss Miller will have as her guest later in the month, Mrs. Spencer Cary, who was formerly Miss Florence Trent.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel L. Tracy entertained on Wednesday evening at a delightful dinner in honor of their guests, Miss Stubblefield and Miss Winslow. Covers were laid for fourteen.

A pretty home wedding of the week was that of Miss Blanche Tate and Charles G. Billings, which took place on Wednesday, Judge George Armstrong performed the ceremony.

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Glendinning and Marion R. Cummings took place at the home of Mrs. Arthur Callaghan has returned from California, where he has been for the past three or four weeks.

Captain and Mrs. W. E. Cavanaugh entertained informally on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Mrs. F. J. Fabian was the hostess at a bridge tournament on Tuesday.

In honor of her guest, Miss Merrill of Iowa, Mrs. Andrew Howatt and Miss Howatt will entertain at cards on Tuesday next.

Mrs. Lafayette Hanchett and daughter have returned from California.

Mrs. Richard Stingley entertained at bridge on Wednesday last.

"How do you know your husband is not a good poker player?" Because," answered young Mrs. Torkins, "no good poker player could be as popular as he is with other poker players."—Washington Star.