

LORD LEVEL.

Lord Level he stood at his castle-gate
Combing his milk-white steed;
When up came Lady Nancy Belle,
To wish her lover good-speed.

"Where are you going, Lord Level?"
she said,

"Oh! where are you going?" said
she;

"I'm going, my Lady Nancy Belle,
Strange countries for to see."

"When will you be back, Lord Level?"
she said;

"Oh! when will you come back?"
said she;

"In a year or two—or three, at the most,

I'll return to my fair Nancy."

But he had not been gone a year and a day,

Strange countries for to see,
When languishing thoughts came into his head,

Lady Nancy Belle he would go see

So he rode and he rode on his milk-
white steed,

Till he came to London town,
And there he heard St. Pancras's bells,

And the people all murmuring round.

"Oh! what is the matter?" Lord Level
he said,

"Oh! what is the matter?" said he;

"A lord's lady is dead," a woman replied,

"And some call her Lady Nancy."

So he ordered the grave to be opened wide,

And the shroud he turned down,
And there he kissed her clay-col-
lips,

Till the tears came trickling down.

Lady Nancy she died as it might be today,

Lord Level he died as tomorrow;

Lady Nancy she died out of pure, pure grief,

Lord Level he died out of sorrow.

Lady Nancy was laid in St. Pancras's church,

Lord Level was laid in the choir;

And out of her bosom there grew a red rose,

And out of her lover's a brier.

They grew, and they grew, to the church-steeple top,

And then they could grow no
higher;

So there they entwined in a true-lover's knot,

For all lovers true to admire,

The Tale of Lord Level.

Lord Level he stood at his own front door,

Seeking the hole for the key;

His hat was wrecked and his trousers bore

A rent across either knee,
When down came the beautiful Lady
Jane

In fair white draperie.

"Oh, where have you been, Lord Lov-
el?" she said;

"Oh, where have you been?" said
she;

"I have not closed an eye in bed,
And the clock has just struck three.

Who has been standing you on your head

In the ash-barrel, pardie?"

"I am not drunk, Lad' Shane," he said.

"And so late it can not be;

The clock struck one as I entered—
I heard it two times or three;

It must be the salmon on which I fed Has been too many for me."

"Go tell your tale, Lord Level, she said,

"To the maritime cavalree,
To your grandmamma of the hoary
head—

To any one but me;
The door is not used to be opened
With a cigarette for a key."

—Anon.

"Have you a fireless cooker at your home?" "Um-m-m, well, something like that; we're afraid to discharge her."—Puck.

love me?" asked old Gotrox. "Oh
