

paigns would result, we believe, in larger patronage, it is always a risk to bring high priced music to Salt Lake. Not that the cultured in this center of art and music and literature love the music less, but that they love the dollar more. Such fall-downs as that of the past week are serious reflections on the city in general, and until this city can give the same support as other western cities in proportion to the length of the engagement, it will be just as well to forget this periodical boast that Salt Lake is a wonderful musical center.

According to Milton Lipman, Harry Joseph ran into a facetious Chinaman during the time he was soliciting funds for the Y. M. C. A.

This particular Chinaman could speak English about as well as anyone else, and was also wise to a few other things. When Joseph entered his place, he said: "John, we want you to give something for the Y. M. C. A. You're a Christian, aren't you?" "Yes," replied the Chinaman, with a twinkle, "but you're not."

Mrs. Wm. McGrath entertained a number of the members of St. Mark's Guild at her home on Monday. Mrs. McGrath was assisted by Mrs. George W. Rose, Mrs. C. D. Moore, Mrs. C. H. Van Armon, Mrs. Witcher Jones, Mrs. Robert Harkness, Mrs. F. L. Oswald, Mrs. George Y. Wallace, Mrs. T. G. Griffin, Mrs. David Taylor, Miss McGrath and Miss Lloyd.

Miss Nellie Lloyd, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Wallace, will leave tomorrow for her home in Montana. Miss Lloyd, who is very popular locally, will be married to E. C. Pennybroker, of Corbin, Montana, early in June.

In honor of Lieutenant Commander Henry A. Pearson, U. S. N., Mrs. R. H. Officer entertained at dinner Monday evening.

Mr. Claude J. Nettleton and his pupils will give a violin recital at the First Methodist Church on Tuesday evening, May 18th.

PESSIMS

By R. W. S.

A rare man is he who can place perfect trust in himself.

Is any force in man so powerful as that which inclines him to do a wrong thing?

The prayer of the few that are not fools runs: "Keep me, O God, from deceiving myself about myself."

The ease with which you can persuade a man to do the thing he wants to do is only exceeded by the alacrity with which he does the thing you are urging him to do and which he wants to do.

For creatures claiming to be guided by reason men must present a sorry spectacle to animals said to be controlled by instinct.

We are the playthings of sentiments, impulses and passions.

All living creatures are content to fill their cause and glorify God—except man. God has to show him.

The best way to help others is to take care of yourself. Not only may you thus avoid cursing the earth by being a parasite, but in some unknown manner you might then have the means and find the disposition to assist others—however unlikely.

How can you give where you do not possess? Nero was the original optimist.

The reason the optimist does not see the hole in the doughnut is because he is mentally blind. If the hole were not there how could he talk of it?

He was a fool who spoke of reason and logic in connection with a political convention.

Consider the wisdom of man. How sorry a plight would be his if he had not designed a devil against whom to charge his misdeeds. Poor devil!

The local branch of the Merrill Patent Furniture Company has been organized, and a practical demonstration of a flat in which one room will serve the purpose of three in a family hotel, will be given in the windows of the Greenwald Furniture Company the coming week. The flat contains an entrance hall, kitchen, bath, and clothes closet, and living room about fourteen feet square. The latter changes instantly to a dining room and then to a bed room, and the patent has met with great success in every city where it has been tried. It is a scheme to save room in apartment houses and family hotels, and eliminate a large part of the work incident to the daily routine of the housewife. The buildings which have so far been built contain from fifty to one hundred apartments, the basement containing a cafe, where it is expected at least half the meals of those who live in the building will be taken.

SPECIALS AT THE LOUVRE.

The table d'hote luncheons and dinners at the Louvre Rathskellar are among the most popular features of the celebrated cafe.

We serve a merchant's lunch from 11:30 A. M. to 2 P. M., every day. The price is forty cents and the lunch is unexcelled by any in the city, in variety, preparation, service and general excellence.

Our table d'hote dinner served from 5:30 to 8 o'clock every evening—the real meal of the day—is enjoyed by connoisseurs who realize how difficult it would be to get such a dinner at the price, had we not made it possible.

Our after theatre specialties include every delicacy in the market east and west, and we wish particularly to call attention to the fact that we can always prepare on short notice for after theatre parties of any number. It is best to reserve your table early in the evening.
