

Social Saunterings

With Marie Doro exploiting "The Morals of Marcus Ordeyne," with "The Blue Mouse," arriving on the scene, and Beryl Hope fussing around on a tiger skin as exploiting Elinor Glyn in her recently remembered story of temperature, people who think the past week has been hot will probably come to the conclusion that it wasn't ever comfortably warm.

Besides, Paine's "Vesuvius" is at Wandamere, and from a fleeting glance at the entire list, it is up to those who are on the go to borrow a few bolts of asbestos, and then make the rounds.

Of course it will not be easy to put the Mouse, the Morals, and "Three Weeks" all in one night, but the engagement will last long enough to make things interesting. Possibly some are not strong enough to include everything in their round-up, but that's another story of the survival of the fittest.

It will be fun to watch the line up of June brides at the free matinee of "Three Weeks" offered by the generous management of the Colonial.

A number have signified their intention of going who from present indications are June brides all right, but totally indifferent as to which June.

The first of the visiting girls to arrive for the summer are Miss Mary Lockridge and Miss Bonita Pettijohn of Kansas City, two charming young ladies who are the guests of Miss Alleen Maclean.

They will be here several weeks and Miss Maclean will introduce them at a tea to be given at her home on Tuesday next in honor of the visitors and Miss Daly.

Important in its interest to their large number of friends in Salt Lake, was the marriage of Miss Marian McGilvray, daughter of Mrs. W. D. McGilvray of Pasadena, California, to O. J. Salisbury of this city, which took place at the home of the bride on Wednesday evening, the Reverend Thomas Ewing Sherman of Chicago officiating.

The bride was attended only by Mrs. Lewis B. McCornick of this city, and Walker Salisbury and Irving Armstrong stood with the groom. The wedding, which was a very beautiful home affair, was attended by a number of Salt Lakeites, as well as a number of intimate friends from Pasadena and Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Salisbury will not arrive here until late in August, and upon their arrival will be at home at the Salisbury residence on East First South.

The local friends of Charles Dickman, the California artist and clubman, will read with interest that he has just added to his other successes a new picture, now hanging in the Del Monte Art Gallery. It is described as a large canvass, entitled "Caught In The Storm Wind," and is described in the most flattering terms by the California critics as a realistic and spectacular piece of work, and he is given particular commendation for refraining from yielding to the usual temptation to exaggerate the fury of the elements.

It was interesting to a number of the friends of the principals at the McGilvray-Salisbury wedding to read a description of the affair in one of the local papers the morning preceding the event. Such advance news is to be commended, but only goes to show the efficiency of the Hearst service.

The next week or two will be replete with graduating exercises, though it is possible that the mothers and fathers and sisters and brothers and the sweet girl graduates themselves will find time to attend the many social affairs which are being arranged, principally among those of the younger set.

The most elaborate affair scheduled for next week is the Daly-Lillard wedding, which will occur at St. Mark's cathedral on Wednesday evening, June 9th. The wedding will take place at 8:30 and immediately following a large reception will be given at the handsome Daly home on Brigham street. Miss Daly will be attended by her sister, Mrs. E. J. Roberts, as matron of honor; Miss Selma Wall as maid of honor, and Miss Alice Wall as bridesmaid. Graham G. Griswold of Portland, Oregon, will be best man for Mr. Lillard, and the ushers will be John Clark, Barry Colding, Jack Lloyd and Albert Daly. Bishop Scanlan will perform the ceremony. A large number of invitations have been issued, and the ceremony will be witnessed by several hundred of the friends of the young people.

The card party for the benefit of St. Mark's Hospital association, which will take place at the Country club on June 14th, promises to be one of real interest, as elaborate preparations are being made by the different committees. Among those ladies who are most actively interested in making the event the success it should be are Mrs. R. C. Gemmell, Mrs. F. S. Bascom, Mrs. Wm.
