The offices are not only a credit to the company, but grace the very fine building they occupy and the city's new business district.

FINE CAMPING PLACE.

A good many people would like to get out of town for a few weeks, but do not know where to go; that is, they do not know where they can go and have green grass and trees and a good place to camp without they select some expensive place.

Such people may be glad to know that right here in the valley, twelve miles from the city, a mile and a half below the mouth of Big Cottonwood, R. Knudsen has a park of fifty acres, with the Cottonwood running through it, lots of trees, lots of grass, cold water, which can be reached in two hours by team or forty minutes by automobile, where all the surroundings are pleasant, where all the usual necessities of life can be obtained cheaply—just a camping place—no beer there, no whiskey, no company except such as one pleases to select—all the comforts of a home if you please to live in a tent and take your tent with you.

Until a railroad is built, people without teams cannot get there, and we suggest to people when they are out driving or out with their autos that they run up and see this place, because it is one of the most beautiful natural parks in the entire valley.

WHEN DO YOU EAT, AND WHERE?

Most people eat every day, some eat three times, some eat four. Whether it's once or four, the best place to lunch, dine or sup is at the Louvre, where, besides table d'hote lunches and dinners, and after-theatre specialties, we have the most up-to-date a la carte bill in the west. We don't depend on the local markets entirely—if we did we could not satisfy our discriminating patronage; but we have standing orders for regular daily and tri-weekly shipments from east and west, bringing all that the seasons afford, and a little bit more.

Where are you going to lunch today? You had better go to the Louvre. Everything to order, and besides we serve a merchants' lunch from 11:30 a. m. to 2 p. m., at 40c the lunch. The table d'hote dinner is equal to that of any city cafe at the price, and at lunch, dinner, and supper, an excellent orchestra is in attendance to enhance the pleasure of your leisure hours. In the cuisine, the service, and general excellence of this cafe, you can realize every want of the discriminating epicure.

THE EFFORT OF EVERY HOSTESS

Is to have her social functions as brilliant and sparkling as she can make them. The table of today presents a dull appearance unless enlivened by Cut Glass and Silver. They are counted the "Hall Mark" of gentility.

We are in our new store at No. 66 Upper Main street, and invite our friends to inspect the newest and prettiest things in fine china, glassware and silverware.

THE EARNING PERIOD.

Of a man's life is his season of plenty—his harvest time. It is then, if ever, that he must lay aside the stores for the winter of his life.

You—what are you doing with the proceeds of your harvest? Do you waste it all, or are you wisely saving a portion? These are pertinent questions—not impertinent. Let us help you to save. Make this bank your granary and keep safe the golden grain of your industry.
