

FINE CAMPING PLACE.

A good many people would like to get out of town for a few weeks, but do not know where to go; that is, they do not know where they can go and have green grass and trees and a good place to camp without they select some expensive place.

Such people may be glad to know that right here in the valley, twelve miles from the city, a mile and a half below the mouth of Big Cottonwood, R. Knudsen has a park of fifty acres, with the Cottonwood running through it, lots of trees, lots of grass, cold water, which can be reached in two hours by team or forty minutes by automobile, where all the surroundings are pleasant, where all the usual necessities of life can be obtained cheaply—just a camping place—no beer there, no whiskey, no company except such as one pleases to select—all the comforts of a home if you please to live in a tent and take your tent with you.

Until a railroad is built, people without teams cannot get there, and we suggest to people when they are out driving or out with their autos that they run up and see this place, because it is one of the most beautiful natural parks in the entire valley.

THE EFFORT OF EVERY HOSTESS

Is to have her social functions as brilliant and sparkling as she can make them. The table of today presents a dull appearance unless enlivened by Cut Glass and Silver. They are counted the "Hall Mark" of gentility.

We are in our new store at No. 66 Upper Main street, and invite our friends to inspect the newest and prettiest things in fine china, glass-ware and silverware.
