was exceptionally successful, and three or four new records were made. Mr. Finn believes that the time is ripe for a big meet in Salt Lake, and that such a meet will draw the motoring enthusiasts from all points in the state, as well as from Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming, and Colorado.

It is hardly probable that many of the local dealers will enter cars in the meet, as it is intended more as an exhibition meet of big eastern racing cars, though three or four races may be arranged open to entry for local cars, and if this is done, some hot contests may be expected, as rivalry is running high and has been all season among several Salt Lake dealers. Ellis Freed made the statement months ago that he could go faster in his six-cylinder Thomas Flyabout than any other car in town. W. F. Dodd, of the Randall-Dodd company, has backed up this statement time and again, while Frank Botterill has declared he will be glad to enter one of his several lines of cars in any sort of a race against the Thomas. The Consolidated Wagon and Machine people claim their Franklins are faster than the Thomas cars, and the Rookledge-Gilmer company are out with a statement now that they can take their four-cylinder American Travelers and go past any car in the city. There are one or two Stearns owners who are anxious to conclude with Ernest Woolley's Locomobile, and in this connection the match race held at Los Angeles the 1th of this month between the Locomobile and Stearns has drawn considerable attention. For the second time the Stearns won a three-hundred-mile race against the Locomobile at Ascot Park, winning by one hundred and forty-five miles. Charles Soles drove the Stearns and W. Orr the Locomobile. The Locomobile, however, broke a crank shaft, an accident which cost Cooney Slaughter, the Los Angeles Locomobile agent, ten thousand dollars, as that was the amount he had posted on the race.

TWENTY DOZEN SOFT SHELL CRABS.

At five o'clock the other evening, we received twenty dozen soft shelled crabs. At midnight they were gone, and they did not walk away unaided. Just one example of the way Salt Lake connoisseurs are taking to the delicacies which we are providing for them.

Not a day arrives but we have something new and tempting to offer bon vivants, and as a result, the lunches, dinners, and after-theatre suppers at the Louvre are constantly crowded.

All year 'round we serve the very finest of steaks, chops, shell fish, game and every delicacy to be had in the local market and from the eastern and western coasts, together with a variety of the finest wines and liquors to be found in the inter-mountain country and mixed drinks unsurpassed in any cafe from San Francisco to New York.

Besides our excellent a la carte service, we serve a regular table d'hote lunch and dinner and are always pleased to assist those who propose to entertain in the arrangement of their menus.

THE LOUVRE RATHSKÜLLER,

E. L. Wille, Manager.
