

Saunterings

Speaking of the Whirl of the Town two or three hundred of our front families and four or five hundred more seemingly enjoyed themselves exceedingly at the dance at Majestic park on Wednesday night.

The affair was a great success and a credit to those who worked so hard to make it what it was. The evening was perfect and the opposition dances announced for the same night were a help, rather than a hindrance, owing to the fact that they kept a number away who were really not desired.

Following the grand march, a picture was taken of those who participated and it is too bad that it was not a moving picture so that those who were not present might also be handed a laugh.

A miniature theatre with full equipment is to be a feature of the arrangements of D. C. Jackling's apartments in Millionaire's Wing of the St. Francis hotel. This news is equivalent to an announcement that Mr. Jackling proposes to indulge in theatricals for the amusement of his friends when his elaborate apartments are open next September in the California metropolis. The original plans included a miniature ball room but Mr. Jackling has instructed the St. Francis management to go its architect one better and provide a stage with a full assortment of shifting scenery and appropriate drop curtains, all of which means an additional $5,000. Mr. Jackling arrived in Salt Lake on Thursday, accompanied by Galen L. Stone of the firm of Hayden, Stone and Company, who is remaining here a few days for the purpose of inspecting the operations at the Utah Copper company and other local enterprises in which he is interested.

The opening of the Hotel Utah roof garden, which was planned for Saturday night, May 30th, has been postponed to Monday night, June 1st, owing to the large number of affairs scheduled for Memorial day. The change will undoubtedly suit the convenience of a large number of those whose arrangements for the holiday conflicted, and it is thought that the June opening will be even more popular than the one originally planned.

C. W. Bechtol who has been away for a number of years recently returned and will reside here in the future. Mr. Bechtol is at the Hotel Utah and while his immediate plans are indefinite, his friends are urging him to practice his profession here, which is that of teaching all of the modern dances. Mr. Bechtol has spent the winter in southern California where his clientele has comprised the most exclusive society people of Los Angeles and Pasadena. He is an expert in his business teaches all of the new ballroom steps, and Salt Lakers will be fortunate if they are able to secure his services as he was an assistant of Maurice and is prepared to teach the new steps made popular by that exponent of dancing.

An elaborate tea was given at the McMillan home on South Temple street on Thursday by Mrs. H. G. McMillan and Mrs. Charles L. Smith in honor of Mrs. Raymond S. Masson and Miss Mildred McMillan. It was attended by two hundred of their friends.

Assisting during the afternoon were Mrs. W. H. Alexander, Mrs. Lewis A. Jeffs, Mrs. H. J. Diniany, Mrs. George P. Holman, Mrs. Duncan MacVichie, Mrs. Thomas Kearns, Mrs. Ezra Thompson, Mrs. J. Elliott Clark, Mrs. George N. Lawrence, and the Misses Margaret Walker,

Margaret McClure, Virginia Beatty and Isabel Shiffer.
