

because in the extent of its indulgence it has not varied greatly from a dozen other places in the town which are seemingly run with the full knowledge of the police.

But to have every daily paper wake up to the conditions existing at this resort all of a sudden is quite a remarkable coincidence. In November, December, January and February, and after that, Goodwin's Weekly called particular attention to the flagrant violations of the law in regard to restaurants, rooming houses and cafes specializing in this particular instance and nothing was said or done about it. But now the four daily papers have gone to the extreme in calling the attention of the public to the fact that the law is being violated on South State street and we cannot understand it unless somebody has been seen.

REPUBLICANS MAKE MERRY

Republican office-holders, republican office seekers, and more important than all these—republican workers, turned out in great numbers to attend the second "speechless smoker" of the season with the Young Men's Republican Club, acting as host. The event was held in the Auditorium and there was something stirring all the time. Speeches and candidates were tabooed, or rather, we should, that the latter were allowed to come in the door, but in no sense were they permitted to show their wares. All in all, it was the biggest and best gathering of wide-awake Republican workers that has been held for many a year.

The management of the club furnished plenty of entertainment and refreshments for all who were present. The program of events was unusual, both in point of quantity and quality. One of the features was the singing of the five young ladies from Maxim's cafe. The ladies made a distinct hit. Then too, the songs rendered by Messrs. Frank Kuhn, Joe Thompson and Matt Hanlon found favor with the big audience. Sid Clawson and George Margetts, both old-time favorites, put over some mighty clever burlesque, and were encored again and again. Harry Joseph presided at the piano and kept things stirring. Parley Jenson was responsible for a burlesque on a well-known local Democratic politician that convulsed the crowd with laughter. C. W. Meakin indulged in some original story-telling, and the Poulton and Evans quartets sang popular and old-time songs in pleasing fashion.

Besides the songs, the music and the story-telling, several athletic events were held. Fred Crabbe made things interesting for Joe Thomas in a wrestling match. Short boxing matches were staged by the Rowan boys, Bob Moore, J. Wilson and "Battling" Travis. Each bout was short but lively. And all the while this somewhat varied and diversified program was being rendered. Al. Hamlin and his associates were presiding at the counter and serving plenty to eat and drink.

It was certainly a red letter event for the party. Everybody got together and mixed. At least a hundred or more Republicans were here from the country districts, and all in all, there were considerably more than a thousand in attendance. President Morris and his associate officers of the club are to be congratulated upon the success of the evening.

HARRIMAN AGENTS COMING

Yellowstone Park will be the objective point of the ticket agents of the Union Pacific Railroad company the latter part of June. They will spend more or less time in Salt Lake coming and going and will be given a thorough insight into the natural advantages and enterprises of the west. The Union Pacific plan for the travel of these men is to obtain for Salt Lake, Idaho, and the Yellowstone Park a publicity that can be gained in no other way, and it is up to Salt Lake and every one who has the interest of the city at heart to do all they can to make their stay exactly what it should be. The party will include every agent of every Harriman line who can get away at this time, and will undoubtedly result in a great deal of benefit to the west in general and this city in particular.

TYPEWRITING CONTEST

The annual typewriting contest in this state will be held in Pantages theatre on June 15th, preceding the first evening's performance and if last year's contest is to be a criterion it will pack the popular house. Seven contests have already been arranged for and will include representatives of nine western states. Mr. C. E. Corey, who has the contest in charge, is working hard to make this the most interesting event of the kind ever held in the state, and judging from his past performances he will have no trouble in doing so. The eastern writers will arrive here in a day or two, and the local contestants intimate that they have a surprise in store for them and that the championship will remain in this state.

THE "MOVIES" AND THE EYES

The injurious effect on the eyes of the swiftly moving images of the cinematograph has been frequently discussed. It has been shown that a number of disorders of the eyes are caused by this form of entertainment, says the Journal of the American Medical Association. In Massachusetts a five-minute intermission is required between reels so as to lessen the eye-strain. One
