Rarus, Jr., Among California Horses.

FOR A VETERINARY SCHOOL.

Game Matters in the Territory—Baseball News—Jay Eye See's Effort Against Time-Current News.

The ominous silence which has prevailed ever since Charlie Carrington departed for California with his $4,000 purchase, augurs ill for the success of his venture. Beyond a brief squib which was clipped from a San Francisco paper some time ago, and which recorded the melancholy fact that Rarus, Jr., had been distanced in the first race for which she was entered, sporting circles are all in the dark as to Mr. Carrington's movements or projects. A Herald reporter found one man in the course of a run about town on Thursday who had received a letter from Rarus, Jr., and the meagre details which follow were gleaned from this communication: "There is no doubt," said our informant, "that Charlie has been out-classed. You see he entered in a good many races, from the 2:35 class downward, and all the horses he had to cope with were able to beat his class every time. Rarus, Jr., made 2:31 here, but going into a new climate and altitude have no doubt made all the difference in the world to him. As a result, he has made no respectable record in any of the races in which he has figured. Some one has lost a good deal of money—I hear about $3,000. The worst of it is that Rarus is still down for the Sacramento races, in classes that I fear he has no better chance in. But hope he may be picking up in the training. Charlie is no doubt giving him." Another gentleman informed us that Mr. Carrington has no interest in his own in Rarus, Jr., but that he is merely acting for Mr. Frank Armstrong, who paid the $4,000 purchase money, and who has put up thus far all that has been required for the San Francisco trip.

A. C. Young, Veterinary Surgeon. Mr. A. C. Young, or as he is better known among his friends and the profession "Bert," leaves for the University of the State of New York Thursday to enter the veterinary department of that institution. Bert has long been an enthusiast on all matters pertaining to horse flesh, and he has lately felt a strong "calling" for the profession he has decided to enter; we think with Mr. Young that there is an extensive field in Utah for a skilled veterinary surgeon, and we think with the numerous horsemen who have encouraged him in his decision, that Mr. Young is just the man to fill the place; he will be absent about two years.

Game Matters. A reporter called on Friday at the office of Messrs. Williams and Young, who are among the most prominent of those interested in enforcing the game laws of the Territory to enquire if there was anything new in relation to game matters. "Nothing," replied Mr. Williams, "except that we have written Sheriff Turner, asking his co-operation in enforcing the law down his way. We learn that night shooting is carried on to some extent south of here, and as that is a violation of the recent game law, we are determined to stop it." Mr. Young stated that the Protective Association, through Dr. Richards and himself, had plastered the Territory from one end to the other with copies of the game laws, and that several rewards had been offered from private pockets for the arrest of any persons violating the provisions of the law. The only game sacred to the hunter now is the wild duck, and as they are scarce on that coast off tomorrow, the market will soon doubtless be overloaded with this species of water fowl.

The World Over.

Back Ewing, of the New Yorks, and champion base ball player of the United States, will positively visit California upon the termination of the National League season.

Rolla Tibbets, of the Blue Club, is the most graceful runner, as well as the fastest, who appears on the diamond. He is a great favorite with spectators and players alike.

The Cincinnati Base Ball Club, of the American League, visits San Francisco some time this fall. Could they not be induced to stop over for one game at least in this city?

Sunday is the gala base ball day in San Francisco; this afternoon the Occidentals of that city put their full nine upon the diamond for the first time during the present season.

Each of Tibbets's strides measured 5 1/2 feet in the foot race on Friday; his time was 11 seconds, which for running on a circular track is considered almost professional time.

The latest invention in the way of a flying target is the new "Peoria blackbird." It is claimed by some sportsmen to be superior to anything in that line ever manufactured. When struck one shot will break one in a dozen pieces.

Bicycling in America is said to be the only sport in which the amateurs have beaten the records made by professionals. Unfortunately the system of timing bicycle races in this country differs from that pursued by English "clockers."

The Blues have evidently not yet had enough of it. A match is on the tapis for next Saturday with the Reds, for $25 a side and gate money. Tibbets and Brown (an employee of Auerbach Bros.) will probably run a foot race on the Sunday.

The attendance at the Boston-Providence games, (seventeen, including a tie game) was 63,821. There were nine games in Providence, attended by 29,789, and eight in Boston, attended by 33,952. The Boston's share of the receipts was sufficient to pay the salaries of all the players and attaches for the season.

At the Crystal Palace, London, Henry J. Webb, champion of the London Bicycle Club, rode 100 miles on a tricycle in 4 hours, 43 minutes and 32 1/2 seconds, beating all previous records on 25 miles upward, and surpassing the 100-mile record by no less than 40 minutes and 13 seconds.

The attention of the Blues and Ogden club is directed to the following: At Lake people writing to Butte and occasional items appearing in the Salt Lake papers proceed on the assumption that the Salt Lake baseball club has sent a challenge to the Butte nine. We are authorized to state that no challenge has come to this club to play in Salt Lake. If that club ever at one time was lost and they will please send another, which if it comes will be promptly attended to.—Butte Miner, 9th.

Five thousand people assembled in Prospect Park, New York, on August 23th, to see Jay Eye See attempt to beat his record of 2:10. The famous little gelding was given several trials amid tremendous excitement, but the nearest he was able to approach his previous time was 2:12 1/2; Phyllis made the mile in 2:17 1/2 on the same day. A correspondent writes of the occasion as follows: "All kinds of excuses were made for the little brown gelding, but the truth of the matter really is that the horse was not equal to the task, and the best he could do was to cover his mile in 2:12 1/2." The Prospect Park track was in excellent condition, although in the opinion of many experts it was too fine, or at least it had been scraped until nearly all the loam had been removed. It was rumored about several days before the trot that the horse was not doing well, and that he was in the hands of a veterinarian, who was trying to keep him in condition until after he had made his greatest effort. There may have been some truth in this report, but the horse could not have been so badly off when he was able to trot as fast as he did.

How it is proposed to settle and make profitable large sections of country now unproductive.—The men who have taken it in hand.—The money and the powerful corporation behind the movement.

Every year witnesses an increase in the volume of emigration westward, and thousands upon thousands of sturdy men and women have gone on through a territory vastly superior to that in which they finally located, with no more care or observation en route than if in balloons and sailing through clouds. They have gone on and on, often far beyond available markets, and into the wild lands with no company other than their own frequently home-sick selves. Others will follow, and the throng will not perceptibly less for years to come. Meaningless not a few of those already settled are anything but satisfied—the rigors of a severe climate, the frequency of terrific storms, long hauls to market, and other disadvantages naturally creating desires to get back into a country where these things do not operate against general prosperity. A time possibly favorable to emigration is more propitious stage for eastern lines to enter into emigration measures than now, and as usual, the Baltimore & Ohio takes the initiative. The corporation has among its principal stockholders and officials energetic and far-seeing men, realizing the importance of the situation, have associated themselves in the organization of an emigration company with other gentlemen of undoubted prominence in business circles, whose success in great commercial undertakings stands as the strongest possible guarantee of the future of the new enterprise. It has already been incorporated under the laws of the State of Maryland, and with a capital stock of one million dollars the "Baltimore & Ohio Emigration Company" will be in a grand position not only to advance its own interests but those of the railroad company and the States through which it runs. The Board of Directors is a strong one indeed, comprising Mr. John W. Garrett, Mr. Robert Garrett, and Mr. Samuel Williams, President of the Baltimore & Ohio R. R., ex-U. S. Senator Henry G. Davis, of West Virginia, President W. Va. Central and Pittsburg R. R.; T. Harrison Garrett, the well-known banker of Baltimore; Mr. William F. Burns, President Eastway Savings Bank of Baltimore; and Hon. Ferdinand C. Laubach, Mayor of Baltimore. The objects of the company are many and of the most practical character, to wit: To induce increased immigration to the South and Southwest, particularly along the lines of the Baltimore and Ohio Company, and country tributary thereto; to which end, to acquire by purchase or otherwise, the condition of lands now substantially in the wilderness and difficult of disposal at remunerative prices. To market, work, let, lease, settle, improve, cultivate, or otherwise dispose of lands and hereditaments in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia or elsewhere in the United States, and generally to develop the resources of such lands by building, planting, clearing and otherwise dealing with the same. To stock such lands, and to breed, graze, fatten and deal in cattle, horses, sheep and produce. To buy, or otherwise acquire and make, provide and carry on, use and work, railways, tramways, roads and other works which may be deemed expedient for the purposes of this company, and to contribute to the cost of making, providing, carrying on and working the same. To receive and take money on deposit, at interest or otherwise, on the guarantee of the company or otherwise, to raise money in such manner as the company shall think fit, and in particular by the issue of bonds and debentures charged upon all or any of the company's property (both present and future), including its uncollected capital. To make, accept, endorse and execute promissory notes, bills of exchange and other negotiable instruments. To purchase, or otherwise acquire, and undertake, all or any part of the business, property, tenure and liabilities of any person or company carrying on any business which this company is authorized to carry on, or possessed of property suitable for the purposes of this company. To enter into partnership, or in any arrangement for sharing profits, union of interests, or co-operation with any person or company carrying on, or about to carry on, any business which this company is authorized to carry on, or any business or transaction capable of being conducted so as, directly or indirectly, to benefit this company; or to take, or otherwise acquire, and hold, shares, stocks or debentures in any such company. To cooperate with any other company having objects wholly or in part similar to those of this company. To sell, lease, mortgage or dispose of the undertaking of this company, or any part thereof, for such consideration as this company may think fit; and, in particular, for shares, debentures or securities of any other company having objects wholly or in part similar to those of this company. To invest the capital of the company for any of the purposes aforesaid, and in developing and improving, or adding to the value of, the lands or other property from time to time acquired by the company, and to make, maintain and use such works as the company may think necessary or expedient for any of the purposes aforesaid. To acquire by grant, purchase, or otherwise, concessions of any rights, property or privileges from any government (State, Territorial or municipal), and to perform and fulfill the terms and conditions thereof. To do all such other things as the company may think incidental or conducive to the attainment of any of the above objects, or all of them, or to the conversion or disposition of any security or property held by the company.

Representing, as this company does, large oceanic and land transportation interests, and having by reason of their extensive European agencies and corporate organizations, unequalled facilities for selecting, transporting and locating the very best class of immigrants from France, Switzerland, Germany, Norway, Sweden, etc., and such as, from their previous habits, education and pursuits, would be best qualified for settlers in the States named, it is the desire to submit to the owners of lands contiguous to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad system propositions looking to a land-pool, which must aggregate not less than 60,000 acres, the value of the acreage put in. In order that the interests of the different parties may be equalized and determined, the lands pooled shall be surveyed into tracts of twenty-five acres, or more, with reference to a proper distribution of water, timber and cultivable lands, and shall be valued by a disinterested board of appraisers, consisting of not less than three persons, competent in such matters, and entirely independent of, and unconnected with, the interest involved, to be nominated by those joining in this plan, and the pooled interests of each land owner shall be based upon this valuation. Certificates of this interest will be issued to the several owners in exchange for the lands which will be placed in the hands of a Trust Company, or trustees mutually selected. So soon as the trustees are in possession of these lands and can pass title for any tract that may be sold, the Baltimore and Ohio Emigration Company will proceed, with the aid of the foreign immigration agencies associated with it and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, to secure the most thrifty and desirable immigrants, and such as are best adapted to the peculiarities of soil and climate of the tracts to be settled, and transport and locate them upon such lands within a reasonable period, and without expense to the land owners. In order to secure the best kind of immigrants, provision will be made for furnishing houses, tools, cattle, etc., to the immigrants it settles on said lands, upon reasonable terms, so as to enable them to make a good start.

This is a sketch of a plan which, it is believed, will readily command itself to favorable consideration. It needs no argument to show it carried out, the great advantages which will result to all concerned, particularly to those who own large tracts of land now substantially in the wilderness and difficult of disposal at remunerative prices. Under the programme proposed such lands can be sold, populated and improved without any trouble or expense to their owners other than the appropriation of 25 per cent. of the net proceeds, which, it is believed, would be almost immediately more than covered by the enhanced value of such adjacent tracts as they might reserve for private disposition. The history of settlements in the West and Northwest shows that where land companies with sufficient resources have been properly managed, under well-ordered systems, the result almost invariably has been large profits and benefits to all concerned. While the conditions under which settlement must be made in the above-named States are essentially different from those encountered by colonization societies in the West, it is believed that the proposed plan can be started under such favorable auspices as will insure equally favorable results.
