ATTORNEY SEEKS HEIRS TO ESTATE

Property in Holland Worth Over Billion Dollars to Be Distributed.

San Francisco, Dec. 2.—On a search which is taking him to the four corners of the earth for the heirs of an ancient estate in Holland, said to amount to more than a billion dollars, Henry Loeffler, an Austrian attorney, arrived here today from Central America on the steamship City of Sydney. He has been touring the southern countries for months where he had hoped to find trace of some of the ancestors of a merchant prince by the name of Webber who disinherited his daughter two hundred and fifty years ago because she disregarded his wishes and married beneath her station. Loeffler will go from here to Java where he had heard there are other heirs.

The attorney who has been making his United States headquarters in Omaha, says there are 490 heirs in this country. He says the vast properties and moneys which have been accumulating since 1675 cannot be divided until 1100 necessary heirs are established.

The Holland government, it is said, is interested in the search which Loeffler and other agents are making.

new line was made by F. H. Knickerbocker, assistant general manager of the Oregon Short Line. Mr. Knickerbocker says that a right of way is now being secured from Idaho Falls to the first crossing to the south on the Snake river. As soon as this and other portions of the right of way are secured and the weather permits, actual construction work will be started.

The present line from Idaho Falls to St. Anthony is an almost straight east and west line, piercing the center of the valley. The new belt line will form a loop, taking in both the northern and southern portions of the valley. Beginning at Idaho Falls, the line will take the present Yellowstone branch route to Lincoln, where the sugar factory is located. At this point it will turn south to Iona, where it is to again turn east. It will then go in a general easterly direction to a point a few miles south of St. Anthony, where it will turn north, going easterly into that town.

Leaving St. Anthony for the northern swing the loop will follow the north fork of the Snake river on the north side of the stream through Elgin, Edmonas and Piano, crossing the stream a few miles east of Lewistown. Passing through Grant it will turn south at Colman and enter the Yellowstone branch at Ucon and will then follow the present line into Idaho Falls.

One of the most important things to be accomplished by the new line will be the opening up of the rich territories north and south of the Snake river valley. Heretofore on account of the long haul to the Yellowstone branch, these localities have not developed rapidly. The southern part of the branch will pierce a rich dry farm country, while the north branch will pass through a most fertile irrigated section.

DISCOVERER OF GILSONITE DEAD

Salt Lake, Dec. 3.—Samuel H. Gilson, whose name will live long as the discoverer of gilsonite, died early yesterday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Kate McCarthy, 860 Lincoln avenue. Mr. Gilson was taken ill on Thanksgiving day. His usual good health deserted him and he suffered from a complete nervous breakdown. He failed to rally and the end came quietly yesterday morning.

The venerable prospector had been identified with the growth and development of Utah for nearly half a century. He was of a very studious mind and delved much into scientific research. His discovery of the mineral, gilsonite, was a great contribution to the world. Gilsonite is a rock asphalt that is known wherever good roads are built. It was first found and its use made known by Samuel Gilson in the mountains of Uintah county. It is used extensively in coating wooden utensils.

Mr. Gilson was born in Springfield, Ill., on May 28, 1836. He spent his boyhood in Illinois and as a young man was lured to the west by dreams of gold and adventure. He arrived in Utah nearly fifty years ago. He was one of the first non-Mormons to arrive in this valley after the pioneers had settled here.

In the stirring times that marked the early history of Utah, Mr. Gilson served as a deputy United States marshal for several years. He was one of the deputies under the late Colonel William Nelson, who died recently. His record as a public official is one of resolute courage and clear judgment.

After leaving the service of the government, Mr. Gilson became a mining prospector and discovered several veins of ore that were afterwards developed into rich mines. It was during his prospecting days that Mr. Gilson discovered a rich ledge of rock asphalt in Uintah. The ledge had been passed time and again by other prospectors of this undiscovered mineral and almost instantly became convinced of its usefulness. He interested others in his find and in his view of its usefulness. As a result, gilsonite is now widely mined throughout the mineral belt, and is used all over the world.

For many years Mr. Gilson devoted much of his attention, and of late years all of his time, to a study of aeronautics. He was regarded as a master of the science of sustained flight and at the time of his death was planning a series of experiments that he believed would revolutionize the art of flying.

Mr. Gilson studied both heavier-than-air and lighter-than-air craft and in the course of his studies constructed many models. His experiments were with a view to constructing a craft that would with reasonable safety convey a score or more of passengers from place to place on a definite schedule. In his study of aeronautics, Mr. Gilson also devoted much attention to a study of astronomy and of air currents at different levels.

Mr. Gilson is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice Gilson, who was visiting in Los Angeles at the time of Mr. Gilson's death, and eight children—James J. Gilson of Halley, Idaho; Mrs. Hattie Stewart of Portland, Ore.; Miss Alice Gilson and Mrs. Cora Timmock of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Kate McCarthy, Mrs. Clara Randolph, Miss Eva Gilson and Miss Mercedes Gilson, all of Salt Lake.

NEW RAILROAD TO BE BUILT IN IDAHO

Plans and the right of way map for the new belt line which will be constructed by the Oregon Short Line between Idaho Falls, and St. Anthony, Idaho, were completed yesterday by the chief engineer's office, and announcement was made for the first time that the company is engaged in procuring the rights of way and that work on the line will be started as soon as the weather permits.

The belt line will be eighty miles in length and will cost at least $1,500,000. The plan for constructing such a line to pierce the rich country north and south of the Snake river valley center has been under consideration by the officials for some time, but definite arrangements were deferred until Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Union Pacific system, made his recent western trip. Judge Lovett, after going over the proposed plan, approved it.

Announcement of the details of the

LOGAN WATER IS KEPT PURE

Forest Supervisor C. G. Smith of the Cache national forest with headquarters at Logan is on a detail in the Ogdens office of the service. He brought here an interesting account of the results accomplished by the city board of health and the forest service in maintaining sanitary conditions in Logan canyon, which is the source of the city water supply of Logan. There is a public sentiment in favor of proper care of the drainage area of the stream, he says, and but little land has passed into private ownership, which simplifies administration.

The board of health uses its patrolman within ten miles of the intake of the city water supply. It has posted and maintains notices giving instructions in sanitary measures. These are in the main in reference to the disposal of waste matter and prohibition of convalescents from certain diseases, as the typhoid, from the canyon. Campers are required to maintain their tents and cooking at a reasonable distance from the river. Camping in the canyon is free. Special use permits for summer homes are issued by the forest service to those who desire to develop hitherto unused places in the canyon, and suitable sanitary rules are made a part of the permit.

The service posts its own sanitary notices, restricts the trailing of live stock, and declines to list lands for entry near the intake of the water supply. As a tangible result of this co-operation typhoid has been nearly wiped out of existence, so far as the water supply is concerned, and the city officials and forest officers are highly pleased with the result, says Mr. Smith.

The most gratifying feature of the movement has been the intelligent assistance of the citizens of Logan and visitors to the canyon generally, who realize the importance of proper sanitation, and who desire to keep the canyon in its present state of attractiveness.

BOYS SHOULD KNOW MILITARY HISTORY

Washington, Dec. 3.—There is pressing need for the disclosure to the youth of the country for facts regarding its military history in the opinion of Secretary Garrison who has set out in the wake of the subject pointedly to a score of principals in military institutes who had invited him to address their conference. Most children are taught that the average American as a soldier is a match for half a dozen men of other nationalities, and that he can conquer the world without any military training or preparation.

The military instructors who are following in the wake of the college professors and the great agricultural schools in the general movement to encourage the military training of their pupils have requested Secretary Garrison to aid them in preparing courses of instruction and the secretary has undertaken to do so.

SCHOOL TO TEACH SELF-GOVERNMENT

New York, N. Y., Dec. 3.—On January 1, 40,000 children of the lower east side will vote in the first primary election of a "juvenile democracy," which is being organized by the East Side Protective association to teach the future citizens of that section of the city self government and politics. The polling places will be at the public schools and assemblymen, congressmen, mayors and commissioners of fire, health and street cleaning and other municipal departments, will be nominated.

Each voter will be supplied with blank pieces of paper on which he will write his choice for each office. There will be no party emblems on the ballots, assuring an "unbossed" primary.

The general election will be held on February 12, Lincoln's birthday.

when candidates leading in the primary will be voted on.

Girls Demand Franchise.

As soon as they learned of the organization the girls of the Washington Irving high school sent a note to Harry S. Schacht, superintendent of the East Side Protective association, demanding the right to vote, declaring that "mere boys should not have the franchise to themselves." When the girls from other east side schools joined in the demand for the franchise, Mr. Schacht decided to have two divisions to the new republic, one for boys and one for girls.

The girls will elect their own officers on February 22, Washington's birthday, and then establish a republic similar in every way to that of the boys.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—The middle eastern states, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia contributed more recruits to the navy in the last five months than any other section of the country. The enlistments from that section numbered 1,984, or 25 per cent of the total. The central states, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and West Virginia came next with 1,521, or 21 per cent and in order came the far western states, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Washington, Oregon and California, with 1,179 or 15 per cent; the middle western states, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, with 772 or 10 per cent, and finally, the New England district with 699 enlistments, or 8 1/2 per cent.

CONGRESSMEN FACE ANOTHER TROUBLE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—Already deprived of their mileage allowance for this session of congress, members of the house are now confronted with another trouble, the question of deduction of the income tax from their salaries as congressmen.

Sergeant-at-Arms Gordon has asked the treasury department for instructions on the subject.

Whether deductions will be made from future mileage allowances of congress also will be determined. The report of the sergeant-at-arms for the year ending Monday, as laid before the house by Speaker Clark, showed that there had been paid out during that period, $4,118,000 in salaries, and mileage.

DISTILLERY PLANT FORFEITED TO U. S.

Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 3.—In the case of the United States vs. the Farmington distillery, Judge W. H. Pope in the federal court yesterday ordered the distillery forfeited to the United States. The plant is worth about $5000, including stock on hand. The forfeiture is an aftermath of the conviction last week of James T. Fay, former manager, for attempting to defraud the government out of internal revenue tax.
