The Medici, Normandy and Oriental Collars—Recipes for Griddle Cakes That May Be Depended On—Buttermilk Pancakes—Menu for Tuesday—Recipe for Yorkshire Pudding.

SOME DELICIOUS GRIDDLE CAKES

The following recipes are to be entirely relied upon:

Corneal cakes are delicious from this formula: Take one pint of yellow cornmeal, two eggs, one heaping teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, two tablespoonfuls of molasses and two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder.

Beat the eggs, yolks and whites separate. Sift the salt and baking powder, with the cornmeal and flour, into a large bowl, ready for adding to the mixture of molasses, butter and yolks of the eggs, which should be stirred to a cream first. Next add the milk, stirring it through, then stir in the meal and flour, a little at a time, and last of all, whip the whites of the eggs, which must be beaten to a froth, through the mixture. Bake on a hot griddle, which has been greased well with a piece of larding pork.

Serve on hot plates. These cakes are wholesome and delicious. They may be made with sour milk and a teaspoonful of soda instead of sweet milk and baking powder.

Flannel Cakes (made with yeast)—One quart milk, four eggs, one dessertspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of melted butter, flour enough to make a rather thin batter, one small cake of yeast, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, added just before baking.

Beat the eggs and butter to a cream, then stir in the milk and salt. Add the flour a little at a time, stirring it to a smooth consistency, then stir in the yeast, which must be dissolved in warm water just enough to cover it.

Let the batter stand in a big bowl in a warm place for three or four hours, until it is light and foamy, then beat it down till quite smooth, add a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in hot water. Stir it thoroughly, then add the sugar and two tablespoonfuls of molasses and bake the cakes on a hot griddle.

Flannel Cakes (without yeast)—One quart of flour, a teaspoonful of salt, two generous teaspoonfuls of baking powder sifted together, three eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately; two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one quart of rich milk.

To mix stir the yolks of the eggs and sugar to a cream, then add the milk and stir it well through, next the flour, a little at a time, beating and stirring it briskly to keep it from lumping.

Last of all, whip the whites of the eggs through the mixture, and bake on a hot greased griddle.

Buttermilk Pancakes—Beat two eggs, whites and yolks separate. Mix the yolks well with two tablespoonfuls of molasses or one heaping tablespoonful of sugar, a tablespoonful of melted butter and a teaspoonful of salt. Add a half cup of buttermilk or clabbered milk, which is better than buttermilk. Stir it well through, then dissolve a teaspoonful of baking soda, commonly known as bicarbonate of soda, in a very little hot water and stir it through the mixture until it foams. Last of all, add a quart of flour, a little at a time, and bake the cakes on a hot griddle slightly greased with larding pork.

Buckwheat Cakes—First of all they must be made with yeast. They must be mixed with Indian meal and a little wheat flour, as buckwheat is too heavy a flour to be used alone.

Do not put too much grease in the griddle when making any kind of cakes.

DRY-CLEANING AT HOME.

If the winter's party dresses are sadly the worse for wear, too fragile for the washtubs, and too good to throw away, try this method of cleaning them: Partly fill a large tub with hot water, and into it set a smaller tub of gasoline. Renew the hot water several times until the gasoline is well heated. Fill another basin with French chalk, or, if you cannot get that, use flour. Soak the dress in gasoline, then pat the soiled parts with the chalk or flour; dip again into the gasoline, which you should renew as fast as it becomes clouded with dirt. Hang the dress on the line to air, shake well and brush. Do this outdoors, or in a room without fire or a flame light, as it is dangerous to work with gasoline where there is either.

A faded straw hat seems hopeless, but you can easily clean it by applying a thick paste made by adding lemon juice to powdered sulphur. Dry each side of the hat in the sunshine for 30 minutes. Then brush thoroughly, and the straw will look fresh and clean.

Yorkshire Pudding.

One-half pound of flour, 1 or 2 eggs, 1 pint of milk, a pinch of salt and a little dripping. Mix the flour and salt in a basin, making a hole in the center. Break the eggs in another dish and add to the flour. Then put half the milk to it gradually, stirring until it is smooth, and beat well. Add the remainder of the milk in the same way. Let stand an hour, if possible, before cooking. Just cover the bottom of the baking tin with hot fat from the meat, pour the batter in and bake in a quick oven.

THREE SORTS OF COLLARS.

Three sorts of collars are much in vogue this spring. One of them is the familiar Oriental collar which falls away from the shoulders and may be put on either as a straight piece or with shirring. So loose is it that with it must always be worn a closely-fitted inner collar, with some blouse or gowns, a chemise or blouse.

The Medici collar, friend of the thin-throated woman, is second on the list of fashionable collars and may be made as tall and as wide-spreading as the individual wearer decides to have it. It is most picturesque when it stops just in front of the ears, and it is most becoming in transparent materials relieved with the slenderest line of fur.

Normandy collars are the rage among neckwear models and very smart they are on tailored frocks, blouses and waistcoats. The "Normandy" is a high standing affair having two sharp points that stand out from under the earlobes.

CHURCH CORNERSTONE LAID.

Pocatello, Idaho, April 12.—The cornerstone for the new brick and stone Catholic church on the east side of Pocatello was laid this afternoon at 4 o'clock with appropriate ceremonies. The site is on North Seventh street, three blocks from Center street. The Rev. Father Van der Donck officiated in the absence of the bishop and conducted the impressive dedication ceremonies. Addresses were also made by Mayor Theodore Turner, the Hon. D. Worth Clark and President Miles F. Reed. Over 1000 people witnessed the ceremonies. Father Baudouin closed with a short address and benediction. Enough property has been secured in this locality to provide for a Catholic college at Pocatello which will be established within a few years.

A MODISH SUIT.

The harmony of line is carefully studied in this design. The edges of the tunics and of the coat have a slight dip in the back and the coat is flared a little.

The material is deep orange color with white facings on the sailor collar and pointed cuffs, touches of black are given by the velvet ribbon tie and the cord and tassel ornaments.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Ogden Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This Ogden citizen testified long ago. Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit. The facts are now confirmed. Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms a convincing proof of merit. James Rennie, retired grocer, 2974 Washington Ave., Ogden, Utah, says: "For nearly five years I have been a sufferer from a constant pain across the small of my back and in my sides. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and highly colored. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at McIntyre's Drug Store, went to the seat of the trouble, curing me of the terrible backache and making my kidneys normal. Since then I have induced many of my friends to try Doan's Kidney Pills."

A SECOND STATEMENT.

On February 24, 1913, Mr. Rennie said: "I am never without Doan's Kidney Pills and I find that they give me strength and keep my kidneys in order after all other remedies fail. You can continue using my endorsement. I can't say too much in their praise." Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Rennie had. SUDDEN DEATH OF SALT LAKE MAN

Salt Lake, Utah, April 13.—Axel Nelson, foreman of the tire repair department of the Austin Tire and Rubber company, and a valued employee of the firm for the past two years, was found dead in his room at 412 B. & S. court, at 2:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The cause and manner of his death are mysterious to his friends. It is probable that an autopsy will be held today.

Nelson left the home of a friend between 11 and 11:30 o'clock Saturday night, apparently in the best of health and disposition. He was a strong, well built man, and had never been ill since he came here from Denver two years ago. C. L. Beck, at whose home Nelson roomed, said neither he nor the members of his family heard Nelson come in. Shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon they became alarmed because the young man had not arisen, and the door was battered down. Nelson was found dead. There were absolutely no signs of violence or any indication that any crime could have been the cause of his death. The room was in perfect order. Furthermore, R. M. Austin, his employer, said that he knew of nothing which would cause Nelson to commit suicide. He knew of no heart trouble or other illness that might have resulted fatally. He, as well as others who knew Nelson, were at a loss to account for the sudden death.

Nelson's body was first removed to the undertaking parlors of the Qualtrough-Alcott company, and later to those of Eber W. Hall, Nelson's father, who resides in Bird Island, Minn., has been informed of his son's death.

R. M. Austin was deeply shocked by the news of the death when he returned from Ogden early last evening. "I cannot account for it," he said. "Nelson was a steady and very temperate young man. He was a valuable man in our establishment. I never have known him to be ill or to have spoken of any illness. He was always apparently in the very best of health."

M'MAHON MAY LOSE ARM

Pocatello, Idaho, April 12.—Fire Chief John MacMahon, who was shot twice day before yesterday by Allen Trapp, will no doubt recover, but will probably lose his right arm at the shoulder.

CHURCH CROWDED AT ALL SERVICES ON EASTER DAY

The program as announced in the Standard was carried out in detail in the First Presbyterian church yesterday. There were added selections given that made the services even better than announced.

Easter Sunday was a glad day in the church. A friend of the church had had the auditorium redecorated during the week and the newly tinted and frescoed walls added very much to the beauty of the church. H. M. Allen of Oakland sent three large boxes of flowers for the rostrum decoration and friends in Ogden provided two large baskets of colored flowers besides potted Easter lilies. It was the first Easter for several who had recently united with the church.

El Monte Commandery attended the afternoon service. The music for the services was even better than had been anticipated and was enjoyed by congregations that were in excess of the enlarged seating capacity of the church. After using all the chairs available, many stood throughout each of the three services.

Rev. Carver, in his sermon of the day said: "The fascination of common life has never failed to interest and move men. The ordinary record of any life told with a fidelity to the truth in regard to the experiences of routine would surpass the story of the fabled 'Arabian Nights.' If one of you men would rise and with clear head and frankness relate the most important experiences of your life you would hold this audience by the hour. If you would tell your earliest memories of home and playmates, tell of your first boy and girl friends, your first toy, your first remembered pain, joy and labor; if you should describe how you earned your first dollar, how you first realized the sweetness of love, tell of your first life-desires and first real employment, recount the story of your wooing and wedding, tell your first sorrows in death, describe the habits that bind, the doubts that deaden, the faith that quickens; tell all the loves, hates, deceits and longings of life it would be a romance and a tragedy, a comedy and a philosophy. In all the world, there would be no story like it."

"Now I want you to realize that last thought. In all the world there would be no other life-story like it. It would be your own story. Years ago a great man spent time lamenting over the idea that, there being but seven notes in the musical scale, the time would come when all the combinations of music would be used. But that time will never come. Man shows his inventive genius to best advantage in, from seven notes, making so many melodies. Man, in fact, is most wonderful in his power of combining the common elements and making new ones. It is believed that invention, this gift of making the mineral and vegetable kingdoms do marvels man's great-human gift. The power of forming letters and making paper speak is one example of creative genius. But men forget that man himself is the world's greatest example of inventive or creative genius. In all the world there are not more than two lives like his. Having only five senses, man has used them in so many ways, developed so many trends of his reason and character that out of countless trillions of human lives no two have been alike."

"Now, why is life so interesting and wonderful in its inventive and constructive power? It is because it is the story of conquest, of growth, of enlargement. It widens and deepens with the years. It becomes a greater life in spite of defeats and sins, sorrows and failures with each year and the race becomes more victorious with each generation. In all the world, there is no power like life, and no life like human life. It is the nature of life to conquer. We were born for conquest and right there is the natural message of this Easter story of Christ's resurrection. We all know that a healthy seed will come to life in the growing plant. Why? Not by chance nor my accident but it grows by nature. The maple seed becomes a tree because it was made that way. That is what makes it a seed. Life lives beyond death and Christ arose because life was made to do that very thing. It is the nature of life to conquer. Look at any beet field when the young beetles are coming up. You don't call that a miracle. You call it natural. The best seed was made to do it. Resurrection in the order of nature in the vegetable world, but if only one seed had ever come up it would be a miracle. Resurrection is the order of nature in the spiritual world. The spirit of man is by nature the spirit of conquest.

"There is nothing to doubt about this Easter day. Millions of seeds in Utah alone will testify to it this month. Nature has testified to it from the time when away back at life's dawn the first seed sprouted and grew.

"Christ died, as you and I will die. We must die. It is nature's law. Christ arose as you and I shall rise. Life is stronger than death. Life is by nature a conqueror. Life was made for conquest. It is the fascination and interest of life that it does win. Death is called powerful because of its universality, but life is just as universal. Now, may we all take lesson from this spring time and learn the lesson of life. We read that there are fiery whirlstorms that sweep over the face of the sun. They are great storms of whirling heat. So rapid do they move that if they were on earth they would go from Vancouver to New Orleans in thirty seconds. So deadly would the heat be that only a track of lifeless char would remain. Now just so swift and so deadly is the thought that has doubt, impurity, jealousy, blasphemy and ruin in it. Doubt and sin is not life but death. It is ruin. Therefore in lives that must have new life daily, Christ's resurrection is a great example set in the world to tell us that life, by its very nature, conquers even death. Ours is the task of keeping all that is best of love, faith and purpose to the fore."

"The true resurrection commences here and now. It is the awakening of the soul through a realization of its greatness through its purpose and its God. It makes Easter a blessing all through the year in Christian patience to meet and perform tasks in God's fear bravely and sweetly. Christ is the resurrection and the life in giving to us today the true vision of life. Then we covet not today so much the courts of heaven as we desire earnestly to meet and complete, bravely and without fear or fretting, the simple routine tasks of today, here and now."

pre-fer of their own nationality to come to their assistance, but have not been successful.

Today, after All and Backtosh had again talked with Kattar over the telephone, District Attorney J. H. McDonald talked to Kattar. Mr. Kattar said he had seen all the people the boys had asked him to see and delivered the message for an interpreter, and the people had only laughed at him. He said he also telephoned to Bingham people, as directed by All and Backtosh, and had received no encouragement.

In order that the defendants may understand when they are arraigned in the district court, Sheriff Henry East will go to Salt Lake tomorrow or Tuesday to secure the services of an interpreter.

It has been found that Joe La Valia, the murdered man, had about $1000 on deposit in the National Bank of the Republic in Salt Lake, and that he had recently been considering the purchase of some land, with the intention of bringing his wife and children from Italy, to make their home here.
