RAILROAD YARDS TO HAVE TERMINAL SUPERINTENDENT

R. A. Fierce to be Placed in Charge of Union Depot and Terminal—One of Most Important Changes in History of Local Yards.

On July 1 many very important changes are to be made in the management of the local railroad yards and shops controlled by the Harriman roads, not the least of which will be the turning over of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific tracks to a terminal superintendent.

E. E. Calvin, general manager of the Oregon Short Line, who at present holds jurisdiction, announced through W. H. Chevers today that beginning July 1, R. A. Fierce, for seven years yardmaster here, would become superintendent of the Ogden Union Railway & Depot and Terminal, a new position just created.

Mr. Fierce is being congratulated by his friends on his promotion, and there is much rejoicing that Ogden has been recognized by the naming of a terminal superintendent. This is said to be the first step in important improvements in the local yards.

will then be taken to Ogden canyon by members of the Weber club in automobiles, to stay until 6 p. m., and will then return to the city for dinner at the club.

This will be the last of the 13 parties scheduled to visit Ogden as guests of the Union Pacific and the Weber club, and next week the club will begin active preparations for the Ogden to Reno automobile tour.

According to J. D. Larson of the Weber club, the Ogden to Reno tour will take place during the latter part of July, beginning about the 15th.

Mr. Larson is also planning to call a meeting in the near future, to plan for the 1914 Fashion Show.

LARGE PARTY TO SEE OGDEN CANYON TOMORROW

A party of thirty-one Kansans was scheduled to arrive in the city this afternoon on Union Pacific train No. 7, in a special car, and through the receipt of a telegram by Depot Master John Shields in relation to their arrival, it was at first thought that the party was the one formed of Kansas City ticket agents, that was not expected until tomorrow morning.

General Agent W. H. Chevers of the Union Pacific and the Weber club were notified of the receipt of the telegram and for several hours were on the anxious seat, undetermined as to whether to go ahead with preparations for their reception. Messages were sent to Cheyenne and Omaha and it was finally ascertained that the party to arrive this afternoon are regular tourists and are not identified with the railroad agents.

The Kansas City agents will arrive as per schedule, tomorrow morning to Salt Lake City to pass several hours and will return to Ogden at 1:10 p. m. and will meet the Omaha party of 30 members here at 3:35. The combined party, numbering 61,

THEATERS

AT THE ORPHEUM.
 The Empress vaudeville players who started a three days' engagement at the Orpheum theatre yesterday afternoon, are about as satisfying a group of entertainers as anyone wishing to forget the cares of life could wish to see. The program they present starts off with an act full of pleasing originality, closes with one replete with sensational feats of strength and in between every moment is successfully taken advantage of by the different players in an effort to please.

A duo of roller skaters programmed as Bert and Hazel Skatelle, open the bill and give a finished exhibition of grace and skill. They follow up in part the old line of step dancing and in their work find the roller skates no handicap whatever. They also give an excellent exhibition of modern ball room dancing, which under ordinary conditions seems to be done by a vaudeville audience, but as done by this duo, was enthusiastically encored.

Billy Green, Harry McHenry and Homer Dean, a trio of ragtime singers and dancers, present a sketch that is bubbling with originality of a most effective type and void of everything but good clean amusement. The trio made a big hit.

Another group of Joe Maxwell's players present a tabloid drama entitled "Four of a Kind." The sketch is in itself full of interest and was presented by four actors in a manner that held the close attention of the audience from curtain to curtain.

Julian Rose, unquestionably one of the foremost exponents of Jewish wit on the vaudeville stage, kept the audience in a continuous gale of laughter with a monologue which he calls "Levinkey at the Wedding." His work was thoroughly appreciated by all three of yesterday's audience.

The Paul Azard trio, which calls its act "The Two Romans and the Mad Doll," are alone worth a visit to the Orpheum to see. The trio, two men and a woman, are the best developed group of athletes that has visited the Orpheum this season, and their sensational feats of strength are presented with remarkable ease. The lady member of the group created considerable merriment last night by her "Mad Doll" antics.

SHERIFF SUCCESSFUL IN FINDING THE STOLEN HORSES

Sheriff T. A. DeVine has returned from Montpelier, Ida., where he spent the past few days locating the horses that were stolen a short time ago by young Joseph T. Barker. As soon as the sheriff found the horses and the parties who purchased them, he had no trouble in determining who the thief was, as the parties identified Barker by the photograph of him which the sheriff had.

After getting in touch with parties who had seen Barker in the neighborhood of Montpelier, he was advised that the young fellow had recently sold two other horses at Laketown. The sheriff made a trip to Laketown and found that one of the animals sold there was the horse taken from the Lee Hanmon farm at Roy a few weeks ago.

The animals are being returned to the owners, who are much pleased over the success of the sheriff in finding the horses and capturing the man. The animals are all valuable but Barker sold them at a low figure. Barker will be charged with grand larceny and will be arraigned before Judge Reeder in the course of a few days.

SPALDING CASE NOW BEFORE JURY FOR FINAL ACTION

This afternoon Judge N. J. Harris read his instructions to the jury in the case of Myrtle Spalding against Ogden City and, after argument by the attorneys, submitted the case to the jury. The introduction of testimony was concluded yesterday afternoon, but the case was not taken up for argument this morning on account of intervening business before Judge Harris.

Miss Spalding instituted the suit against the city to recover damages in the sum of $10,925 for personal injuries, alleged to have been sustained November 5, 1913, when she fell into a water main trench on Twenty-fifth street, between Adams and Jefferson avenues. The case was before the court about three days.

MOST CRUSHING DEFEAT OF WAR

Zacatecas, Zac., Mexico, June 25.—(Delayed, over military wires.)—There is no longer any doubt that this city is the most crushing defeat suffered by them so far in the present revolution. It was learned today from a survey of their fortifications that they had anticipated holding their positions here for months. In no previous instance had so many earthworks been thrown up, or had the scheme of defense been planned so ably. The miles of trenches, stone parapets and the many earthworks forts which fell before the constitutionalists one after another in eight hours on the last day of the battle, testified to this. In no single instance were these positions given up without a desperate fight.

The troops of Villa's army scaled barren hillsides where footing seemed impossible. Whole lines of the attacking parties were cut down, but always there were others to take their places. When finally the top of the hill or mountain was reached, the federals would rush headlong down the further side, only to be mowed down by the constitutionalist fire.

Washington, June 26.—The constitutionalists of Mexico are determined to carry their military campaign to a conclusion regardless of participation in informal mediation conferences desired by the United States. Their plan was indicated here today on the arrival of Alfredo Breceda, private secretary of General Carranza, first chief of the constitutionalists, who came to confer with Carranza's Washington agents.

Geo. Reed, a Nebraska missionary, is returning home after sixteen years' work in Morocco. He tells of making friends with bandits, and of a Sultan, who lost his throne because he was too fond of magic lanterns, autos, tennis and other sports of the white man.
