GOVERNOR SPRY TALKS ON THE AUTO ROAD THROUGH UTAH

The Tribune says: Straight from the shoulder, Governor William Spry yesterday answered his critics on the threatened loss of the Lincoln highway.

To twelve members of the Rotary club, who called on him to seek his co-operation in having the route around the south end of the lake opened, he pledged his support in that movement and declared a statement of his apparent victory was made by either fool or knave—knave if he understood the facts and fool if he did not understand them.

Reminded by the committee that Ogden had broken a gentlemen's agreement to cease working for a northern route in return for Salt Lake's abandonment of the project to have the route from Evanston to Salt Lake come by way of Chalk creek and Parley's canyon, the governor said it would be a very thing to have the latter route declared the official state highway if Ogden persisted in repudiating the agreement.

The governor declared that the Lincoln highway project, so far as its $10,000,000 finances is concerned, is a lot of hot air and a myth, concocted by the automobile interests to sell their cars.

He explained that the route around the northern end of the lake, over which Ogden is diverting the transcontinental traffic at present, to the elimination of Salt Lake, was declared a state highway in connection with the Midland trail project when it was generally supposed that the main transcontinental road would extend from Grand Junction to Salt Lake, north to Ogden and around the lake.

The Rotarians laid before the governor the charge that Ogden had broken faith with Salt Lake in the matter of the Lincoln highway.

The governor admitted that such an agreement had been made by the Ogden men to himself when the route was declared down Weber canyon to Ogden and thence south to Salt Lake.

meet Ogden on equal ground. The governor explained that the southern route was officially declared a state highway last September by the state road commission and that the money was available to put it into good condition except for a dispute between Grantsville and Tooele as to which way the road would run through Tooele county.

The Rotarians who called on the governor were F. C. Schramm, W. C. Orem, Will G. Farrell, W. F. Jensen, president of the Commercial club; L. M. Bailey, George O. Relf, W. F. Adams, Dr. W. L. Ellerbeck, N. H. Bertram, Dr. S. Murphy, Fred Hornung and Roderick McKenzie.

Mr. Orem opened the conference by explaining the purpose of the meeting. He said that Ogden had secured the highway around the northern end of the lake, because that route had been improved by that which the southern route had had nothing done for it.

The governor then made a lengthy statement, telling the whole history of the Lincoln highway project, so far as he had been connected with it officially.

DR. T. B. BEATTY GIVES OGDEN A SOUND SPANKING

In an address before a mass meeting of Ogden citizens, held at the Weber club yesterday afternoon, Dr. T. B. Beatty, secretary of the state board of health, stated that sanitary and health conditions in Ogden were deplorable.

He explained that the route around the northern end of the lake, over which Ogden is diverting the transcontinental traffic at present, to the elimination of Salt Lake, was declared a state highway in connection with the Midland trail project when it was generally supposed that the main transcontinental road would extend from Grand Junction to Salt Lake, north to Ogden and around the lake.

GERMANS ACTIVE NEAR FRONTIER

Paris, July 31.—Military movements on the German side of the frontier were very active today and French troops sent outposts.

A German patrol at one point actually crossed the frontier probably owing to a mistake. In no case has any considerable force of French troops advanced closer to the German frontier than six miles.

The French office officials were considerably more pessimistic today because, as they explained, the gravity of the situation was increasing with the lapse of each day. At the same time it was said that it must not be assumed that all hope of a peaceful solution had vanished.

France it was said, will not mobilize her army until after Germany has done so.

MORGAN STILL HOPES FOR PEACE

Financier Issues Statement Regarding Exchange Situation in United States.

MEN MUST KEEP HEADS

War Will Not Hurt America Greatly, But Small Losses Must Be Expected.

New York, July 31.—J. P. Morgan today issued a statement which said:

"Alarming as the news is from Europe, we are still hoping there will not be a general war. While the gravity of the present situation can hardly be exaggerated, there is still the opportunity for the sober second thought of the people of Europe to prevent over their first impulse."

"The situation of the American security market during the last few days has been a splendid illustration of the inherent soundness of financial conditions in this country. While we all earnestly hoped that the New York stock exchange might be kept open, the situation is fraught with so much uncertainty that it seemed necessary in the interest of the whole country to close the exchange."
