

IN OGDEN'S SOCIETY CIRCLES

Mrs. Cora C. Stevens, President of the Ogden Chautauqua Circle

CHAUTAUQUA CIRCLE.

The Ogden Chautauqua Reading circle met Monday evening last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Craig on Seventeenth street for a review of the last twelve chapters of the book "Life in Ancient Athens." Mrs. A. Y. Richmond, leader of the evening's work, gave a very interesting resume of the closing of the council and assembly, burial ceremonies, festivals and theaters, Athenian art and peculiar modernness of the Athenians of that classical time, also of the striking resemblance their political situation in that ancient period bore to that to which the present day citizen is now coming. The absence of formality and ceremony, the wit, humor and irony of the old Athenian times were likewise brought in comparison with later world celebrities together with the scientific, military and athletic training and the conspicuous mental virtues of that day. The discussion of these final chapters of "Life in Ancient Athens" brought out some very valuable and timely thought expressions. Invitations to the various Chautauqua circles in Ogden have been issued asking the members of all to join in a series of general get-acquainted meetings at which the books completed will be reviewed. The first of these meetings will be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Armstrong, 855 Twenty-eighth street, on Monday, October 22.

All friends interested in the work of the order are cordially invited. Hostesses for the afternoon are Mesdames Michaels, White, Couch and Griffin.

enian Trial," and "Burial," which did not differ so widely from the method of today. Then Mrs. Putnam read the last two chapters on "Athenian Art," a subject that involves the treatment of Athenian music, painting, sculpture in its various branches, and architecture, which concluded the program.

A cordial invitation to meet with the Ogden circle of C. L. S. C. to participate in a general "get acquainted" meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Armstrong on Monday, October 22, was warmly accepted. Mrs. Armstrong will be the hostess for the evening and a brief general review of "Life in Ancient Athens" will be given, followed by a social hour.

Mrs. Maude C. Green led a very animated discussion covering the day's review of the book.

DRAMA CLUB

The Drama club held its second meeting today at the club rooms of the Maids' and Matrons' at 2:30. Mrs. Frank K. Bartlett and Mrs. Joseph E. Evans were hostesses to this largely attended meeting and those who contributed the program were Miss Josephine Seaman who gave an interesting talk on "Tenderness in Norwegian Drama," Miss Cleone Rich reviewed "The Gauntlet," by Bjornson, and Miss Carrie Browning and Miss Louise Pierce delighted those present with a splendid rendition of "Music from Peer Gynt, Part 2."

The club rooms were attractive in chrysanthemum and dainty refreshments followed the program and closed this interesting afternoon's meeting.

HOME CULTURE CLUB

The Home Culture club met Thursday with Mrs. George W. Harlow at the home of her mother, Mrs. R. P. Hunter. The subject of the afternoon was "Social Service" from the immigrant's point of view, and was an unusual summary of the life of immigrant who lived in the slums of New York and rose to the dignity of an honored citizen and writer of some note.

"Democracy and the Overman" was given by Mrs. J. G. Gebhardt, and M. E. Ravage's book "To America On Foot," was reviewed by Mrs. E. P. Mills. This story which has appeared serially in "Harper's Magazine," also deals with the immigrant question from the foreigners' viewpoint and gives glimpses of Europe and its condition prior to 1897.

SEMRE MUSICAL SOCIETY

The Semre Musical society met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. John Culley as hostess.

An interesting talk on the old and the new music was given by Miss Rachael Farley, which was illustrated by Miss Alberta Wright and Mrs. Don Beeson. Mrs. Lester Saville gave a vocal selection illustrative of Miss Farley's talk.

CHILD CULTURE CLUB

The Child Culture club will meet Thursday, October 18, at the Maids' and Matrons' with Mesdames H. M. Harris, A. M. Campbell, I. J. Harris, hostesses. "Woman's Part in Time of War" will be the subject under discussion.

Scheme of Golden Colors Prevails at Brilliant Reception in Berthana On Wednesday

The Berthana was the scene of a brilliant reception Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Abbot Rodney Heywood received in honor of the wives of the Municipal League delegates who had gathered in Ogden for their convention.

The many beautiful gowns worn by those receiving blended with the profusion of brilliantly hued autumn leaves and harmonizing dahlias, used in the decoration presenting a colorful picture. The reception hall was exquisite in its dress of cerise boughs, and the table held wondrous branches of rose briar.

The tea room was presided over by Mrs. John Browning, Mrs. W. H. Shearman, and Mrs. W. F. Rudiger, who poured and Miss Mary Littlefield who assisted otherwise.

The tea table was a symphony of color, in the same perfect autumn tints, and delicious viands were served to the many guests who were there.

Those assisting Mrs. Heywood in the blue room included Mrs. R. B. Porter, Mrs. G. L. Becker, Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald, Mrs. C. A. Boyd, Mrs. W. H. Shearman, Mrs. W. F. Rudiger, Mrs. John Browning and Miss Littlefield.

Mrs. LeRoy Dixon of Provo, Mrs. Frank P. Kimball, Miss Phillips and Mrs. Sylvester Cannon all of Salt Lake, were guests of the afternoon.

The Lillian Thatcher orchestra rendered beautiful selections during the hours of entertaining.

Noted Scenic Artist at Local Studio

Mr. E. Grey Freeman has had a noted scenic and fresco artist busy at his studio for some time painting various wonderful back ground effects. These will facilitate the individual study which he invariably gives to every subject. So delicate effects are being out the winsome sweetness of the child's portrait, effects to accentuate the brilliant beauty of the debutante and others for the dashing army man and the pleasant dignity of the man of affairs, each receives individual, personal thought.

A portrait by Freeman has almost the same amount of individuality as a portrait by Gainsborough or Reynolds. His style might be called idealistic, but it is distinctly and individually his own and not an imitation, and because it is an idealistic style it is especially pleasing to women.

His portraits will idealize a plain woman, will accentuate all that is beautiful without losing the one thing that is essential, the likeness, and the woman that has been favored with beauty will lose none of it.

The recent beautiful society and wedding portraits of Mrs. Adam Paterson, Mrs. Mark Brown and Miss June Scowcroft appearing in this paper are pleasing examples of the work of this artist.

Music

For the first time in the history of the Jewish people and for the first time in the history of music, a composer has appeared whose avowed intention is the musical expression of what is racial in the Jew.

His name is Ernest Bloch, a native of Switzerland, and he has recently become a resident of New York.

While the New York critics agree that he is not the first Jew who has attained distinction, they admit he is the first Jew who has ever attempted to write what might be called "Jewish music."

Mendelssohn was converted to Christianity and actually preached the message of the Reformation in his art, and Meyerbeer continued the French grand opera tradition and he had no purpose in his achievement further than the brilliant stage effects.

Rubinstein fused his identity with the atmosphere of polite salons of that day. Offenbach indulged the Gallic taste for piquant frivolity. Goldmark cultivated an Orientalism which rested comfortably on a German foundation.

Mahler attempted heights to which his genius was scarcely adequate. None wrote anything that could be recognized as essentially and purely Jewish.

Mr. Peyser in "Musical America" characterizes Bloch's work as the finest modern chamber work heard in New York in the last five years and predicts a brilliant future for this man who is still young, having been born in Geneva in 1880. He says of his own work: "Superficially my works are not Jewish at all. The learned Jews will no doubt reject them altogether. In fact, I expect the strongest opposition to my work to come from the Jews, but I have tried to express the soul of the Jew as I feel it."

Miss Nettie Watson honored. Miss Nettie Watson whose marriage will occur in the Salt Lake temple October 25, has been the motif of much entertaining since the announcement was made several weeks ago.

Several delightful affairs have been planned for next week to honor the coming bride.

On Tuesday Mrs. M. W. Watson gives a party at her home on Madison avenue.

Friday the Misses Zina and Myrtle Pingree have invited a group of girl friends to do her honor and on Saturday next Miss Vera Jones of Barlow avenue will entertain at a Kensington.

Miss Nettie Watson honored. Tuesday Mrs. Earl Furniss entertained a parcel shower at her home, 307 Thirty-first street, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Roland Farr, who was a bride of last week.

Music furnished many interesting games made the evening a very pleasant one. At a late hour dainty refreshments were served by Miss May Loughran, Mrs. D. R. Wright and Mrs. Earl Furniss. Those present were Misses Virginia and Marvel Drabble, Cora Denkers, Ruth and Elizabeth Gilmore, Helen and Edna Davis, Dorothy Farr, Vera and Amy Shupe, Lillian Baker, Miriam Evans, Thelma and Letty Critchlow, Eva and Ella Wardley, Leona Thomas, May and Loretta Loughran, and Mrs. Orville Shupe, Mrs. D. R. Wright, Mrs. Earl Furniss and Miss Venice Childs.

The bride was formerly Miss Elene Wright, daughter of Mrs. D. R. Wright of 2762 Lincoln avenue. She received many beautiful gifts.

ENTERTAINED AT SHOWER.

The Misses Lucille Williams and Ardella Hokanson delightfully entertained at a parcel shower at the home of Miss Williams, 1921 Washington ave., Friday evening in honor of Myrtle Middleton. The rooms were decorated with geraniums and roses. The evening was spent in music and games after which a dainty lunch was served.

Those present were: Mrs. Frank Williams, Mrs. Hyrum Hokanson, Mrs. Jay Stone and Mrs. Ruth Middleton; the Misses Rachel Middleton, Myrtle Middleton, Laura Middleton, Gladie Brooker, Gladys Creamer, Veta Elmer, Florence Newman, May Bartlett, Rose Jensen, Priscilla Stratford, Lenora Bartlett, Deloris Hokanson, Ellen Williams, Lucille Williams and Ardella Hokanson.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A birthday party was tendered the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Leavitt by her grandmother, Mrs. Mattie Vogel, on Thursday afternoon when some tiny friends helped in making this, the fifth year of Ira's life quite memorable.

Of course there was a cake with its five candles, and many dainty "goodies," beside the little tots fished in the streams that flow through their lovely suburban grounds, and romped over the meadows until the twilight hour called them home.

TEA ON MONDAY.

The tea to be given on Monday at the Maids' and Matrons' club rooms by Mrs. Richard Douglas Robins, Mrs. Plumer Gordon Haslett and Mrs. Peter Allen Herditt is being eagerly looked forward to.

AUTO TRIP.

Mrs. W. H. Shearman and Mrs. Archie Bigelow are leaving this afternoon by automobile for a trip through southern Utah, making the grand canyon of Utah their destination.

PARTY FOR HOWARD STRATFORD.

On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stratford entertained a number of friends at Howard Stratford, who leaves in a few days for Elko, Nev., to accept a position with the forest service. Games were played and a genuine good time was enjoyed by those present.

At a late hour the guests parted wishing Mr. Stratford success in his new work.

HOME FROM HONEYMOON.

Dr. and Mrs. Max Brown have returned from their honeymoon motor trip to Bear Lake and are installed in the Donald Rhivers home on Jefferson avenue. Mrs. Rhivers and her three lovely children expect to spend the winter in California. They are, until they leave, house guests of Mrs. Rhivers parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Watters.

YOUNG SOLDIERS HONORED.

Mrs. J. W. Eldredge entertained a group of relatives at a family dinner on Sunday last in honor of her son, Vernon, who is a member of Battery B, and her nephew, Lawrence Jenkins of Battery A. They came up from Salt Lake to spend Sunday with their family. Plates were laid for fourteen and the dinner was one of those intimate events always so enjoyable.

HOOPER LUNCHEON.

A very unique and interesting

Accomplished Musicians of Ogden Who Are To Study at Columbia University, N. Y.

For a winter's sojourn in New York Miss Ellen Thomas and Miss Carrie Browning left on Sunday. Miss Thomas is a well-known member of the Ogden Conservatory of Music and is endowed with much native ability, beside being a student of the best of the musical world offers. Miss Thomas will take a special course in vocal music under the best teachers of New York and specialize in harmony, solfeggio and ear training. Miss Carrie Browning will enter the Columbia university, where she will study dramatic art. Miss Browning spent some time in the Boston Conservatory of Music and is one of Ogden's most brilliant pianists. It is the purpose of these talented members of the musical contingent here to take advantage of the opera season and all that the great center offers.

Hoover luncheon was given on Monday by Mrs. R. B. Porter to the members of the Martha society which preceded the regular business meeting. The table was decorated in late autumn flowers, stock and plox, and twenty-two members were present.

SPENT TIME IN SALT LAKE.

Mrs. E. J. Harness of Roy spent part of the week in Salt Lake where she was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Parsons. Lakkness, Mrs. Ray Snow, Miss Florence Grix, Miss Annie Weston, Miss Doris Rackham, Miss Rachel Rackham and Miss Hazel Lockhead.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton were married September 19 and kept the nuptial event a secret for an entire week. Now their friends are entertaining them extensively. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Rackham, 743 Twenty-seventh street, and a recent graduate of the Smithsonian business college.

SQUIRES-POULTER.

The marriage of Miss Kathryn Squires and I. W. Poulter was solemnized at high noon on Thursday, October 11, in the Salt Lake temple. A luncheon followed at the Hotel Utah, the guests including, beside the bridal couple, Mrs. John S. Squires, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Poulter, mother of the groom, and Mrs. J. L. McCarty of Richmond, Utah, and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Squires of Logan.

Following a brief automobile honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Poulter will go to Logan where Mr. Poulter is professor of chemistry in the Agricultural college.

DIX-SWAN

A wedding of social interest to two of Utah's largest cities was that of Miss Guila Dix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Dix, of Salt Lake and Roy, and Byron L. Swan, of Rochester, N. Y., which took place October 10 at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Mark's cathedral. The impressive ceremony was performed by Dean W. W. Fleetwood, and a charming reception followed at the Dix home on Second avenue. The home was artistic to a degree of perfection done in chrysanthemum.
